

ESCAPE FROM AWFUL DEATH

Party of Carus Hop Pickers Run Down by Train.

MAN IS NEARLY KILLED

Only the Fact That Train Was Running at Slow Speed Saved Lives of Three.

Probably the narrowest escape from death ever recorded in this city occurred at 4:45 o'clock Saturday morning on the tracks of the Southern Pacific Company, at the entrance to the cut at the foot of Singer hill and in the rear of the residence of George A. Harding. It is nothing short of miraculous that Humphrey Jones, Miss Katie Jones and Miss Edna Irish were not ground to pieces under the wheels of the engine of the north-bound overland train.

The party left their homes in Carus at daybreak, bound for the hop fields, via Oregon City. When they had nearly reached the foot of Singer hill, they observed the train, and even though Miss Jones tried to grasp the lines from Mr. Jones' hands, her effort was futile. They reached the crossing just as the engine arrived there, and the wagon was struck by the pilot. The only thing that saved the lives of the members of the party was the fact that the train was moving very slowly, and the engineer brought it to a complete stop in a distance of less than 50 feet.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

ELLEN TONKIN RETURNS. West Oregon City Girl Is Not Willing to Appear in Court.

Ellen Tonkin, who escaped from her home last Tuesday afternoon, was found late Wednesday night. The girl was embroiled in a case of criminal assault at the hands of Clarence Green, who was bound over to the Circuit Court in $1000 bonds. She has been kept a prisoner at her home, but Tuesday eluded the vigilance of her parents and made her way toward Stafford. Where she spent the night is not known, but near the hour of midnight Wednesday she came to the home of Mr. Magone at Magone's Park below the city on the west side of the river. She asked for shelter and was taken in, and told Mr. Magone, who is a deputy sheriff, that she wanted to see George C. Brownell. He took her to Brownell's house, and the attorney directed her to another place that morning, but the girl did not get there, but, instead, went to the residence of Mrs. Lawler, where she spent the night. Yesterday afternoon she was taken to her home across the river.

Nellie Tonkin is 15 years of age, and is mortally afraid of being compelled to tell her story in court. She swore to Mr. Magone that she would kill herself rather than go into court and appear against young Green. She is willing to marry him, or she will go anywhere or do anything that her parents direct, but at the thought of going on the witness stand and reciting her sad tale before a throng of curiously morbid people, she trembles, and says she will die first.

Bears the Signature of J. C. Watson. READY FOR STAMP MILL.

Work Progresses Rapidly in Ogle Mountain Mines.

P. A. Fairclough and Carleton B. Harding came in Tuesday night from the Ogle mountain mines. They started at 8 o'clock in the morning with a team, and found that the nine miles of road leading into the mine is in fine condition. P. A. Fairclough superintended the construction of this road last winter, and while it is an all dirt road, it stood the pressure of transportation of a 3200-pound boiler with no difficulty.

At the mines 12 men are working faithfully to get the new machinery in operation, and are putting up the sawmill, engine and boiler. This outfit will be set up by the last of this week, and the sawmill will be turning out lumber by that time. Lumber is needed to brace a part of the tunnel, and houses to shelter the men and machinery are needed at once, and will speedily be made.

The 5-stamp mill that was recently purchased will be delivered in Oregon City September 15, and a month will be taken to transport it, and set it up ready for operation. More than 1000 feet of tunnel has been run through high grade ore, and there is enough ore on the dump to keep the stamp mill busy for many months.
