HAND OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP

Grangers Extend Hearty Welcome to the Farmers.

MAPLE LANE IS THRIVING

Organization is a Great Advantage to Those Who Till the Soil for a Livelihood.

MALPE LANE, Nov. 9.—(Special Correspondence.)—The era of good feeling was in evidence last Saturday in Maple Lane when the grange held its regular meeting in its own hall. Truly the hand of good fellowship was in evidence and to its credit be it said that never was it the good fortune of your correspondent to fall into better society or more noble and praiseworthy a set of men and women than constitutes or are enrolled on the roster of that noble fraternity, the Grange, or Patrons of Husbandry. The Grange met promptly at 10:00 a. m., but long before that hour members from a distance were seen wending their way to the place of meeting. The day was an ideal one—both dry overhead and under foot which had a tendency to put everyone in a good mood. The ladies, God bless them, we refer to those present, donned their Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes and left household duties or cares behind them for that day. And never have we come or met a more social, cultivated, graceful, motherly and matronly host of ladies than comprises Maple Lane Grange. Each officer a star or diamond—bright and polished, denoting that great care has been taken to master the work that belongs to each separate post of honor or office. There was to our mind, no hesitancy in the work or hitch in any of the doings. And it had the effect to make possible the dispatch of a great amount of business. And, as it would be impractical to single out any one more than another, we will say Maple Lane bids fair to hold many more such popular gatherings composed of members found among the order.

If your correspondent remembers rightly, Maple Lane has about 86 members and applications to join are received at every meeting. The hall they meet in is large and roomy and handy, furnished modestly. The order pays strict attention to every detail and its management is in careful hands. We believe Maple Lane is out of debt. Stable or shed room is provided for, so what more can we say than to pass on and say that peace and harmony and good will reign in Maple Lane Grange.

The order was honored Saturday with an official visit from Mrs. Mary S. Howard, secretary of the State Grange. The compliment that lady paid its offering, Maple Lane, is highly gratifying and we know that her words will have an inspiring influence for the good of the order among all those whose goal fortune it was to listen to what she had to say. It was not said in any boastful or flattering mood. Mrs. Howard makes official visits to the grange wherever called and she has the opportunity to know whereof she spoke. She was sincere. Here pleasing manner or way of speaking is convincing and it goes straight home. Where is there a farmer or tiller of the soil that, if true to himself, is not a genuine Granger and belonging to the order. Look the country over and show us a body of men but what are organized or belong to a union or lodge. Not even the boot blacks in a city are without an organization. Then tell us the farmer has no right to organization.

Before the grange was in existence he was the most unfortunate mortal in existence. Everybody picked on him. Then why should not the Grange grow and prosper and become more powerful, useful and prove a blessing to all who join? No one who obeys his obligation—no one who does or obeys the teachings of the order, can go astray. This can be said or written in words of gold and to the credit of the grange. It is a noble order—it will grow—it must grow and prove as solid as the rock of Gibraltar. The farmer has never been an enemy to society. He is the salt of the earth. He never conspires against mortal man, even though he is singled out by powerful combinations of capital and greed. Hence, he demands his rights at their hands, but he seeks redress through legislation. And this being so, why may we not soon see Maple Lane Grange grow to be 100 strong, then 150 and on. Are you a farmer, then join the ranks, don't be behind the times. You need the grange, even if the grange don't need you. It want hurt you.

This frank and outspoken letter to the Courier has been prompted solely from a desire to get the grange before the world in its true light, and from the way Mrs. Howard spoke before the audience the grange bids fair to become one of the most noble institutions of the land. Its teachings shine like a beacon light. To man the teachings are like the words of God to a hungry soul. Noble Grange, long may Maple Lane live and spread its good teachings to the farmer. So we say, may it prosper and grow. God bless the noble men and women in it.

WHATEVER HE SAYS WILL GO

George Brownell Would Move The County Seat.

MILWAUKIE IS PROMISED

Our Pet Statesman is a Big Hustler and Oregon City May Lose Jail and Courthouse.

"Senator George C. Brownell, the Clackamas county statesman, has purchased a 20-acre tract in Milwaukie, and inside of a year will erect a dwelling and move to this place. Now is the time to strike for moving the county seat down here."

The foregoing declaration was made Sunday afternoon at the Milwaukie Postoffice by Councilman John Kelson, in the presence of quite a number of citizens, says the Oregonian, who had gathered there to exchange the news of the day.

"That is a shrewd movement on the part of Senator Brownell," said Postmaster Ballard, "and now is the time to strike for moving the county seat down here. Brownell will donate at least a whole block for the Court House and jail, and he will hustle for the moving of the county seat. He is a power in this county, George is, and if he makes up his mind to move the county seat, you will see it come sliding down on the wing. We ought to have the county seat."

"I am afraid we can't get the county seat," remarked T. R. A. Sellwood, owner of 150 acres of fine land inside the corporation, "although it would certainly be a fine thing to get down here." Mr. Elmore said he was in favor of its coming, but he was afraid it would be a hard job. However, it was the consensus of opinion of all present that it ought to come to Milwaukie, now that Senator George C. Brownell had land in the town. It was decided that Councilman Kelson, Postmaster Ballard and Mayor Schindler should be a special committee to see if the county seat could be moved and ask Senator Brownell to lend his influence. There will be a meeting next Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Postoffice, to hear what progress has been made.

During the past two years we have placed fourteen of our graduates with
The Great Marshall-Wells Hardware Co., holding lucrative office positions, with unbounded opportunities for advancement in the growth of this vast concern. Mr. J. C. Smith, manager of the Portland office of Marshall-Wells, always gives our College the preference when he has a position to fill.
Last week we had Five more positions to fill than we had graduates available. The demand for our graduates is always ahead of the supply, because Portland business men have learned to value the training given by this College.
Last year 207 pupils obtained situations.
If there is one graduate of the Behnke-Walker Business College hunting for a situation now, we don't know it, and we endeavor to keep in touch with every graduate after he or she leaves College.
