Daughter of Molly Clark Crushed By Pile of Lumber. Ella Clark, the 5-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mollie Clark, a well known Indian woman living in the Indian settlement near Canemah, was instantly killed Thursday night. She was playing on a pile of lumber with a small boy named McCoy, when the lumber toppled over and fell on them, burying the girl out of sight and breaking her neck. The boy's leg was badly bruised and he made an outcry, and was found and carried home, but he was too frightened to tell of his companion's fate, and the little girl was not found until an hour later. She failed to come to the evening meal and her mother searched and called for her in vain, and she was finally discovered underneath a heap of lumber and had been dead for some hours. "Indian Mollie" Clark has had more than her share of misfortune. Her husband, who was a character known as "Indian Sol" was drowned while fishing at the falls about one year ago, and kindly women of this city raised funds to build Mollie a small house, where she has since lived. Twenty-two of the graduates of the Barclay high school passed from school life into life's school Friday night at Shively's opera house where the closing exercises were held. The stage was tastefully decorated with the class colors, red and white, and red carnations, the class flower, were in profusion. When the curtain rose before a well-filled house [at half past eight, the audience broke into general applause at the sight of the assembled class. Rev. J. R. Landsborough, of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation and the high school glee club sang "Bingo," and "Meer-cham Pipe." Their first appearance in public was taking, and they were forced to respond to an encore. Miss Vera A. Phillips executed Keler Bela's "Lustspiel Overture, op. 78," and was followed by Earle C. Latourette, the class president, who gave the address of welcome. Miss Elizabeth Roos sang "As the Dawn" (Cantor), and "A Raccoon Lullaby" (Neidlinger), and was warmly applauded. The class poem of Orville B. Hunt was amusing and was followed by a piano solo, "Dixie Land," concert paraphrase (Golbeck), by Louise Huntley, who rendered a pleasing encore. The Schumann Singing Society sang two numbers and Russell Wood gave the class prophecy, which was one of the best things of the evening, exciting much merriment as telling hits were made by the prophet on each one of his classmates. "I Sing Thee Songs of Arab," (Clay) was rendered by Mr. J. Ross Fargo, tenor soloist at the First Presbyterian church of Portland. Mr. Fargo was in good voice, and for an encore sang "Mignon." The glee club followed with "Cordelia Malone" and the rollicking Irish ditty was enthusiastically received. The valedictory was given by Miss Ruth Latourette, and was a masterly effort. Mrs. Imogen Harding Brodie sang "Swing High and Swing Low," (Hoesche), and "Love in the Southland" (Gaulfield), and was given an encore. The glee club sang "Boots" and "Good Night, Ladies," and the presentation of diplomas by Judge Thos. F. Ryan, chairman of the board of directors, closed the program. Judge Ryan made a short talk to the graduates and gave them excellent advice and counsel. The graduates then received the congratulations of their friends. The year just closed at the Barclay high school has been remarkably satisfactory, due in the main to the earnest work of Miss Addie E. Clark, who is just retiring from the superintendency of the city school for a year's rest. RELIEF FOR LADIES FRENCH Tansy Wafers Original and only genuine.
