Huntley Bros. Co. THE REXALL DRUGGISTS. Four Registered Druggists to put up Prescriptions. Compare our SPICES with the Grocery Kind. A SPECIAL PRICE For you only, on an article you know the value of is the oldest form of tricky store deception. How many articles of the thousands in a Drug Store do you know the value of, outside patent medicines and advertised goods. So you are offered an article you have always paid 50c for, for 35c, special price to you only. Then when you take your prescription to this cheap store, they add 25c to the honest price and you are out 10c on the two transactions and none the wiser. Such methods are unfair and dishonest and are never tolerated here. We sell many medicines at cut rates; we often make special prices, but they are for everybody. You may be sure your neighbor pays no more, no less than you at this store. Further, nobody shall undersell Huntleys. If you ever learn of a lower price than ours let us know, we'll meet it cheerfully, and everybody in Clackamas County will get the reduction also. Tooth Picks At Half Price. "Make Hay While the Sun Shines." There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sun-shine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City and Molalla.

Offenders Tried by Mayor Caulfield. The men arrested by officers Shaw and Cook on Monday night for begging on the streets and or being drunk and disorderly, were arraigned before Mayor E. G. Caulfield yesterday afternoon, and tried on the various charges. Craig was discharged, as there was not sufficient evidence against him to hold him. J. P. Shinnville was fined $5, which he paid. Frank Smith and Jockey Murray were fined $10 apiece, and are now living out their sentences and vacation in Chief Burns' summer retreat for such offenders.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children. During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the first M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by Huntley Bros. Co., Oregon City and Molalla.

George Quinn. On Sunday, in the beautiful little cemetery at Canemah, friends and relatives laid to rest all that was mortal of our citizen, George O. Quinn. He was buried with the service of the Catholic Church, the church of his baptism, and the one of which he became a devout member before he died. By his death there is to be noted the passing of the members of pioneer families of the little town and of this section, one of the earliest settled of the Northwest. It is recalled that members of the families of Colburn, Fields, Fellows, Bell, Hedges, Caruthers, Ganong, Fouts, Bingman, Strecker, Epperly, Miller, Marshall, Blanchard, Cassidy, Stevens and others of the old families that composed the population of Canemah in the pioneer days, have long since passed the bourne over which none ever returns. This, though, as the first death of one of the family, who had grown to an age when his absence will create a void that time will not efface, and that will leave the chair forever vacant at the fireside.

George was born more than thirty three years ago in the house that during his entire life has been his home. In disposition he was retiring, kind, modest and generous, and will always be remembered by those who have been his playmates and his friends of mature years, as both peaceful and a peacemaker. And so modest was he that he would never take to himself credit that was due for his good and noble deeds. He was a member of Willamette Falls Camp, No. 148, Woodmen of the World, from whose members the pall bearers were chosen. The number of friends who accompanied the remains to their final earthly home was a silent expression of the esteem in which George was held in life, and demonstrated how greatly his death is deplored by the whole community. He suffered intensely during the last few weeks of his life, which suffering his friends would have spared him, had they been able to do so, because of his generosity in life, and of the aid and comfort he has so often extended to others. But he endured it uncomplainingly, feeling it was God's will and way. And now his soul is at the threshold of heaven, momentarily hesitating and detained for that purification which alone will fit it for eternal rest with God.

WILL ASK FOR BETTER RATE. Gladstone People Claim Discrimination. CIRCULATING PETITION. Street Car Company Will Be Asked to Lower Gladstone-Oregon City Fare.

People living in Gladstone want a better fare between Oregon City and Gladstone, and Gladstone and Portland are taking active steps to procure it. Members of the Gladstone Improvement Association are out with a petition that is being widely signed asking that the Oregon Water Power Company lower the rate between these points. At one time, when the company was under different control than it is now, there was a commutation rate between Oregon City and Gladstone of 2 1/2 cents. It is now 4 1/2 cents. The argument that Gladstonites bring up is one of discrimination. It is claimed that by taking distance into consideration their town is grossly discriminated against. At the present time, it alleged, a person can travel from Green Point to Canemah for 3 cents, while 4 1/2 cents is asked between Green Point and Gladstone, which is about half the former distance. This is a thorn in the side of the citizens living in Gladstone, which has lately taken a decided boom, and if there is any possible remedy, it is going to be applied. Just what action the company will take on receipt of the petition is a question, but it is thought by some of the sanguine dwellers on the north side of the Clackamas that some reduction in the fare will be made. Many of the employees of the mills and factories in Oregon City live in Gladstone, and their travel on the cars is quite an important factor in the receipts of the company, and it is not unlikely that their request will be met with some consideration.

WILL COMMENCE GRINDING. Farmers Begin to Deliver Wheat at the Local Mill. With the coming of the autumn days comes the harvest of the county wheat crop, and farmers are already bringing in wheat and making deliveries to the mill of the Portland flouring mill of this city. Wheat is not only being delivered by wagon, but also by steamer and rail. The local mill has not run steadily for the last few years, but was started up Saturday for the fall run, and although the mill is not running at its fullest capacity, it will probably run for some time. From reports received from the country, the average yield of wheat in Clackamas County will be between 27 and 30 bushels per acre. The grade of wheat is good this year, and the farmers are getting a better price for their product here than the valley farmers, for the reason that it is closer to market. In this section the farmers have got better wheat, and there is a better price for it than at any time for the past five years, and they are all feeling pretty prosperous over the matter. The ruling price for wheat delivered at the mill is 64 cents. Many of the farmers are holding for a better price, but there is not much indication that it will advance, as the valley wheat has to come in competition with the Eastern Oregon wheat, which is of better quality, and always in greater demand.

MILWAUKIE MAN DIES. Loss Will Be Felt by the Entire Community. In the death of Mr. Michael Walsh, of Milwaukie, a highly respected and prosperous farmer, the community suffers a loss which will be keenly felt by all. Mr. Walsh, born in Ireland 65 years ago, came to New York when a young man, where he lived for a number of years. Like many more, though, he had a longing to go West, which he finally gratified, coming to California first, and from there to Oregon. Locating on a tract of land then heavily timbered, he gradually made it into one of the most beautiful farms now surrounding Milwaukie. Here he passed peacefully away, attended by his wife and children, who have been constantly by his side during his late illness. Mr. Walsh received injuries some 25 years ago while in the employ of the Southern Pacific, from which he never fully recovered, and which was accountable in hastening the end of a well-spent life. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Sister Mary Ignatia, of St. Mary's Academy, Portland; Frank Walsh, of Seattle; Richard Walsh, of Portland, and Rose, John, Michael and Owen Walsh, who are home at present.

Accused of Stealing a Horse. In Justice Stipp's courtroom Tuesday morning, Earl Chapman, of Clackamas, was arraigned for stealing a horse, the accused being J. H. Warde. The examination excited considerable interest, and was witnessed by a crowd of the usual curious individuals, with coats off, who are to be found always around a courtroom. Examination was waived for the defendant by his attorneys, George C. Brownell and G. C. Hayes. Chris Schuebel conducted the examination. The bond for the young man was fixed at $500, and was quickly furnished. Card of Thanks. We wish to express our sincere thanks to all those who so kindly assisted us during our late illness and bereavement. MRS. WALSH AND CHILDREN. Sees the Ocean After Thirty Years. While it is not a very remarkable thing to hear of a man who has not seen the ocean or been on an outing to the beach for 30 years, yet when it does come around that such a person exists, it is cause for remark. George Armstrong and wife left yesterday for San Francisco and will be back in 30 years that Mr. Armstrong has seen the billowy ocean and tramped along the sandy beach. Vacations have been spent in the mountains and at other places, but the beach has been neglected until this season, when Mr. Armstrong, who is a prominent citizen of Redland, made up his mind to go to the seashore. With hearts as light as school children, he and his wife left yesterday for their outing.

RIVER VERY LOW. Steamers Are Loaded Twice at Paper Mill Dock. Low water in the Willamette is greatly interfering with the commerce of the river, both on the upper and lower rivers. Especially so in the locks, where the water is so low that steamers loading at the dock of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company can only take about a third of a load. The full load is obtained by loading a barge and floating it out through the locks, and then re-loading on the steamer in the river. This is a very inconvenient method and the mill men would welcome a slight raise in the water level, as it would materially raise the river and enable the boats to clear with the usual 175 tons of paper, instead of only taking about 80 tons. Forest Fires Doing Damage. Clackamas County is having her share of forest fires, and although they are being watched with great care by the residents near which they occur, it will be fortunate if the season passes without some serious damage resulting. Out in the Logan country, across the river from Arthur's Prairie, there is a section of timber burning which is being watched carefully by the people. It is close to Breithaupt's place, and the sparks which fly from the burning trees and logs are a menace to the surrounding country, which is as dry as tinder. The residents of the district are worried and are doing everything possible to prevent the fire spreading.

Crown Making Dock Repairs. The Crown Paper Company is making improvements to the dock that is on the west side of its plant, on the other side of the river. The old dock has been for a long time a source of annoyance to the managers of the company, and at the low stage of the river they are taking advantage of the opportunity and placing new timbers and flooring. The repairing will be in progress for some time, and will cost the company a neat sum, but when finished will greatly add to the appearance of the mill, besides facilitating the loading of boats.
