Mr. Buckner had a very narrow escape from being bitten by a large deer a few days ago but finally the deer went away and left him unharmed but with a bouncing heart.

We see a notice in the Courier about the mountain fires and we also think that sixty dollars per month paid for fire wardens had better be kept for other purposes. Farmers in this country had to quit threshing and fight the forest fires.

HIGHLAND,

Highland is certainly on top. So says Will Mink, whose modern up todate threshing outfit made the biggest run in Highland in the history of its existence, being over 2400 bushels of grain (wheat and oats) in one day, Who can beat that in this county? Probably after this we will see a willingness on the part of threshermen to come to Highland since there is money in it for them.

G. R. Midley's place which has been called a hole in the ground by a distinguished Highlander, produced a yield of oats never before equalled in Highland, being 65 bushels to the

EAGLE CREEK.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents at Stevenson, Wash., September 4, 1906 the contracting parties being Miss Emma, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sweeney, and Albert L. Douglass, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Douglass of this place. The bride was tastefully attired in white silk trimmed with French valenceinnes lace and insertion, while the groom were the customary black. Only the family were present to witness the ceremony, where two were made one. They left for a short trip to the coast, stopping for a short stay at Eagle Creek, the boyhood home of the groom. The Monday evening following they were greeted with a concert, such as would delight the most fastidious, discord loving Chinese, in the shape of a medley composed of cowbells, tin cans and old saws plentifully punctuated by dynamite and firing of guns and other nosies that can only be invented by a crowd who undertakes to thus express their good will. They were invited in to the house where they were librerally treated to candy and nuts that were washed down with all kinds of drinks, soft and otherwise. After an hour spent in social chit-chat and congratulations the room was cleared and the crowd tripped the light fantastic to their hearts content. A very enjoyable evening was spent and for an impromptu affair, was voted a decided success. We heartily wish Bert and Emma many, long years of happiness and prosperity, and may the clouds be few and those few silver lined, their storms but April showers. Their future home will be in Stevenson, where Mr. Douglass has a profitable business.
