The Independent Telephone Company has recently installed a telephone plant at Albany and here is a sample of what they have to say:

Rawlings, Printer and Binder, Albany, Ore., March 6, 1907.—To all acquaintances of the operatives, I believe whom it may concern: The Home Telephone Company's service is so far superior to any service that we have previously had, that it is a pleasure to have one of their telephones and do business on their lines. I have two phones in my office and I always use the Home phone, as I can save time and swear words. Yours truly, (Signed) C. G. RAWLINGS, Mr. Postal Telegraph Cable Co.

"Albany, Ore., March 6, 1907. To Whom it may concern: As a subscriber to the Home Telephone Company I unhesitatingly wish to say that the Home Telephone Company gives us far the best service, not only in promptness to calls, but in the pleasantness of the operatives. I believe it has been of great benefit to the citizens of Albany and community. (Signed) FRED DAWSON."

"Tomlinson & Holman, Staple and fancy groceries and provisions, Albany, Oregon, March 6, 1907. To whom it may concern: The Home Telephone Company has given us a most efficient and satisfactory service and we believe that it has been the direct instrument of so developing the rural service that we now have direct communication with the great majority of our farmers. (Signed) TOMLINSON & HOLMAN, Per Holman."

RECEPTION TO THE PIONEERS

Early Settlers Are Guests of Women's Club.

ADDRESS BY G. H. HIMES

Decorations Are Elaborate and Sumptuous Banquet Is Served By Ladies.

Pioneers from every part of Clackamas County were in the city Saturday to attend the annual reception tendered by the Women's Club in the Willamette Hall, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion with roses of nearly every variety, shape, size and color, Scotch broom, spring branches, and National flags. In the morning an informal reception was held, and at noon the members of the club, assisted by many young women, served dinner. The long tables were loaded with toothsome dainties, and decked with roses, and a pleasing feature was the presentation of every plate of a rose grown on the oldest farm in Oregon—Rose Farm, part of the donation land claim of the late William Holmes near Mount Pleasant.

In the afternoon there was a program, Mrs. M. M. Charman, president of the club, presiding. The main address of the day was made by George H. If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, liver complaint, torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultant, as bronchitis, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Sassafras root, Mandaraka root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley, of University of Mo.; Dr. Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D. of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hise, M. D. of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and several of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through channels of trade, which has been subjected to such professional endorsement—worthy more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merit. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glycerine extract of native medicinal roots and is safe and reliable. A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients, mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HEALTH AND GOOD LOOKS.

Increasing the Height and Making the Waist Longer.

No woman enjoys having a short and dumpy figure, even though nature gave it to her. Few are aware, however, that it is quite possible to make oneself at least an inch taller and at the same time lengthen the waist. The thing is done by stretching exercises. Any woman of any age can bring about the desired result, but the younger the person begins the sooner the work will be done.

Have a horizontal bar placed at such a height that you can just grasp it by standing on tiptoe. Then grasp the bar firmly with both hands and draw yourself up as far as possible, supporting your weight by your hands and holding yourself thus as long as you can do so comfortably. Then let yourself down to rest a minute or two, after which repeat the stretching up act till you have gone through it with alternate relaxing, about ten times. Then grasp the bar with one hand, put the whole weight of the body upon the left foot and stretch your left side up as far as possible. Repeat the process for the right side till you have gone through this exercise also ten times. Do not go at the thing too severely at first. Do this exercise morning and evening. While you do it relax all the muscles of your body except those in actual use and put all your strength and mind into these.

Exercises For the Lower Part of the Body.

To lengthen the waist, stand quite erect, chest lifted, hands upon the hips pressing downward. Then breathe deeply and work your feet briskly up and down at the ankles, at the same time pulling your chest and upper body upward with all your might. At times pause a little and feel how the fine nerve currents run up your spine. In all physical culture exercises it is well to make these little pauses after a strong effort to note the thrill of the delicate nerve currents. Repeat the working of the ankles twenty times. Next put your hands upon some firm support, like the arm of a heavy chair, and stretch first one leg, then the other, as far backward as it is possible to do so. Stretch with all your might till you have done this ten times with each leg or not so often as that if it fatigues you too much. Finally stand back from the chair arm so far that you cannot easily reach it with your hands. Then, putting your arms before you, lean forward so far that only for the chair arm you would fall upon your face. Repeat this also a number of times till you are tired. Keep up the body stretching exercises, and you will gradually find your waist measure growing smaller and your whole body becoming lithe and longer. Hard work? Very well. You wish to become slender and taller, don't you? How long does a plump pupil have to practice before she attains proficiency?

Care of the Teeth and Skin.

No woman can be attractive looking unless she has good teeth and a clear, shining skin. Girls are often wickedly neglectful of both. As to the skin, perfect cleanliness, the daily bath, a pure and entirely harmless cold cream for the face and simple food will do wonders, especially if the woman is of a cheerful, kindly disposition. If the teeth are not naturally of the best, call in the services of a good dentist. As between getting a fine new dress and having and getting your teeth put in order choose the teeth every time, even if you have to wear your old hat and gown three seasons. It pays to put money into the mouth. If you are lucky enough to have good teeth to start with, keep them so.

Evolving a Beautiful Face.

A very plain girl can make herself absolutely handsome by cultivating her mind and heart as well as body. Envy, bad temper, malicious gossip, unkind criticism, would in a few years make the face of an angel hideous. An infallible preventive of allowing ourselves to grow ugly in this way is to put ourselves mentally every time in the place of the person we are on the point of condemning. Then we shall find the fault is oftentimes in ourselves. If not that, then it is caused either by the ignorance or suffering of the person we blame, and in either case the person needs our help and sympathy.

MARY GOULD LITTLE.

Mazamas Go To Mt. Jefferson. S. S. Mohler, of this city, has been engaged to pack the Mazama party that will ascend Mount Jefferson in July going from Portland to Detroit by rail and leaving Detroit for the mountain July 16. Mr. Mohler will leave July 5 to arrange for packing in the baggage of the members of the party which will probably number 50. After the return of the Mazama party to Detroit, Mr. Mohler, Edmund P. Sheldon, L. J. Hicks, and M. W. Gorman will go to Crater Lake, 25 miles south of Mount Hood and down the Clackamas and Roaring Rivers to Estacada.

Women Who Do

A Bright Literary Star of the Pacific Coast Is Mrs. Alice Prescott Smith, Who Lives In San Francisco.

It has been predicted that twenty-five years hence the Pacific coast of the United States will be in all respects of more importance than the Atlantic. Well, it looks that way. Even along the line of literature the number of gifted writers who hail from California is remarkable. Mrs. Alice Prescott Smith is one of these. Her latest novel, "Montlivet," proves her to possess fascinating power as a delineator of historic fiction. "Montlivet" goes away back, 200 years ago, when it seemed an almost even toss whether French, Indians or English should permanently possess this continent. She handles her theme so skillfully and keeps so much of an atmosphere of mystery pervading the tale that she has been compared to the great Cooper of "Leatherstocking" fame. Another of her striking novels is "The Legatee."

MRS. ALICE PRESCOTT SMITH.

Literary Women's Earnings.

With the fortune whose foundation was laid by "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" Alice Hegan Rice established a bank in Louisville. Kate Douglas Wiggin and Harriet Prescott Spofford used some of the money their wits pens drew to them to build lovely country homes in Maine. Although Edith Wharton was well to do before she took up novel writing, yet many of the dollars that came to her from her weird "House of Mirth" and other stories have gone to the beautifying of her summer home on Laurel lake, Lenox, Mass. It is notable because of its artistic furnishings. In England Marie Corelli has put some of her earnings into a luxurious country home hidden away in the woods, while Mrs. Humphry Ward's place in Hertfordshire is really like an old baronial estate in its proportions.

Two Ohio Fisher Girls.

Proving once more that a woman of grit and perseverance can do almost anything she undertakes, two girls of Connecticut, O., have for some years earned a living as lake fishermen. Their homes are on the border of Lake Erie, and their names are Kate Matthews and Bertha Miggs. Miss Matthews is large and of splendid physical strength and courage. Both have no end of courage, for that matter, but Miss Miggs is a slender girl, not so strong as her business partner, Miss Matthews.

Both the girls' fathers were lake fishermen. Miss Miggs' father was killed in a collision on Lake Erie. It was after his death that the two girls made their venture as professional fishermen. They got a small sloop, took with them John Huelsman, an old man and uncle of Miss Matthews, and boldly sailed out to make a living for themselves and their families catching fish. Their commercial headquarters are at Huron. Both girls were fairly good navigators to begin, and soon they learned the management of boat and nets so well that they were quite safe to go out alone, leaving the uncle ashore to mend nets and transact business. They named their sloop the Hope.

They have done so well as fishermen that they now own the Hope and each has her home paid for, something which seems to have been out of the power of either girl's father to achieve. They also have each considerable money in bank. Thrilling escapes they have sometimes had. Once in a high wind a boom knocked Miss Miggs overboard. Though both girls are strong swimmers, the water was so rough that Miss Miggs would have drowned if Miss Matthews had not gone overboard after her. Then both came near being drowned, but managed to make the boat again. And once they were fired on by a Canadian revenue cutter when they were fishing.

A High Salaried Woman Cook.

Really, ladies, there is no occupation that pays better than cooking. To see a picture of Mrs. Rosa Lewis, chef of the Cavendish hotel, London, one would think her a handsome young society woman. She is refined and ladylike looking, and, as a matter of fact, she is both refined and ladylike. She earns $15,000 a year as head cook, and so famous is her reputation that she is sent for all over England to prepare dinners for great occasions.

Kendall, principal, re-elected; salary increased to $90 per month; Miss Clara Koerner Bolton, re-elected; Miss Lillie Schmidt, first primary; Miss Martha Koerner, second primary; Miss Lucy E. Humphreys, of Hillsboro, intermediate. Miss Schmidt and Miss Martha Koerner are now teaching in the Oregon City schools.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW, Chatham, N. Y. Press Correspondent New York State Grange

A BUSINESS GRANGE.

Transactions Amounting to $30,000 a Year Handled With Satisfaction. (Special Correspondence.)

The business part of Monroe (N. Y.) grange amounts to about $30,000 per year. We do business only with the members of the grange. The commercial secretary will take no orders from nonmembers. We meet each Wednesday evening. When the work of the grange reaches the order of standing committees, the commercial secretary reads all quotations and information received by him during the week for the general information of the members. Thus the Patrons keep thoroughly posted on prices, and, what is perhaps more important, the commercial secretary holds the confidence of the members.

After the reading of the correspondence orders are in order and are taken and booked. This is done by the Patrons remaining in their seats and stating aloud their wants. Goods are ordered as soon as the required quantity is booked. Our wants consist mainly of feed stuffs, which we purchase in all markets where price and quality suit best. We also buy wire, hardware, groceries, boots and shoes; in fact, we look up anything the Patrons want if for nothing more than to keep posted on prices. As soon as the commercial secretary gets an invoice for a car of feed he makes out bills to the Patrons interested in the car and presents them at the next regular meeting of the grange. Under the order of bills and accounts the Patron's name is called, and he steps up and pays his bill. When all have paid, the money is passed to the treasurer, who receipts for the same and deposits it in the bank, where it is ready to meet draft when car arrives. No slight drafts are honored. When the car arrives, the treasurer pays the draft and notifies parties having purchases from a list furnished him by the commercial secretary that the car will be unloaded the following day.

We have a member who delivers the goods to the Patrons as they drive up to the car and keeps a memorandum of the same, which he returns to the commercial secretary. No goods are ever left over. Each transaction closes itself when goods are delivered. Each car is numbered, and all bills belonging to it carry the same number. The expense of running the business end of the grange is about 25 cents per ton or 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 per cent on the business done. We need no storeroom nor extra handling, but use the cars as our shop. We pay one-half of 1 per cent on all purchases to the commercial secretary, 10 cents per ton on all sacked goods to the unloader and 2 1/2 cents per ton to the treasurer, which is added to the Patron's bill. Our Patrons get everything at the lowest possible price, and yet those who do the work receive pay for their time.

JOIN KROUSE.

ALMOST 7,000 MEMBERS.

Jefferson County, N. Y., Makes a Good Report to the State Grange.

We have thirty-three granges, twenty-four of which own their halls, and all are in a prosperous condition. The membership Sept. 30, 1906, was 6,740, a gain of 271 during the year, and Jan. 1 the membership was 6,798. The Pomona has a membership of 610. We still continue the practice of appointing fifth degree members to visit every grange and report at the September meeting, thus making another link between the Pomona and subordinate grange.

A lecturers' association was organized in 1905, which held three meetings the past year and seems to be of considerable interest and benefit, and much more is hoped for in the future. The Patrons' Fire Relief association is now carrying about $13,000, 000 in risks, and, although heavy losses were incurred last year, an assessment of $2 per thousand was ample to pay all claims. Nearly $28,000 was saved last year by this means over the old companies.

H. S. TODD.

For Better Telephone Service.

So extensive has become the operation of the rural telephone that a better exchange service is desired in order to make it more efficient. A resolution was adopted by the New York state grange asking for a state law compelling all telephone companies to receive and transmit over their lines messages originating with competing companies. This law is demanded in the interest of farmers who have rural telephones and who cannot secure connection with competing lines. A similar law was asked for by the state grange of Maine four years ago, and it was enacted by the legislature of that state and is in force today. The law has been tested as to its constitutionality, and the court of appeals has decided it constitutional.

Grange Speakers In New York.

It cost the New York state grange $2,051.41 last year to pay the per diem and expenses of speakers assigned by the state master to visit various subordinate and county granges during the year. This year a fund of $2,500 has been set apart as a speakers' fund, which will enable each county to have at least two meetings at which state speakers will be present irrespective of grange membership, and, in addition, there will be held other meetings proportionate to the total grange membership in the county.

Lodge Will Erect Building.

Multnomah Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M. will proceed with the construction of its new building on Main street near Seventh without letting the contract. Bids were opened Saturday and the bid of Harry Jones for $3,000 was the lowest and the contract was awarded to him. Mr. Jones concluded to withdraw his offer, however. The next bids exceeds that of Jones by several thousand dollars. Mr. Jones was the only bidder from Oregon City. Pope & Company had the lowest bid for the plumbing.

STRAWBERRIES COMING IN.

Lucious Fruit Now Retailing At Six Cents Per Box.

Strawberry growers in all parts of the country have begun the harvesting of their crops this week, and some say that it will be a short crop. The past few days have hastened the ripening of the berries. They are now retailing in the markets for 6c per box.

In some parts of the county clover will be short, but hay will be medium, and it is reported by some of the farmers that the grain will not be up to what it was last year.

In many parts of the county the potato acreage will be large, and the early potatoes will be ready for market in a few weeks.

Strawberry growers say that a good rain would be very beneficial to the strawberry plants as the ground in many sections is very dry.
