SUCCESSFUL SHOW HELD

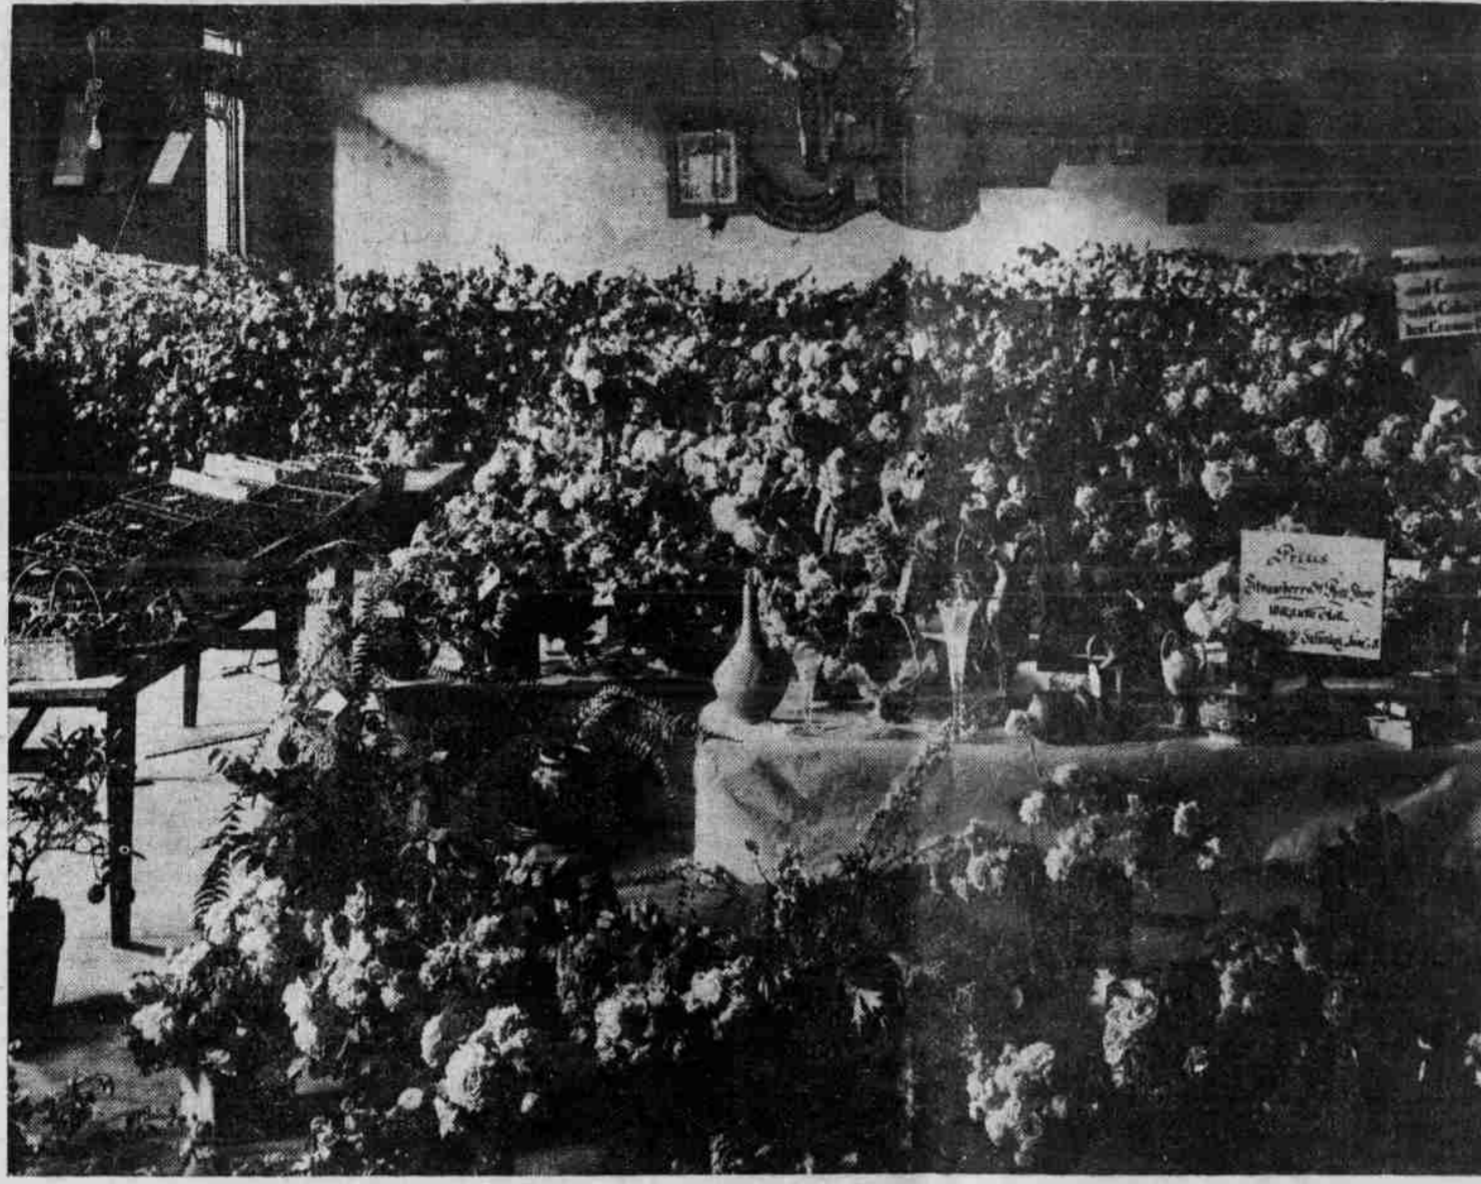

Fruit and Flowers Exhibited to Many Hundreds.

FINE LOT OF BERRIES

Roses In Profusion and Wild Flower Display Are Features of Attractive Event.

Nearly two hundred exhibits of beautiful roses marked the first Clackamas County Strawberry and Rose show that was opened Friday morning in Willamette Hall. The stately Caroline Testout, the ever popular La France, the clinging Baby Rambler, the delicate colorings of the Marechal Niel, the deep shades of the General Jacqueminot, the Dr. Grill, Glorie de Lyonaise, Maman Cochet, Magna Charta, Paul Nehren, William Allen Richardson, Reina Marie Henrietta, Prince Camille de Rohan, Ulrich Bruner, Francisca Kruger, Eloye de L'Isle, Rodocanachi, Baroness, President Carnot, and dozens of other varieties combined to make a picture that has never before been seen in this city. Delicate ferns helped to form the decorations of the hall, and the peonies shown by Mrs. Ralph Miller and the carnations from the greenhouse of Wilkinson & Hughes were rare specimens.

The strawberries were none the less unusual, though not as numerous. The exhibits numbered about 200 boxes, the Canby growers alone sending 75 boxes for exhibition, best donation feature of the affair. The berries comprise the Magoon, Clark Seedling, Oregon, Warfield, Gandy, Dorman, Mrs. Hanna and Shirley Bell. In Mr. W. B. Stafford's exhibit there is the Jersey berry, originated by the exhibitor and Everett Downey of Willamette displayed a basket of Charles Downing berries that have their home in Michigan. J. K. Hartnell of Clackamas, has originated a seedling and had a display on the table. The Dorman berry from the farm of A. H. Finnegan of Canemah, excited great admiration for their size and coloring, and Mr. Finnegan also displayed a 15-box crate of the new Oregon variety. J. R. Hunt of Willamette had a basket of Magoons, and this berry was also shown by A. J. Hobbie of West Oregon City, Harvey Douglass, Linneberg & Reese, Charles J. Roth and R. S. Co. Canby, W. B. Stafford of Oregon City and A. J. Ford. Clark Seedlings were exhibited by Mr. Stafford, C. P. Andrews of Mount Pleasant, Albert Notz of Clackamas and Linneberg & Reese of Canby. C. W. Swallow of

Comments that were heard on every side repaid the exhibitors for their interest and activity. Captain James P. Shaw, whose tireless energy is largely responsible for the success of the affair, is jubilant over the success of the show, which will undoubtedly be resolved into a permanent annual event. Strawberries and wild flowers held first place Saturday. The display of flora was extensive and of particular interest to scores of boys and girls, who competed for the prizes. The rose of yesterday was relegated to second place and in its stead huge bunches of buttercups, blue bells, rhododendrons, fox gloves, wild fringe, Mount Hood lilies and many other varieties were examined, classified and admired. Thomas Howell of Center, probably the best known authority on the botany of the woods and fields of the Western Slope, was present, as was Prof. P. P. Stauffer of the Portland high school, and they gave the correct names to the specimens on exhibition. The judges for the wild flower displays were Mrs. J. W. Norris, Mrs. T. A. Pope, Mrs. W. E. Pratt, Mrs. M. M. Charman and Mrs. Arthur Warner and they awarded the prizes as follows: Ruth Notz of Clackamas 56 varieties the Dr. Sommer prize, complete Brownie camera and outfit. Harold Waldron of Oregon City, 47 varieties, the Lewellyn Adams prize, mantle clock. Mrs. E. B. Andrews of Mount Pleasant, 35 varieties, the George A. Harding prize, bottle of perfume. J. M. Mark of West Oregon City, 33 varieties, the Frank Busch prize, flower holder. Special mention for rarity of exhibits: Miss Violet Johnson, wild fringe; Martha Parker, native or Mount Hood lilies; August Rakel, rhododendrons; Clara Schoenborn, Mount Baln. The exhibits of strawberries did not shine to advantage after being displayed for 36 hours, but were favorably commented upon by hundreds of people, many of whom came from Portland. Wholesalers from the metropolis were there, and W. B. Glaffe of the W. B. Glaffe Co., T. Pearson of the Pearson-Page Co., and Frank H. Page, Jr., of Page & Son, judged the exhibit, and made brief talks. Mr. Page complimented the Clackamas County growers on the splendid quality of the berries shown and gave excellent advice relative to cultivation. Mr. Glaffe stated that the growers should find the berry best adapted to the soil and location, and then specialise on that particular berry in order that cars containing one variety could be made up. He praised the quality and condition of the berries of the county and said there was no reason why Clackamas County should not compete successfully with Hood River later on. Mr. Pearson urged the growers to organize at once. He alluded to the Clark Seedlings in the exhibit, and said he considered them as fine as the same variety from Hood River, which specializes on the Clark. He emphasized the importance of careful packing, and said that berries, when crated, should be arranged so as to present an excellent appearance. Mr. Pearson illustrated his advice by speaking of the exhibit of Oregon berries while practically unknown as far as their commercial value extends, had been awarded a prize because of their attractive appearance in their crate. The strawberry prizes were awarded as follows: C. P. Andrews of Mount Pleasant, Clark Seedling, first prize for commercial value and fine quality, loving cup from Oregon City grocers. Albert Notz, of Clackamas, Clark Seedling, second prize, for quality and commercial value, fruit basket from Canby Strawberry growers. A. P. Ford, prize for Magoon exhibit, Utopian vase from Huntley Bros. Co. A. H. Finnegan of Canemah, New Improved Oregon, prize on packing for commercial use, dozen silver spoons from Clackamas growers. C. W. Swallow, Maple Lane, prize for exhibit of Warfields, ornamental orange tree, from Strawberry and Rose Show. C. J. Roth of Canby, special prize for largest and best collection from distance, China bowl from Strawberry and Rose Show. Ribbons were given for the following exhibits which received special mention: Dorman, A. R. Finnegan; Seedling originated in Clackamas County, R. K. Hartnell; Jersey, originated by the grower and exhibitor, W. B. Stafford; Magoon, J. H. Hunt; Magoon plant, Thomas Hage. The judges and their wives and other Portland guests were banqueted by the retail grocers, and were delighted with the royal reception they received. Friday night an informal entertainment and reception was held at the close of the rose feature of the Show. Mayor E. G. Caulfield and Captain James P. Shaw delivered brief speeches, Miss Edith Cheney sang "Roses," and piano numbers were rendered by Miss Edna Daulton. The hall was crowded and the marked enthusiasm will probably result in the formation of a rose society as at least 50 people expressed a desire to affiliate. The women in charge of the rose show, who have worked energetically and unceasingly to make the affair a success, have succeeded beyond their hopes, and Captain James P. Shaw, who managed the Show, was fortunate in having the ladies with him. Patronesses for the Show were: Mrs. W. B. Stafford, Mrs. G. B. Dimick, Mrs. Ward Lawton, Mrs. Charles H. Caulfield, Mrs. E. G. Caulfield, Mrs. T. Leonard Charman, Mrs. Charles D. Latourette, Mrs. Theodore Clark, Mrs. Leonard L. Pickens, Mrs. Bruce C. Curry, Mrs. E. A. Sommer, Miss Mollie Holmes, Mrs. Samuel A. Dillman, Mrs. E. M. Burmeister, Mrs. J. Betzel, Miss Muriel Stevens, Mrs. J. M. Mark, Mrs. Robert J. Goodfellow, Mrs. John Adams, Mrs. Belle A. Sleight, Mrs. William S. U'Ren, Mrs. William H. Howell, Mrs. Phillip Kemp Hammond. There is a balance on hand of $27.85 from the Clackamas County Strawberry and Rose Show, and Captain James P. Shaw, chairman of the affair, has issued a financial statement showing the receipts and disbursements. The receipts came from entrance fees and from the sale of refreshments and totaled $100.95. COUNTY FAIR IN CLACKAMAS

Project May Be Taken Up By Board of Trade.

GLADSTONE PARK GIVEN

Business Men Favor Display of County Products in the Fall of 1907.

There is some possibility of the establishment of a county fair in old Clackamas, and a movement for this enterprise has been placed on foot by the Board of Trade. The Willamette Valley Chautauqua Assembly has, through Secretary H. E. Cross, offered the use of the 75 acres embraced in Gladstone Park and also the buildings of the Chautauqua Assembly for the use of a Clackamas County Fair, and a committee of five members of the Board of Trade will be named for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements. The remarkable success of the Clackamas County Strawberry and Rose Show has demonstrated that there is a strong sentiment in favor of fairs of this kind. Under the act of the state legislature the county court may make an annual appropriation of $500 for advertising purposes, and while in a momentary spasm of economy the court refused to make a small appropriation for prizes to be given to farmers at the coming Fourth of July celebration, the three men that preside over the finances of the county can hardly refuse to give the entire appropriation of $500 for a County Fair.

The Board of Trade meeting was not attended by many people but those present evinced a desire to push along meritorious matters and named Frank Busch, Thomas F. Ryan, D. C. Ely, G. B. Dimick and Dr. Alfred L. Beattie a committee to solicit funds for the construction of a public wharf. This project has been in a state of agitation for more than a year, and the temper of the business men on the proposition will now be shown. George C. Brownell, W. A. Huntley and H. A. Galloway have been named as a committee to communicate with the officials of the Southern Pacific Company relative to the inadequate facilities for shippers at this point, and if the company fails to provide the necessary switches and side tracks, the committee may lodge a formal complaint with the state railroad commission.

The Board of Trade will maintain headquarters at Gladstone Park during the coming session of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Assembly. The following citizens have been appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Oregon Development League in Portland: C. H. Dye, T. F. Ryan, H. E. Cross, W. A. Huntley, A. Knapp, O. W. Eastham, W. E. Carl, J. E. Hedges, Bruce C. Curry, W. J. E. Vick, W. H. Schooley and Linn E. Jones. Thomas F. Ryan, W. A. Huntley and Duane C. Ely are a committee to confer with the Oswald & Hill furniture factory to see what arrangements can be made towards providing an adequate site for the company's plant.

Highland.

George Stevens and John Schram have gone to Echo, Oregon, to see what that part of the world is like. George says if he can just bag a jack rabbit he will try a bowl of rabbit soup. John thinks a roasted sage rat would be far better. Mrs. Charley Welsh of Dolan, but formerly of Highland, came down a few days ago to visit friends and relatives. Hiram Fellows jumped his job at Madison's sawmill and will go to Hood River to pick strawberries.

GRADUATES OF HIGH SCHOOL

Barclay Students Complete Course of Study.

DIPLOMAS GIVEN TO 22

President P. L. Campbell, of University of Oregon Delivers Address to the Class.

Graduates from the Barclay high school Tuesday night received their diplomas and received their friends in Shively's Theatre, which was artistically decorated with green boughs, syringia, and the pennants of the B. H. S. There were 22 on the platform when the curtain rose and the program which followed was carried out with a snap that permitted of no trifling waits, opening and closing with piano numbers from Miss Alice Goetting, one of the graduates, and Miss Louise Huntley and Miss Louise Walker. In both solo and duet they were encored. Rev. E. Clarence Oakley brought the audience to its feet with the invocation, and the salutatory was spoken by Mary Arvesta Scott. "The Future of the West" was the subject of an oration from Harry August Schott, and he paid a tribute to Marcus Whitman. Dr. R. A. Heritage sang "The Erl King," and was encored. The oration of Winnie Florence Jackson on "Our Native Writers" was of particular interest. She said the early pioneers had had no advantages in a literary way, books were few and precious, but not withstanding the lack of encouragement, the inspiration came to many from the beautiful brooks and hills for which Oregon has always been famous, and Joaquin Miller, Sam L. Simpson, Homer Balch and Eva Emery Dye were products of Oregon.

Mrs. Inogen Harding Brodie sang "The Rose Complained," (Franz), "Ask My Dear Old Mother," (Dvorak), and "Who Is Sylvia," (Schubert). She was in good voice and the melody in her last number appealed to the audience. Mrs. Brodie, for an encore, sang "The Year's at the Spring." Alvah Ray Groat was the class orator and acquitted himself admirably. The class history and prophecy was given by Miss Olga McClure and was the most interesting bit on the program. President P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon, delivered the class address, and was listened to intently. His remarks were often brilliant, but were appreciated for their earnestness. Dr. R. A. Heritage sang his best number, "Israfel" and Miss Emily Watts gave the valedictory. The diplomas were presented in a neat speech by Chairman George A. Harding of the board of directors. Miss Martha Frances Draper was a pleasant accompanist for the vocalists. The graduates were showered with flowers and gifts from their friends, and City Superintendent MeKeo, who was happy over the culmination of a successful year's work, announced that the Barclay High School Alumni Association will hold a meeting in Knapp's Hall Thursday evening, June 20, when the 1907 graduates will be tendered a reception. The graduates are: Myrtle Gladstone Cross, Chester Carothers, Hazel Lucy Ginter, Alice May Goetting, Gilbert Eugene Long, Mary Arvesta Scott, Alvah Ray Groat, Harry August Schott, Rosa Moebke, Olga McClure, Elizabeth Lewis, Harry Frost, Genevieve Leighton Capen, Elva Emily Watts, Winnie Florence Jackson, Millard Irving Gillet, Lola Eldora Young, William Jackson, William Stromeyer, Ethyl Park, John Paterson Telford, Harold Vernon Waldron.
