GARDEN TRUCK BENEFITTED.

Threshing Somewhat Delayed on Account of the Hains.

The rain of last week practically did very little damage to the crops, but was a great benefit to the pota-toes and other garden truck. All through the county the farmers are very active cutting their grain and getting ready for their threshing, which has been somewhat delayed on acount of the rains of last week. In some sections the farmers have fin-ished threshing and have their grain put away for the winter.

The hop crop is inclined to be short this year, but from the present out-look the crop will be of good quality. In some sections the yards will not be picked this year, owing to the low coming into market, and by the latter part of the week the markets will be supplied with the luscious fruit. Plums of the Bradshaw and Egg and Sugar varieties are bringing a price of 2 cents per pound. There is great demand for prunes this year, and already buyers have been through the county searching for prunes and contracting for the yield. Although there is a good crop this year the price of dried prunes and other dried fruits will be much higher this year than any previous year, owing to the big demand for Oregon dried fruits in New York, Chicago and England.
