WILLIE AT THE PHONE

Honest, if this business doesn't let up, they'll make me bow-legged carrying packages around. I heard of a man once who was awfully bow-legged. When he wanted his wife to sit on his lap, he had to put a board across. I wish they'd put boards behind the counters in this store, so I could wait on folks. I hate to see any one waiting. We've got some awfully good salesmen. When the old man hires a new clerk he wants to know his record as a sprinter. If he can't make a hundred yards in ten seconds, he can't get the job. There's some advantages in being quick and some disadvantages, but if you don't like to hurry yourself, there's the telephone. Phone in your order and I'll see that they get your stuff out p. q. Ask for me, Willie, the hustler.

Coast News Notes

Professor R. S. Tarr, occupying the chair of Physical Geography at Cornell University, is the author of a geography now used as a text book in a vast number of schools throughout the United States, and in revising this book is paying special attention to the development of Oregon and Washington. Under the auspices of the Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Club has furnished Professor Tarr very complete data on Oregon, together with a number of thoroughly representative pictures, and genuine interest on the part of the author is apparent from a request for further photographs of specific subjects. Washington's commercial bills will see that the "Evergreen State" is properly taken care of.

No section of the Union surpasses the Pacific Northwest in the excellence of its public schools, and Oregon communities are manifesting their interest in the State University by urging upon the State the most liberal appropriations for the maintenance of this institution in a way that will enable it to reach its highest efficiency. Public bodies throughout the Northwest appreciate that institutions of higher learning are a factor of the greatest importance to Eastern people who contemplate making their homes here.

Eastern people are already beginning to arrive on the Spring colonist rates. The disposition is to seek the smaller towns and the majority of those looking for country places intend to enter fruit growing or dairying, two industries especially attractive in Washington and Oregon, where they bring greater returns than in any other part of the country.

California people are planning to return the visits made that state by the people of Oregon and Washington—probably the first excursions will be made at the time of Portland's use Carnival in June. At even this early date, too, the Alaska-Pacific-Yukon Exposition at Seattle is being much discussed in the South.

A series of meetings under the auspices of the Oregon Development League are to be held this week in Ashland, Medford, Roseburg, Grants Pass, Albany, and Stayton. Ione held an enthusiastic meeting last week that lasted until two o'clock in the morning. Seventy new members were taken into the Commercial Club there.

The Los Angeles Times, the greatest paper of the Southwest, includes in its market reports grain quotations for the Pacific coast. It is significant that only Portland and Tacoma appear in this connection. This is also true of San Francisco papers.

SERMONS ON BUSINESS

SUNDAY EVENING THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF THREE SERMONS AT M. E. CHURCH.

LAUNCH INTO BUSINESS

Rev. R. C. Blackwell Gives the First Sermon Sunday Evening—Good Talk to Young and Old.

Rev. R. C. Blackwell, pastor of the Methodist Church in this city has entered into a three-course sermon along the theme of being diligent in what work you may have to do, and by so doing, put Oregon City in the front rank. His sermon last Sunday evening was the first of the series of three, and he touched along the lines as above stated. He read the twelfth chapter of Romans as his lesson, which is a lesson on faithfulness in any work and diligence, and added if we would all live up to the teachings of that lesson we would indeed live a righteous life, without diligence in business there can be but little possibility of success. When this world was organized it was intended we should work and that at legitimate business, putting great stress on the various lines of business that are legitimate. There is no place in this world for the deliberate idler, sayeth the preacher, and that God expects man to work as long and as hard as he can. He talked of the insatiable desire of the little child to play and the child that plays hard and enthusiastically will grow to be a faithful worker and a diligent worker, let him play was his command—make him play. He talked of the man or woman, who with the large family that must be fed, the home to be taken care of and the hours of labor required to meet the demands of the hungry little ones at home and how through the long hours of faithfulness the toilers were making their way to their home of rest and happiness above, in the great hereafter. The worker who can not do his work without friction, has no place here and he should go at once and take lessons from the great builder of the universe and the teacher of the true work of man. It is worth while to work for what comes out of it, and then to make all that is in it come out. Our ancestors built to the benefit of future generations, and we can now do as well, and again we should not be lost in the thought of material things, build well into a crimson vein, into the human heart, and God's blessing will stand as a foundation of the structure throughout eternity.

MISS EDITH CHENEY ENTERS NEW AND DESIRABLE BUSINESS.

Popular Oregon City Young Lady—Takes the Initiative Early in Life—To Succeed J. F. Lymp.

Miss Edith Cheney, the popular lady clerk in Huntley's book store for the past five months, has resigned her position, and has purchased the Lymp Photo Studio, and will take possession the first of April. Miss Cheney was in the photograph business in Oregon City about two years ago before going East, and has had a great deal of experience in that line. While in Whitewater, Wis., Miss Cheney was also connected with a large photograph studio. Miss Cheney is an artist of unusual excellence in this line, and we predict for her unprecedented success. The studio is now undergoing repairs, and the interior will be repainted and papered, and will be completed by the time Miss Cheney takes possession. Mr. Lymp, who is at present in charge of the gallery, has, by his ability and faithfulness to business principles, already succeeded in building up a most flattering photographic business, and it is therefore greatly to Miss Cheney's advantage that she is to succeed Mr. Lymp.

Prof. H. A. Howell, of Havana, Cuba, Recommends Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"As long ago as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life have I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell, of Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3d our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold, the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and now, three days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that only, saved the life of our dear little boy." Did you ever stop to compare the COURIER with other County papers? Consider a minute. There are 12 pages—each page containing 7 columns. This makes a column more on each page than you usually get in a county weekly or 12 columns, which is equal to two extra pages when comparing with a six column paper. Then the extra length gives half a page extra. So, summing up, the County Weekly as a rule gives you 8 pages each containing 6 columns. To get the comparative size of the COURIER you must add 6 1/2 pages—which is lacking only a page and a half of being just double the size of the ordinary 8-page weekly. Only the loyal support that the COURIER has enjoyed throughout the County enables it to furnish such a large paper. If you are a reader of the paper call your neighbor's attention to the fact that Clackamas County has never before had so much in the way of a County Paper. Remember the MAGAZINE SECTION—THE COMIC SUPPLEMENT. This alone is worth the price of the COURIER. Send for sample copies of the COURIER—give us the name of your friend who should read the COURIER, and we will send samples. OREGON CITY COURIER
