

Oregon City Courier

Published Every Friday by Oregon City Courier Publishing Co. Entered in Oregon City Postoffice as Second-Class Mail. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Six months, $1.00; One year, $1.75. Ad. in advance, per year, $1.50.

AN AWKWARD POSITION.

It is even strange that C. W. Fulton should go before the people asking their endorsement for the United States senatorship. He holds that the election lies properly within the Legislature. He is not willing that the popular vote should settle the matter unless it happens to come his way. He wants the vote if he can get it, but if he can't he wants the Legislature to proceed to elect a Senator. If some one else happens to get the popular vote he doesn't want the Legislature to feel under obligation to elect him and he doesn't want candidates for the legislature to pledge themselves to abide by the people's choice.

The fact is that the system under which Mr. Fulton played the political game so long and so successfully never recognized the rights or wishes of the people and it does not seem to have dawned upon him that the people have decided to do things differently now. We used to send men to the legislature understanding that it was a part of the regular proceedings for them to trade their Senatorial vote for a few thousand dollars or for a registration or receivership of a U. S. Land Office or some other good government job. We got out of the way of doing this a couple of years ago and now if we get a candidate for the legislature to pledge himself to vote for the people's choice for Senator he won't be subjected to the temptation to vote for the man who can offer the longest purse or the best job. What argument can Mr. Fulton have for going back to this rotten old system. He shouldn't receive twenty votes in Clackamas County. With all the nerve he is reputed to have he doesn't dare to come before the people and defend his position on this question. There is no defense for it—there is merely a hope to build on by false pretenses, into voting away their privileges that State No. 1 guarantees. It will be found out before long that the voting public is not so ignorant after all. The vote that C. W. Fulton will get in Clackamas county on such a stand as he has taken will bring him to a realization of the fact that the people see through these things nowadays as well as the politicians.

FOR THE PEOPLES' CAUSE.

W. S. U'Ren probably accomplished his purpose in entering the contest for U. S. Senator. Mr. U'Ren maps out a way of accomplishing a goodly part of his undertakings. He said on his entry into the fight that he came in to preserve the right of the people to elect United States Senators. It is customary to view motives of politicians from a mercenary standpoint and so, regardless of professions to the contrary, it was thought by a great many that Mr. U'Ren came into the fight because he wanted to go to the Senate. But to the surprise of these same persons when Mr. U'Ren became convinced that H. M. Calk was an warm adherent to the cause of self he promptly withdrew from the contest. Here is the proof that the cause for which Mr. U'Ren has striven and toiled throughout many years is dearer to him than personal advancement.

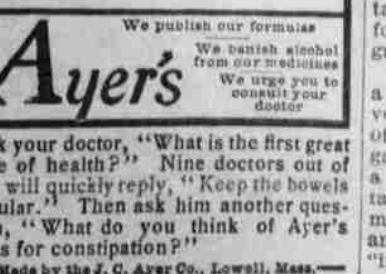

We cannot expect this man of many theories to be always right. Of the legislation that he has proposed much will be rejected. But leave it to the people to pick out that part, which is fitted to their needs. After all there would be little advancement were there no extremists and as there are hundreds who strive to tear down where there is one that endorses to build up, there is little danger that reformatory measures that are opposed to the interests of the people will be adopted.

No one realized what a bitter fight is being made against the people's right to elect United States senators until Mr. U'Ren drew the fire of the enemy. It is now apparent that he only wished to make the issue clear cut with a champion of Statement No. 1 in the field, and that he was not so much concerned in the personality of this champion provided he were honest, capable and every inch in earnest.

Had Mr. U'Ren stayed in the contest he and Mr. Calk would have divided the Statement No. 1 vote and it is possible that with the vote divided Mr. Fulton could have secured enough votes through the manipulation of the remnants of old party machines to have nominated him. Mr. U'Ren's action in withdrawing showed that he was not willing to chance such a happening, even though to prevent it, he must give up what he thought to be the best chance in the field of winning the most exalted office in the gift of the people of the State. He retired under a vicious fire that was poured forth by those who are seeking to curtail the people's privileges whose motives were sordid and corrupt, and whose crowning ambition is to place in power again the political

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows.

aristocracy whose boodling and corruption brought upon Oregon her sickening shame and disgrace. It took courage no doubt, to retire under such abuse. How great must the temptation have been to one who rather likes a fight to have stayed to the finish that vindication might have been had at the hands of the people. But one of the dearest prerogatives of the people of the State was in danger—here was a man who rose to the requirements of the occasion—this is the spirit met just once in a while but its mention finds a place on the pages of a people's history whose personal triumphs and the achievements of ambition are not recorded. There is much wheat, much chaff in the reformatory measures advocated by the man who was most prominent among the little band which led Oregon into her political liberty. The time is not opportune, the temper of the people not fitted to attempt to separate the one from the other. Other times will suffice for this and around this theme will be woven the most interesting chapter of a great State's history.

GIUSEPPE ALIA, MURDERER.

"Is there no appeal?" These are assuredly the words of despair. An expression of utter hopelessness the illustrious Dante might well have made the abandoned spirit of the "Inferno" writhing in indescribable torment say, "Is there no appeal?" The answer is in the memorable inscription written over the portal; "Abandon all hope ye who enter hence." There is no appeal for such as Giuseppe Alia, brutal slayer of Leo Heinrichs. There is no hope.

The life he took is not destroyed. It still continues a potent factor in the community where Father Heinrichs tolled and taught the blessings that accompany a well ordered life. All that was good and noble in him will live throughout the centuries in those who learned from him the way of a better life and in their posterity. The influences of righteousness never die.

Of the murderer Alia, there will be for a time a memory. In years to come, when the name of Alia is called forth a curse, but never a prayer. Within a few weeks his worthless life will be snuffed out and that is the end. There is no earthly court in which such a cause as his may be pleaded. Because his form is human his destruction must be accomplished by a formal process. But there is no appeal. The highest Court on Earth, public opinion, has already passed sentence on this man and beyond this there is no appeal.

There is a warning in these words spoken by Giuseppe Alia when he had listened to the pronouncement of his realization of the fact that the people had no place within a civilized nation for the man who recognizes no law. When this one thing is absolutely known concerning him the process of a Court is hardly necessary; the savage beast of the forest is slain by the first man who comes upon him and he who denies the existence of the law is no more entitled to its protection. Society may require certain formalities in dealing with every being that has human form, but society alone has the right to complain if one of its members receives no more consideration than the beast of the forest, providing he has placed himself outside the law's protection by denying its existence. He has no cause of complaint, there is nothing for him to appeal to.

THE YEAR IN ELECTRICITY.

The electrical industry for the year 1907 closed with the greatest showing in all its wonderful history. More wonders were accomplished in 1907, greater undertakings were brought to successful finish and a larger number of discoveries and inventions were recorded than ever before since Benjamin Franklin first sent up his kite and announced: "There is a greater power in the heavens, of which we know nothing, than man has ever conceived—some day it will be found and used."

The development of electric traction during the past year has been one of the most remarkable features of the year in the electrical industry. The most notable work was the electrification of the New York Central and New Haven roads about New York city, the adoption of electricity in place of steam on the Erie railroad at Rochester, the West Shore at Syracuse and the Pennsylvania in New Jersey and on Long Island. All the trains on the New York Central railroad are now handled by electric locomotives of the General Electric type as soon as they get within twenty-five miles of the metropolis. Not only was electricity installed on these roads to reduce operating expenses, but it was found that the rapidly increasing traffic could not be handled by steam power, and electricity, quicker, faster and more powerful, was substituted for the motive power with encouraging results. Other important electric traction developments are the new East River tunnels at New York. One of these tunnels is an extension of the Manhattan subway system to Borough Hall, Brooklyn. The other at Forty-second street has been completed and trains are now in operation. The McAdoo tunnels under the North river are fast nearing completion. The Pennsylvania tunnels are completed across to the Jersey shore. All the trains through these various tunnels will be operated by electricity. Throughout the west several prominent railroads have adopted electric locomotives in place of steam for tunnel work. The electric locomotives to be installed by the Great Northern for the Cascade tunnel are the first in this country to be equipped with a system whereby the motors are turned into generators while the trains are rushing down grade to generate additional electricity for the line.

TO TAX STOCKGAMBLING.

Representative Hepburn, of Iowa, who fathered the Railroad Rate law in 1906, does not claim too much for the bill he introduced on Monday to tax stock sales. If enacted and enforced it would nearly wipe out stock gambling as conducted in this country. A tax of 50 cents on every sale of a $100 share is not prohibitive of investment. It is the same as the State of New York now exacts from mortgagors in its recording tax. But upon a ten per cent margin purchase the tax is 5 per cent. Upon "wash sales," meant to establish fictitious values and deceive the public, and upon the "in and out" gambling of the room trader and the blackboard fiend, it is almost prohibitive. Under such a law stock-gambling could not escape from New York to Philadelphia or Boston. It would to some extent escape to London. The volume of transactions would be greatly lessened and a large revenue derived from them. If this were applied to the reduction of our present burdensome tariff tax the relief would be appreciated. If the extra money were spent upon huge navy programs or other extravagance we should not profit much by it.

These large elements of the American community believe that the exchanges depress prices during the harvest season and unduly raise prices during other months. Current prices records bear out their assertion. The price for a bale of cotton or a bushel of corn or wheat would naturally be at any given month the highest price plus storage charges and interest. On this basis the variation would be small instead of large, as the ticker records make it.

SCHOOL SANITATION.

The endeavor of the Board to supply one of its own members of the school board of health to give instruction on school sanitation or hygiene has been much better carried out during the year 1907 than during the year 1906, but is yet far from what is aimed at by the Board. In this work the Board has had the complete support and co-operation of the school superintendents, who have immediate charge of the work in each county, as well as of the teachers themselves. The condition of many of the schools throughout the State, especially in the country districts, is such that demands the severest criticism as to their general condition, their lighting, heating and ventilation, absence of sanitary cloak-rooms, etc. The floors are often thin and the basement open, so as to expose the children's feet, usually damp, to a continual stream of cold air. Storm doors seem to be unknown and it is either no air or an unhealthy draft. The general supply in many cases is from the most objectionable sources, either a shallow dug well, often near the closet, or from an adjoining spring, just as liable to contamination.

The Board would urge upon every city and town the necessity of frequent school inspections by competent physicians, who should also at regular intervals instruct the teachers themselves in such subjects as the detection of the various contagious diseases, skin diseases, dangers of mouth breathing, principles of school sanitation, hygiene, etc. The good effect of school inspections is not only in the frequent early detection of infectious diseases, but in an educational factor to both scholar and teacher of inestimable value, based as it is on practical instruction of cases in hand.

DIXON OPPOSES LAND TAX.

George W. Dixon, the Republican candidate for representative, has accepted an invitation from the Barlow Grange to deliver an address against the land tax theory, on Saturday evening, March 28. Mr. Dixon has been having a great battle with the single taxers through his newspaper, The Canby Tribune, and through the Portland papers. He is the leader of the opposition to this tax in Oregon, and has been requested to deliver various parts of the State to deliver speeches against it. The Oregonian says Dixon will kill the land tax measure if he continues his fight until the June election. Mr. Dixon says if he receives the nomination for representative at the primaries, April 17, he will devote his time until the June election speaking and writing against the land tax, as he will regard his nomination as an expression of approval for the work he is doing in this direction.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause is the diseased kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy, and both need the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root, pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

situation as a good many of the better informed Washington correspondents. He has charged the boat company with lobbying and corrupting members, and there is not much doubt that his charges are well founded. At the same time, proving them before the committee, is an entirely different matter. The committee has shown at the outset that it is distinctly hostile to Mr. Lilley and anything that he proves will be in spite of the official investigation rather than of because of it. Of course he may have facts in reserve that he has not yet disclosed, but the prospect is that the committee at best will return the verdict of "not proven" and Mr. Lilley, who has ambitions to be Governor of his State, will be eliminated from political life. Such an outcome may not do much toward clearing the moral atmosphere of the House, but it will at least make other members careful about having proof of corruption before they bring charges.

Mrs. E. D. Kelly.

With the ending of a life lived so well, a life that spread around it sunbeams of happiness and reflected all that is noble and kind and good, we almost unwillingly accept the unalterable decree that all that is of Earth is mortal. Mrs. E. D. Kelly was allowed the full allotted time and she improved every moment of it. This community shares the grief of those who were near and dear to the one who has left us. The wounds of those who are deepest and time alone can reconcile the grieving to the inevitable. One by one our honored pioneers are leaving the scene of their persevering toil and endeavor. We revere and cherish the memory of their simple, faithful lives and for years to come the mention of one of these names shall awake in the hearts of the beneficiaries of their toil, privation and hardship, feelings of grateful remembrance.

Mrs. Mary Meyer.

Mrs. Mary Meyer, Thomson Avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. I., N. Y., writes: "I have been annoyed with a cough for years. Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption. A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from my cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children. Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me. Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna: "Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption. I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna. After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength. I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy. Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decrease the expectoration, strengthen the patient, increase the appetite and in many cases procure sound, refreshing sleep."

Consumption Was Feared.

"I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from my cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children. Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me. Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna: "Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption. I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna. After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength. I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy. Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decrease the expectoration, strengthen the patient, increase the appetite and in many cases procure sound, refreshing sleep."

The quality of naval marksmanship at Santiago may have been pretty poor, measured by present standards, but it seems to have been good enough for the occasion, and we presume that should the occasion require even a little better work could be done, and it would probably be good enough to do the business.

Is the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs conducting an investigation of the Navy Department, or is it working up a trial of such naval officers that happen to hold opinions at variance with those in charge of the bureau, or one still higher—some one is antagonistic to the crown.

Now that he has entered upon the last year of his last term, how would it do for President Roosevelt to try the use of smokeless powder. There might be sharper detonations, but we would not have to breathe that which seems to stifle the senses.

It is reported that Attorney General Bonaparte has had to sell seven farms at a sacrifice owing to the shrinkage in values following the depression caused by the repeated attacks of the Department of Justice on big corporations.

An insurance journal declares that more people get hurt hanging pictures than in railroad collisions. And if the walls of a good many homes are any evidence, the victims do not get any more than is coming to them.

William Randolph Hearst is making a great secret of whom the Independence League prefers as the presidential nominee. Now of course some ignorant person in the back row is going to giggle.

An exchange asks "Can Taft be elected?" Better wait first and see if he can be nominated.

That premature report that the tobacco war in Kentucky had been settled was probably just an effort to knock securities of the Undertaker's Trust.

There is no truth in the report circulated that the President has writer's cramp from turning out special messages. He dictates them all to Loeb. Perhaps it is throat trouble.

The Sultan of Turkey probably is glad not only that he does not live next door to Japan, but that his navy is not capable of capturing anything.

Miss Cella Goldsmith will have her will have on exhibit the latest styles millinery display on Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28, where she is in hats and flowers. Among the new and attractive hats she will carry are the "Merry Widow" and the "Pasha of Persia." Miss Goldsmith extends a cordial invitation to the women of Oregon City to call and see her attractive millinery line.

A Pleasant Physic.

When you want a pleasant physic give Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets a trial. They are mild and gentle in their action and always produce a pleasant cathartic effect. Call at Huntley Bros., Oregon City and Mollala, for a free sample.

THE WHITE SCOURGE Neglected Colds MAY CAUSE Consumption

MRS. MARY MEYER, Thomson Avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. I., N. Y., writes: "I have been annoyed with a cough for years. Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption. A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from my cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children. Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me. Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna: "Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption. I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna. After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength. I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy. Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decrease the expectoration, strengthen the patient, increase the appetite and in many cases procure sound, refreshing sleep."

MISS BEULAH B. BROOME. Miss Beulah B. Broome, 409 12th St., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I have suffered from weak lungs and catarrh troubles for four years, brought on by many neglected colds, but on the recommendation of a friend I gave Peruna an honest trial and I am pleased to state that it restored me to perfect health. There is not the slightest trace of catarrh in my system and my lungs are perfectly sound. I unhesitatingly give this testimonial."

MISS JOSIE SCHAETZEL. Miss Josie Schmetzel, General Delvey, Appleton, Wisconsin, writes: "I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs in very short order, and it was not long until it developed into a serious case of catarrh. Every morning I would raise a lot of phlegm, which was very disagreeable. My digestion was poor and my lungs sore. After a few doses of Peruna I began to mend, and felt that if I kept on taking it it would not be long until I would be well. I was right; for in four weeks I was well again. I think Peruna is a grand medicine, and wish to add my testimony to the many others who have."

Weak Lungs For Years. "Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me. Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna: "Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption. I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna. After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength. I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy. Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decrease the expectoration, strengthen the patient, increase the appetite and in many cases procure sound, refreshing sleep."

Consumption Was Feared. "I began to take Peruna, and now I am perfectly free from my cough. I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally, when I do not feel well, and I also give it to my children. Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me. Mrs. Hettie Green, R. R. No. 6, Iuka, Ill., writes as follows of the efficacy of Peruna: "Last November I had catarrh and felt so miserable I thought that I would go into consumption. I tried so many doctors and medicines, but nothing did me any good, only Peruna. After I began the use of Peruna I began to improve in every way. My head did not hurt so much, my stomach is all right, my bowels are regular, my appetite good, my complexion clear, my eyes are bright and am gaining in flesh and strength. I think Peruna has no equal as a catarrh remedy. Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decrease the expectoration, strengthen the patient, increase the appetite and in many cases procure sound, refreshing sleep."

Consumption Prevented. "I unhesitatingly give this testimonial."

Mrs. William Hohmann, 509 N. Paulina St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I suffered with catarrh of the bronchial tubes and had a terrible cough ever since a child. After a while it got so bad I had to cough both winter and summer. Finally, I burst a blood vessel in my throat from the strain of coughing, next a blood vessel in my stomach, so I kept getting worse and doctoring, and even then could get no relief. I thought, and everybody else, that I had consumption. Reading the papers about Peruna I decided to try it, without the least bit of hope that it would do me any good. But after taking three bottles I noticed a change. My appetite got better, so I kept on, never got discouraged. Finally I seemed not to cough so much, and the pains in my chest got better. I am well now. I cannot tell you how grateful I am, and I cannot thank Peruna enough. It has cured where doctors have failed. People who think they have consumption better give it a trial."

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague. The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, is well-known. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as