Rev. D. P. Rich, of Boring, officiating. The ceremony at the grave was conducted under the auspices of Garfield grange, of which the deceased was an honored member.

Her maiden name was Hammer and many of the people of Cherryville, no doubt remember her by that name.

She was one of those sweet dispositioned, kindly, uncomplaining heroines which we now and then find in all communities, and never properly value till they are gone from us.

Her life among us was without spot or blemish, and her family and community must deeply feel the loss.

She was but little over 30 years of age, and the circumstances of her death very pathetic. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn her demise.

When the solar apex came in contact with a half dozen No. 8 tacks that some of the fifth grade boys had inadvertently left in the chair with the points up, and when he suddenly arose and challenged the entire fifth grade class to a discussion of the income tax question.

Clackamas. Saturday, April 4, was a red letter day for Grange No. 298.

The morning session was occupied with the regular order of business. Under the head of new business, Sister Traine presented a plan for the organization of an amateur dramatic club.

On motion, Worthy Master Jones appointed a committee to superintend and finance the project.

Brother Coe, of Warner Grange, and George Dixon, of Canby, were guests during the dinner hour.

The afternoon session was an open one and a good audience, for the season, gathered to enjoy the program.

The first number was a song by the grange choir. Little Margaret Robinson gave a very cute recitation in a pleasing manner.

A dialogue, "The Doctor," by Ralph and Clara Jones, was well appreciated. Miss Edna Armstrong then gave a talk on "Education." The speaker made two on that subject, it was thought wise to have the affirmative also presented. Consequently, Mr. Coulter, of Portland, led the discussion.

In a fluent, forceful talk he presented his argument, holding the close attention of the audience.

Mr. Dixon's presentation was a calm, clear statement of his views against the amendment.

Hon. C. H. Dye being then present, gave an earnest, eloquent statement of his present convictions in support of Mr. Dixon's position.

Upon retirement of visitors, grange closed in due form.

Republican Candidate for Representative

CHAMPION OF STATEMENT 1

(I take the pledge—No ifs nor ands)

Certain candidates who see defeat starting them in the face are trying to injure Mr. Dixon by unfair methods. There are two kinds of ambition: The ambition that prompts a man to elevate himself by tearing down another, and the ambition that prompts a man to elevate himself by elevating the common plane upon which he and his neighbor both live.

Whether the wind is north or south, the weather is generally cold and we have had a little snow.

Some grain is yet unown.

Frank Scott lost a fine cow a few days ago. He said he had plenty of feed, but no shelter. People are still feeding.

A party of five men came from the valley to run coyotes, but started none—but the rabbits in this country were wonderfully disturbed.

Henry Dougherty and Scott Carter have been losing goats, murdered by neighbor's bad dogs. There should be a bounty on dog scalps as well as for coyotes.

Mr. Cackerson, of Needy, is visiting in Russellville these days.

Our school is progressing nicely under the supervision of Miss Crisswell, of Needy. We are in hopes it will continue good to its close.

Scott Carter and Cash Austen are sowing 40 acres of oats on E. P. Carter's place.

O. S. Boyles expects to go out on the timber business in a few days.

Frank Scott is shearing sheep and goats with a machine. All works well.

Mr. Lewis Dougherty gives a party soon.
