BROWNELL ON STATEMENT NO. 1.
The following is worthy of careful perusal by those who are advocating a return to the old method of electing Senators. If Mr. Fulton is as much in the dark as he appears to be, it might do him some good. Following is the report of the Shubel against Statement No. 1. Do we want to go back to the old method of electing Senators? The answer is given in the States of the United States, and which have brought lasting disgrace and dishonor upon men, otherwise standing high in their different states and communities. It is conceded that the Congress of the United States and the States will reflect great credit upon it and upon the people of the State of Oregon.

On the other hand, under the old machine system, look back to the contest of 1895, a contest which continued 40 days and 40 nights. Money was used, many intoxicated and drunk around the capital and hotels, patronage traded off, votes bought and sold, standing high in the state resorted to all kinds of corruption and immoral activity to bring success to a particular individual, who they channeled. This in a capital of a great state that not make any change in the constitution of the United States relative to the method of electing U. S. Senators, the only way that change can be brought about is under some system as now exists in the State of Oregon. Senator Bourne was elected U. S. Senator in a quiet, peaceable and moral way, reflecting no discredit upon any member of the legislature, but in fact kind of a lesson are such methods and examples, to the hundreds of men who frequent the legislative halls during the session of legislature, say nothing of the demoralizing influence upon and over the individuals who are direct participants in such methods and proceedings. Look back to the hold-up session of 1897. Recall the strife, the corruption, the broken promises, the bribery, practiced on both sides. Legislation absolutely retarded for 40 days; one branch of the legislature failing to organize and appropriations for the support of state institutions was held up, practically chaos and revolution; with the Eldridge block with its women and wine and touch of high life thrown in the middle. What are the minds of men of Oregon, who has any regard for the good name of this state and its civic virtue, would care to go back to these scenes and to this system. There being no election in 1897, the Governor of the State appointed the late Hon. Henry W. Corbet as U. S. Senator. This gentleman, a man who had made a great success in commercial life and in many other fields, accepted the appointment and went to Washington with credentials from the Governor of this State, and was undoubtedly humiliated to say nothing about the tremendous strain upon this old man, by being refused his seat by the U. S. Senate.

At the extra session of the Legislature of 1898, Mr. Corbet was again a candidate, when another bitter contest ensued which resulted in much ill feeling and bitterness throughout the State of Oregon, which finally ended in Mr. Corbet withdrawing and the election of Hon. Joseph Simon, who however made an excellent, honorable and creditable Senator. In 1901 the old machine methods were revived again in the State of Oregon. Mr. Corbet being a candidate and Senator McBride being a candidate for re-election. This contest continued for 40 days, resulting in the greatest corruption and demoralization, and ended in the election of Senator Mitchell at 12 o'clock on the last evening of the last day of the session. It is a matter of common knowledge that some men could have received as high as $10,000 to $15,000 apiece for their votes during this contest, say nothing about the trades and corruption in the distribution of the Federal offices and patronage. I personally know of one man on the last evening of the session who was paid $100 for each vote that he cast and kept under the influence of liquor to demoralize his mind and to destroy his conscience. This man was a representative of the people of this state and took an oath to support the constitution and the laws of the State of Oregon, and yet, under the corrupting influence of this old rotten machine system and method of electing U. S. Senators, this man lost self respect and all regard for his duty and as soon as the roll would be called and he would leave his seat, walk into the cloak room and get his $100 in paper money, and an extra drink of whisky and return to continue serving the people of a great state in this manner and way. This is only one instance. There is another instance of where a man's vote on that night, was changed from one candidate to another by a prominent federal office holder stepping up to him on the floor of the House and guaranteeing him $3500, in cash, and thus got his vote for the other candidate. A common thing to do and which was done at every session was the voting away of the tax payers' money in people's money in establishing new judicial districts, new normal schools and any other new or old thing, that would swell up the Senator or Representative from that particular district, so that his vote could be obtained and he could go back to his constituents, and sell his vote with pride and demand a re-election because he had got $3500 for a normal school in his town. These are only a few instances amongst a great many that could be recalled if necessary to do so. Under the system of electing U. S. Senators by and through Statement No. 1, this is all objected. These temptations to commit a great crime against civil government and civic virtue cannot possibly take place. Is not this alone, a sufficient argument to convince any man who is not influenced by greed and selfishness that it is his duty to himself and to the State to uphold the system which Statement No. 1 stands for and to strike down the old system by letting the people elect the U. S. Senator by and through Statement No. 1.

Who are the real men behind this movement? Are they not as a rule men who have, directly or indirectly, profited by the old machine system and who have made this State on the subject and line of electing U. S. Senators a state an empty shell, as Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Delaware. Look down along the line of names who are active against Statement No. 1, and see if you do not notice that nearly every one of them is what is commonly known and called a machine politician. Take the gang at Portland who stand to destroy Statement No. 1, and see if they are not all members of the old machine who have got together for no higher purpose than to destroy this remedy of a pure and clean election of U. S. Senators. Go into the County seat of every county of this State, and who are the men who are fighting Statement No. 1? Good men and excellent, but they are fellows who do not know what popular government means and who have no sympathy with the idea of the common people being sovereign or being capable of electing U. S. Senators. It is observed that nearly every individual who profits by machine politics and who has profited by them in the past are strongly opposed to Statement No. 1. There is not a corporation in the State of Oregon nor a franchise holder, nor any of the special privilege class, but what are opposed to the Statement No. 1, and want to go back to the good old days of 1895, the hold-up time of 1897 and the election of the politician. It seems that his opportunity to gratify greed and selfishness is out of his reach when the election of the U. S. Senator is left to the public. It destroys the opportunity which comes from the corruption of the 90 members of the legislature, with their chances for political trades, patronage and appropriation to be made in the 100,000 votes in the State of Oregon.

Why is it, I inquire, that the Standard Oil Company, the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company and these other great lines of transportation, that reach through the different states, all ways line up directly against the Primary Law and popular election by the people of the U. S. Senators? If Statement No. 1 and its methods and system and purposes are all wrong, why is it that such Senators as Chauncey M. Depew, Bailey of Texas, Aldridge who represents the special interests on the floor of the U. S. Senate, and Steve Elkins who represents the Morgan and coal baron syndicate in the Senate of the United States, are always opposed to the popular election by the individual voters of the United States? This of itself conclusively shows that the special, moneyed and aristocratic class interests of the United States, including the corporations in Portland, Oregon, and elsewhere in this State, are lined up to a man against the popular election of U. S. Senators. Such being the case, is it not wise for the common people of the State and the thinking people of the State to conclude from this, that it is their duty to take the opposite course, and support what is their power, such as represented by Statement No. 1? It is claimed that this destroys party organization and that a Democrat might be elected to the United States Senate from Oregon. This is not any answer nor argument against Statement No. 1. The theory of our government is that the people shall rule and are masters and have sovereign power. If in a State like Oregon, that has safely from twenty-five to thirty-five thousand majority Republican, the Republicans go to the ballot box and vote for a Democrat, he ought to be elected and ought to be given the office on the principle that the majority should rule. Is it not a fact that all the corruption by legislatures in the way of special privileges, has taken place under the old system? If such is a fact, then why not strike a blow at the old system by letting the people elect their own Senator to the United States Senate, and make him directly responsible to the people instead of to two or three banks, fish cannery men, railroads and the Standard Oil Company, who as a whole, directly or indirectly, always have and always will under the old system control a majority of the legislature. Is it not a fact that the granting of special privileges, high tariff, and franchises for the benefit of the few, that has been causing so much agitation and discussion throughout the United States, are largely the result of the old system of government in existence in the different States of the Union? Is it not a fact and is it not human nature, for a man, no matter how honest he wishes to be, who wants to go to the Senate of the United States, and who has some special privilege, to more or less prostitute and subservise the large corporations and the machine in order to achieve his ambitions. The reason why he has to do this simply because in every state of the Union these large corporations control, either directly or
