FIRST MONTHLY MARKET DAY.
 "What is Market Day?" is the question one may hear on every hand at the present time and we might say it is just this: Max Zimmerman, the great Market Day promoter and horse auctioneer is in town and has arranged with the merchants to hold a Market Day. Zimmerman is the originator of the Market day celebrations and by the manner he goes about the getting up one may conclude that it will surely be a howling success. There is nothing under the sun when it comes to Market day, there is not a child in all Europe who does not know what "Mark Tag" is, and the child looks forward to the regular monthly Market Day, as any American child does the first circus of the season. No one stays at home, grandfathers, grandmothers, aunts, cousins, sweethearts, and all kids go to town. It's a grand gathering—a meeting place for miles around and everybody gets busy when in town, as all the merchants invariably have big bargains to offer in that day. The men buy, sell and trade, while the women do the shopping. It gives the farmer a chance to dispose of whatever he may have to sell as there are purchasers in town from far and near.
 The farmer soon becomes as busy as the busiest merchant, and it insures great bargains for the shoppers from city and country.
 From reports from various cities where Mr. Zimmerman has been we find that Market Day had circus day skinned forty ways as to the number of people attracted.
 Market Day is certainly a booster for the town, the merchants and the farmer as well, and the idea to hold one each month should be followed out closely. Let no one stay at home—help boost the first one.

GOOD GROCERIES

A WHOLESOME SUBJECT

For discussion at this time, as the Strawberry season is now opening up and the toothsome Shortcake must have our attention. But, what flour shall we use in the mixture. To have good Shortcakes one must use the best flour. There are some fair brands and there are better ones; such as Dement's Best, Snow Drift, Century, Etc. The housewife who has tried a flour and finds it satisfactory lets well enough alone.

Folger's, Shilling's and other good brands

WILLIE SAYS:

"It just keeps me sweeping all the time. With all the goods that are coming in and going out it's a wonder the floor lasts very long; the boss will certainly have to put down a new one soon. But he don't seem to care, for he's so busy from morning till night—and then some—and then he laughs at me and it makes me laugh every time I think of any man taking life too seriously when he can get as good things to eat right here in our store as are produced these days. Come in and have a talk with me or the boss."
