will offer effectual protection to domestic interests.

The Republican party is committed to the development of such permanent system responding to our greater needs and in line in all respects with the most progressive nations of the world and the appointment of a monetary commission by the 60th Congress which will impartially investigate all proposed methods, insuring the early realization of this purpose.

The present currency laws have fully justified their adoption by an expanding commerce, a marvelous growth in wealth and population, multiplying the means of distribution, increasing the demand for the movement of crops in the West and South and entailing periodic changes in monetary conditions, disclose the need of a more elastic currency and adaptable system. Such a system must meet the requirements of agriculturists, manufacturers, merchants and business men generally, automatic in operation, minimizing the fluctuations in interest rates, and above all it must be in harmony with the Republican doctrine which insists that every dollar shall be based upon, redeemable in and as good as gold.

We favor the establishment of a postal savings bank system for the convenience of the people and the encouragement of thrift.

We approve the enactment of the railroad rate law, and the enforcement by the present administration of the statutes against rebates and discrimination as the result of which the advantages formerly possessed by the large shippers over the small shippers have substantially disappeared. In this connection, we commend the appropriation of $350,000 by the present Congress in order to enable the Interstate Commerce Commission thoroughly to investigate and to give publicity to the accounts of interstate railroads. We believe, however, that the Interstate Commerce law should be further amended so as to give railroads their right to make and publish traffic agreements subject to the approval of the commission, but maintaining always the principle of competition between naturally competing lines and avoiding the common control of such lines by any means whatsoever. We favor such National legislation and supervision as will prevent the future over-issue of stocks and bonds by interstate carriers.

The enactment in constitutional form by the present session of Congress of the employers' liability law; the passage and enforcement of the safety appliance statutes, as well as the additional protection secured for engineers and firemen; the reduction in the hours of laborers, trainmen and railway telegraphers; the successful exercise of the powers of mediation and arbitration between interstate railroads and their employes and the law making a beginning in the policy of compensation for injured employes of the Government are among the most commendable accomplishments of the present administration.

The Republican party recognizes the special needs of wageworkers generally, for their well being means the well being for all. But more important than all other considerations is that of good citizenship, and we especially stand for the needs of the American, whatever his occupation, in his capacity as a self-respecting citizen.

The Republican party will uphold at all times the authority and integrity of the courts, state and Federal, and will ever favor the power of the courts to enforce their process and to protect life, liberty and property shall be preserved inviolate. We believe, however, that the rules of procedure in the Federal courts with respect to the issuance of the writ of injunction should be more accurately defined by statute, and that no injunction or temporary restraining order should be issued without notice, except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing thereafter should be granted.

Among those whose welfare is as vital to the welfare of the whole country as that of the wage-earner is the American farmer. The Republican party during the last 13 years has accomplished extraordinary work in bringing the resources of the National Government to the aid of the farmer, not only in advancing agriculture itself, but in increasing the conveniences of rural life.

Free rural mail delivery was established over earnest Democratic opposition; it now reaches millions of our citizens and we favor its extension until every farm community is able to receive the full benefits of the postal service. We recognize the social and economical advantages of good country roads, maintained more and more largely at public expense, less and less at the expense of the abutting owners.

We endorse the movement inaugurated by the President for the cooperative conservation of the natural resources of the country. We approve all measures to prevent waste of timber, and commend the work now going on for the reclamation of arid lands, and we re-affirm the Republican policy of free distribution of the available area of the public domain to the landless settler. No obligation of the future is more insistent and none will result in greater blessings to posterity. In line with this splendid undertaking is the further duty, equally imperative, to enter upon a systematic improvement upon a large and comprehensive plan, just to all portions of the country, of the water ways, harbors and great lakes, whose natural adaptability to the increasing traffic of the land is one of the greatest gifts of a benign Providence.

We commend the increase in the widows' pensions made by the last Congress, and declare for a liberal administration of all pension laws, to the end that the people's gratitude may grow deeper as the memories of heroic sacrifices grow more sacred with the progressing years.

In the interest of the great mineral industries of our country we earnestly favor the establishment of a Bureau of Mines and Mining.

We favor the immediate admission of the Territories of New Mexico and Arizona as separate states in the Union.

No Need of Suffering from Rheumatism

It is a mistake to allow rheumatism to become chronic, as the pain can always be relieved, and in most cases a cure effected by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep and rest possible. Even in cases of long standing this liniment should be used on account of the relief which it affords. 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Huntley Bros., Oregon City and Molalla.

CROSSED PLAINS IN FORTY-EIGHT

J. A. Cox, Pioneer and Indian Fighter Passes Away at Canby.

J. A. Cox, the pioneer and Indian fighter, died at Canby Tuesday morning at the age of eighty-five years. He crossed the plains in '48, prospecting for several years in California and Idaho and came to Oregon in '57, settling at Bute Creek. He was married shortly after this to Mary Hall at Woodburn, moving to Canby in 1883. There survives him a widow and ten children, David, Samuel E., Bessie, Lucy, Al. C., Ralph, Chester, Victor and Dewey. Funeral was held from the residence Thursday, interment being made at Woodburn cemetery.

To the Public.

The following letter to the Courier from Miss Ida May Garmire offers a few words to the public in the way of introduction, in connection with the painting by Miss Garmire in the Courier window, which will take place, beginning Monday, July 6th and will be the more understood when our artist's beautiful and inspected her art display in the Courier window.

Editor Courier: In my art work in connection with the Courier I wish to say to the public.

From a child, pictures and the love of the beautiful thrilled me, and I longed to transcribe on canvas what I beheld in nature. I took up the brush and became delighted with form, color and perspective; but to labor alone is to labor in vain. "Nobody knows me," and hence I have had but a limited demand for my handiwork. One firm in Seattle sold over 100 paintings, ranging from 24x36 inches to 30x60 inches, which have gone to many places in the United States and England, being bought by tourists. The governor of the state of Washington purchased a picture—a copy from an historical battle scene. Friends and acquaintances have kept me partially busy painting pictures from their own selections and in painting their portraits.

All this might please the less ambitious who follow this line of business, but I want work more plentifully until my hand, my eye and my mental faculties become more skilled. My youth will yet permit me to compass my ambitious covet. This is my reason for appearing before you. I trust you will all look upon the modest work of my hands and remember me kindly in all your thoughts. MISS IDA MAY GARMIRE.

Clark's Royal Stock Company.

At Shively's Opera House, Friday evening, June 26, in a four-act comedy drama, entitled "A Loyal Friend," one of Charles Townsend's best plays. A Loyal Friend is a comedy drama combining all the elements of successful dramatic construction. There is lofty sentiment and villainy of the deepest dye; dilemmas that thrill and climaxes that stir the blood. Mr. Clark introduces a host of clever specialties between acts.

After the programme a social time was had and ice cream and strawberries served.

A. ROBERTSON SAYS!

He is GIVING AWAY a $50 STEEL RANGE with a can of BLANCHE BAKING POWDER.

Sensational Offer

ISN'T IT? But it's what we are doing. Sale starts today. Read full particulars and call at the store and see the Range for yourself. "Blanche Baking Powder" is not a Prize baking powder by any means. It is a well-known brand throughout the east, but in order to introduce it on this coast the manufacturers go to the largest retailer in every large town and make them this liberal offer to give a $50 steel range with every case of Baking Powder. When it is well introduced they will sell through the wholesale grocer only and cut out the premium. With every 50c can of "Blanche" you get a chance on the steel range. Call and see the Range today.—It's a beauty.

OUTFITTING THE CREWS

Tents Going up at Scotts Mills for Railroad Workers.

ELECTRIC LINE ASSURED.

Grade Will Be Well Under Way This Year Connecting Oregon City and Southern Clackamas

Prospects for a railroad from Oregon City into Southern Clackamas are growing bright. Tents are now being pitched at Scotts Mills and next week surveyors will commence to locate the permanent route of the long-expected railway. The line will traverse the same territory as was contemplated by the original Oregon City company. Farmers along the route insist that a railroad is never a certainty until it is built. The vigorous action of the new promoters is reassuring, however, and it seems evident that Mr. Swift will, according to his promise, have a grade well under way this year. County Judge Dimick is slated over the prospect. He was largely instrumental in promoting the original project, but willingly made way for the man who convinced him that he would very soon have cars running into Oregon City from Southern Clackamas.

Mr. Swift's road will probably head off the projected branch of the Portland-Salem line that was expected to reach Scotts Mills by way of Woodburn. A number of inland places will now become railroad towns. The new line will add thousands to Clackamas county's population and will increase land values throughout the section traversed fifty to one hundred per cent.

The OREGON GIRL

MISS IDA MAY GARMIRE, the most remarkable and only lady rapid artist on the Coast, and the second in the United States, will paint beautiful oil pictures in the front window of the Courier office, in the Weinhard building, corner Main and Eighth Streets, opposite Court House. We are astonished at the life likeness of her paintings. No description can adequately convey to your imagination what has been accomplished by this lady. "Where rolls the Oregon," The mighty mountain peaks of Hood, Rainier and Adams; the pictures of wood and lake; clouds and birds, with nature's reflection from the bosom of the still waters of the deep and the foaming breakers of the Pacific as they dash against the rocks, will astonish, and please, and fascinate, and delight all who will take the time to stop in front of the Courier window.

We look forward with pleasure to this new sensation--this fresh movement--this advantage excelling all other advantages in premiums. Not a man, woman, or child within the reading circle of the Courier should fail to see her at work in the front window of the Courier office from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. beginning Monday, July 6. Miss Garmire, the girl artist, is a wonder, with brush and no mistake—it is nature's gift.

The Courier's Great Gift to Secure Subscribers

We will give a $5.00 painting of mountain dale and glen; of lake, wood and forest; of home field and path in the woods, and beside the still waters of the lake, reflecting mountain forest and cloud; the rippling stream; the majesty of nature; a memory of golden opportunities of the past. For $2.00 we now offer a year's subscription to the Courier and one of these beautiful oil paintings as a premium. Make this your business week in the city. Ask your neighbor, "Do you take the Courier?" Tell them of this opportunity over the telephone. Come and see more than we can possibly tell you.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Well-Known Young People Are Married on Wednesday Evening.

A picturesque wedding was that of Miss Wilda Harris, only daughter of Mrs. S. M. Harris, of this city, and Mr. Eliza Van Wey, which took place on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother on Twelfth and Main street, Rev. S. C. Lapham, of the Second Baptist church of Portland, officiating. The bride, on the arm of the groom, preceded by the minister, and followed by the maid of honor, Miss Maud Henley, of Woodburn, and the best man, Clyde Baker, entered the parlors to the wedding march played by Miss Alice Gostling, and took their place beneath a beautiful floral arch made of cedar, roses and ferns. From the arch was suspended a wedding bell of white roses and maiden hair ferns, under which the bride and groom stood. The ceremony was very impressive, and was followed by an elaborate supper. About 20 guests were present, only relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties being present.

The bride was handsomely attired in a Copenhagen blue suit with lace trimmings, and carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses, while the maid of honor, Miss Henley, was becomingly attired in white organdie and carried Caroline Testout roses. The presents to the young couple were many and beautiful. Among them was a case of silverware of beautiful design from the young men of the paper mill, where the groom holds a position, and who also presented Mr. and Mrs. Van Wey with 24 pieces of granite ware. The Harris home was literally a tower of roses and ferns. The parobers were in white and green, and the dining room was in pink carnation and sweet peas. The reception hall was also in white roses.

Amid a shower of rice and old shoes Mr. and Mrs. Van Wey left for a wedding trip, and on their return will make their home in this city on Twelfth and Main street.

The bride has made her home in Oregon City most of her life, and is well known here, while the groom has only been a resident here for the past two years, but has made a host of friends in this time, who wish him and his bride much happiness.

Amusements.

The question of amusements is a very important subject with very many people. Rev. J. R. Landsborough will discuss this subject next Sabbath evening at the First Presbyterian church. The subject will be approached from different sides with the view of presenting the matter under its varied aspects. The pastor has been frequently asked for his opinion regarding different amusements and takes this opportunity to express his views on the subject.

Former Oregon City Man Marries Portland Girl

The marriage of Miss Cora Marx, of Portland, and Mr. Solomon Gardo, formerly of this city, took place at the Hotel Portland, Portland, last week. The wedding was quite a brilliant affair, when about 100 guests were present to witness the ceremony performed by Dr. Jonas Wiss. Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Gardo, after a honeymoon trip to New York, will return to Portland, where they will make their home.
