Dennis Davis Shingle & Lumber Co., a corporation, Plaintiff, vs.
Henrietta Pratt, Defendant.

To Henrietta Pratt, the above named defendant:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled court and cause on or before the 19th day of October, 1908, the same being more than six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, as per order of court, and if you fail so to appear and answer, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in its complaint, towit:

For a decree adjudging and decreeing that a deed in due form was duly made and executed by Catherine J. Miller to her husband, Jacob P. Miller, on or about the —— day of September, 1882, conveying to said Jacob P. Miller the premises described in the complaint, being about 2.4 acres of land situated in Section Thirty-five (35), Township One (1) South of Range One (1) East of the Willamette Meridian in Clackamas County, Oregon, and commonly known as the Ryan Tract, which deed was never recorded, and forever quieting the title in the present owners of all said tract of land and forever enjoining and retstraining the defendant and all persons claiming by, through, or under her from asserting any claim to said premises, or any part thereof, and for such other and further relief as to the court may seem meet and equitable.

This summons is published in the Oregon City Courier by order of Hon. Grant B. Dimick, County Judge of Clackamas County, Oregon, duly made and entered during the absence from said county of Hon. T. A. McBride Circuit Judge for the above entitled court, on the 31st day of August, 1908.

MEXICO'S SIGN LANGUAGE.

Gestures With a Meaning Understood by Every Tribe.

Mexico is a land of many tongues, but above the Indian dialects and Spanish there is one universal language, the language of signs. It is the most expressive of all. The Mexican eye and hand are eloquent members. It is capable of infinite variation. Its shadings and suggestions are beyond all translation. But there are certain gestures that have a fixed meaning, a signification well understood by every nation and every tribe from Guatemala to Texas.

A general upward movement of the body, shoulders shrugged, eyebrows raised, lips pouted and palms outspread varies in meaning from "I don't know and I don't care" to a most respectful "Really, sir, I do not understand you."

The index finger moved rapidly from right to left generally before the face means "No more" or simply "No." To move the right hand palm outward from the body toward another person means "Just wait; I'll be even with you yet."

The index finger on the temple moved with a boring twist means "He's drunk."

The right hand held to the lips, three fingers doubled, thumb and little finger erect, varies from "He drinks" to "Have one with me."

To move the open hand over the cheek in imitation of a razor has reference to the idiom "playing the barber" and means "to flatter."

All four fingers and the thumb held points together and moved toward the mouth means "to eat."

The right hand held before the face, the two middle fingers moving rapidly, is a familiar salutation.—"Modern Mexico."

The Helpmate.

The author's young wife burst in on him joyously.

"Oh, Milt," she cried, "I know now why the magazine has returned all your stories."

Milton Wiskar seemed to see light.

"Why is it?" he demanded, with hopeful eagerness.

"It is because you have always inclosed stamps," said the young woman. "Haven't you ever read the notice on the editorial page which says that no MSS. are returned unless stamps are inclosed.—New York Press.

Idyllic Situation.

"They are such ideal chums seemingly."

"Yes, and thereby hangs a tale, a romance in real life. They fell in love at first sight and were married right away, and for awhile it looked as if there would be no more to the story. But in time their love ripened into friendship—think of it!—and now they are what you see."—Puck.

In Venice.

"Yes," remarked Mrs. Malaprop-Partington, "we had a lovely time in Venice. There are no cabs there, you know, because the streets are all full of water. One hires a chandelier and he rows you about in a dongola."

PHARAOH THE OPPRESSOR.

This Is the Rameses Who Looms Over the Egypt of Today.

Like a cloud, a great golden cloud, a glory impending that will not, cannot, be dissolved into the ether, he (Rameses) loomed over the Egypt that is dead; he looms over the Egypt of today. Everywhere you meet his traces; everywhere you hear his name. You say to a tall young Egyptian, "How big you are growing, Hassan!"

He answers, "Come back next year, my gentleman, and I shall be like Rameses the Great."

Or you ask of the boatman who rows you, "How can you pull all day against the current of the Nile?" And he smiles, and, lifting his brown arm, he says to you, "Look; I am as strong as Rameses the Great."

This familiar fame comes down through some 3,220 years. Carved upon limestone and granite, now it seems engraven also on every Egyptian heart that beats not only with the movement of shadoof or is not buried in the black soil fertilized by Hapi. Thus can inordinate vanity prolong the true triumph of genius and impress its own view of itself upon the minds of millions. This Rameses is believed to be the pharaoh who oppressed the children of Israel.—Robert Hichens in Century.

THE LANGUAGE PUZZLE.

China's Forty Thousand Signs and Symbols to Perplex the Linguist.

The language known as Wen-li is the medium by which the classical books of China have been handed down. It is par excellence the written language of China, but it is not generally understood by the great mass of the people. The spoken language—namely, Mandarin—may also be written, and there is a good deal of colloquial literature in Mandarin. Versions of the Bible in the local patois have also been produced in several districts of the southwest, where the dialects are very numerous and diverse.

In the Chinese written language there are over 40,000 distinct characters or symbols, and this vast number is being constantly increased by the addition of new characters to represent new scientific words and modern ideas.

Although the Chinese are considered a literary people and have naturally a desire for education, yet owing to the extreme difficulty of mastering the Chinese characters it is estimated that only one in ten of the population can read or write.—Contemporary Review.

Storm Talk.

"Shipwreck affects people in odd ways," said the captain, beaming brightly on the two rows of ladies at his table in the saloon.

The wind roared, a great wave shook the boat, and a matron, with a low cry, received a plate of hot soup in her lap.

"An Indian colonel," the captain resumed, "rushed to the bathroom when his boat sprung aleak and drowned himself in the tub out of sheer terror.

"There was an Anglo-Indian actor who broke a pretty girl's leg by hurling his heavy cabin trunk down into the lifeboat on her. Of course we slung the trunk overboard at once, but there was the broken leg, not so easy to get rid of.

"Some men in a wreck proceed to get drunk. They think if they secretly drink a lot they'll appear very game. The result is that when the rescuing party arrives these men are lying paralyzed about the deck."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Still Susceptible.

He was a nervous, fidgety young man, and he looked with considerable apprehension at the woman next him, who held a baby, its face covered with a thick veil. The baby gave now and then a sharp cry, which the woman evidently tried to suppress.

At last, after many anxious glances, the young man spoke.

"Has—has that baby any—anything contagious?" he asked.

The woman looked at him with a mixture of scorn and pity.

"'Twouldn't be for most folks," she said in a clear, carrying tone, "but maybe 'twould for you. He's teething."

The Adventurous Feline.

"Hello! Is this the electric company? Do you take cats down? Yes, cats! One is on a pole and crying just terribly. She must have been up there a week, for she's just as thin— What? Oh, this is Fifty-ninth avenue! A big dog is barking at her, too, and she— What street? Why, I don't know. I don't live on this street, do I? Oh, yes, of course! Bristol street, the druggist says. Oh, will you? You are so good! And a man just said she is playing with the transformer and might short circuit herself or something. Well, thank you very much. I am so glad! Goodby!"—Success Magazine.

The Considerate Wife.

"Mrs. Rogers is a perfect slave to her husband."

"What does she do?"

"Would you believe it? Every year on his birthday she gets up in time to eat breakfast with him."—Judge's Library.

Short Memory.

"My wife," growled Hadley, "is the most forgetful woman."

"Indeed!" queried his friend politely.

"Yes. She can never remember in the morning where I left my pipe the night before."—Philadelphia Press.

Make yourself a sheep and the wolves will eat you.—Italian Proverb.

Thought He Was Sullivan

Considerable disturbance was caused last Friday afternoon by Hans Martinson, who was intoxicated, and who attempted to clear the Oregon City House of its inmates. He was taken into custody by Chief Burns and Constable Miles, showing a disposition to resist arrest, but was quickly shown his position and landed in the proper place. He deposited bail for his appearance in the police court.

Mr. John Erickson, of New Era, was in the city Saturday transacting business and was a pleasant caller at the Courier office.
