"THE SCHOOL OF QUALITY"

Tenth and Morrison, Portland, Oregon A. P. Armstrong, L.L.B., Principal

«We occupy two floors 65 by 100 feet, have a $20,000 equipment, employ a large faculty, give individual instruction, receive more calls for office help than we can meet. Our school admittedly leads all others in quality of instruction. It pays to attend such an institution.

«Said a Business Man: "Keep hammering away everlastingly on thorough work. It will win out in the end." Said an Educator: "The quality of instruction given in your school makes it the standard of its kind in the Northwest."

«Open all the year. Students admitted at any time. Catalogue free. References: Any bank, any newspaper, any business man in Portland.

County Judge Grant B. Dimick, has purchased a fine, registered Cotswold buck, exhibited at the State Fair. Although only one year old, the animal tips the beam at 290 pounds. The judge intends to send his new acquisition to the Dimick farm near Hubbard, where a herd of registered sheep is not the least interesting feature.

Mrs. G. W. Grace and daughter Miss Ellen Grace, and Miss Mary A. Scott, all of this city, returned Saturday with T. B. Fairclough from a three weeks' visit at the Ogie Mountain Mines. They report a fine time. Of great interest is the story related by them of climbing a divide, from the summit of which they witnessed an electrical storm in the clouds below them.

Mr. P. F. Fletcher, of Portland, was in Oregon City Tuesday, returning by the O. W. P. late the same afternoon. He was much taken up with the general appearance of the Falls City and expressed his desire to some time make this his home. Mr. Fletcher has recently moved with his family from Boston, Mass., to Portland, where his son is employed in the O. R. & N. offices and who preceded the other members of the family west by some months. Mr. Fletcher expressed himself as well satisfied that the west held far better chances for the young man than the east, and was more than pleased that his son had taken the initiative, and further stated that it was through communications from the Portland Commercial Club that the family came west.

How to Get Strong.

J. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong: He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it's my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at Jones Drug Co.'s drug store. 50c.

Attend Sixtieth Anniversary.

Chief of Police and Mrs. Chas. E. Burns, Chas. E. Burns, Jr., and family, all of this city, spent the former evening at the home of the chief's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Burns, in Portland. The occasion was the sixtieth anniversary of the marriage of the latter couple. The two were united in Quincy, Ill., September 21, 1848, and four years later, they arrived in Oregon City, after a perilous trip across the plains. In 1850, Mr. Burns was elected sheriff of this county, and he served in this capacity for eight years. He also held the position of Deputy United States Marshal for a period of five years. In 1885, Mr. and Mrs. Burns moved to Portland, where the former received the appointment of United States Mail agent on the boats, and later the railroad running between Portland and Astoria. He held this position till three years ago. Although eighty-six winters have passed since the birth of Mr. Burns, and the light of day, the couple are more hale and hearty than many people twenty years their junior. Both Mr. and Mrs. Burns have a host of friends in this city, who join The Courier in hoping the happy couple will celebrate their diamond wedding.

Mrs. Sophia Charman, the mother of Mrs. John H. Walker, and Mrs. J. P. Lovitt, was surprised Thursday afternoon at the home of the former daughter, while at a dinner in honor of her anniversary of coming to this state 55 years ago. Expecting to see only the members of the Walker family, Mrs. Charman was taken completely by surprise to find a number of her old time friends and neighbors assembled. A delicious luncheon was served, after which each guest was obliged to tell a pioneer story. All of these were received with the greatest of interest. Mrs. Daniel O'Neill, who came to this state in 1843, was awarded the first prize. The house was beautifully decorated in lavender sweet peas. The present company, Mrs. Dan O'Neill, Mrs. H. C. Stevens, Mrs. Mary LaForest, Mrs. Sophia Charman, Mrs. Fannie L. Cochran, Mrs. James Chase, Mrs. Arthur Warner, Mrs. Mary M. Charman, Mrs. Mary McCarver, Mrs. Elizabeth Puchs, Miss M. L. Holmes, Mrs. J. P. Lovitt, Mrs. Ernest P. Ramo, Mrs. Louise Walker and Miss Marie Walker.

Miss Marian Lewthwaite and Miss Alice Stone entertained the members of the Friday Night Whist Club and other guests at the Lewthwaite home in West Oregon City Thursday night. The first prizes were won by Dr. A. Beattie and Mrs. Linn E. Jones, and the consolation prizes were awarded to Miss Laura Pope and J. W. Moffatt. Refreshments were served.

Paroled on Promise to do Better.

Theodore Rambo, who resides at Wichita, a station on the Estacada branch of the O. W. P. railroad, was arrested by Constable Miles, and brought before County Judge Dimick Monday morning on a charge of neglecting his family. Rambo, it seems, is an habitual drunkard, and allows his children to grow up in idleness, not even sending them to school. He fails to provide ample means for their support, and the home is reeking in filth. Judge Dimick sternly reprimanded Rambo for his actions, and sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail. The culprit begged hard to escape the punishment, and promised faithfully to reform, so the judge relented, and paroled him on condition that he would cease to indulge in the flowing bowl, would provide for his family and send his children to school. If he failed to do so, he would clean his house and premises to a presentable condition. He will be required to put in an appearance at his home at least once a day. Every week a juvenile officer will make inquiries of the neighbors as to his conduct and call on the home, and at the least infraction of his promise, he will be made to serve his sentence on the rock pile.

Ladies, Attention!

Mrs. A. W. Walker, of Portland, announced to the ladies of Oregon City that on Thursday of each week she will do skin and scalp work, shampooing and manicuring, at 714 Water street. Phone 2902.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an east-bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to LaGrande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well-known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with several other traveling men when one of them went out to the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with camp colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I never travel without it, ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water in it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect, and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into LaGrande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train got into LaGrande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." For sale by Huntley Bros., Oregon City and Molalla.

Waiting for His Time.

George Wallace, who was arrested last Thursday on charge of stealing a watch, was brought before Justice Samson Friday, and entered a plea of guilty, Saturday afternoon. The justice bound him over to the Circuit Court, and fixed his bail at $250. As he has not paid this amount he is residing in the county bastille. The theft for which Wallace was arrested occurred several weeks ago at the residence of Charles Wolf at Milwaukie. Wallace was staying at the Wolf residence, and suddenly disappeared, and it was found on further investigation that the timepiece had done likewise. A close watch was kept, and last Thursday, he was arrested in a Portland saloon, he admitted pawnning the watch for five dollars. Wallace's excuse for the affair was that he had been drinking.

Falls From Street Car.

Grant Olds, one of the proprietors of the Riverbank Rink, met with a painful accident while attempting to board a street car last Thursday evening. Mr. Olds had been working in the rink, and was trying to board a Portland bound car at Tenth and Main streets, for his home in Gladstone. The car did not come to a full stop, and in trying to jump it while in motion, Mr. Olds, who was encumbered by a dinner pail, slipped and fell, striking his head on the pavement. He went to the office of Dr. Meissner, who dressed the injury; an ugly cut in his head. At the present writing Mr. Olds is recovering nicely from his mishap.

Lillian P. Burroughs and Harry Taylor, both of Portland, were quietly married in the city Monday afternoon, Justice Samson performing the ceremony.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; it has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a booklet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SOCIALISM AND M. O.

Socialists Regard Municipal Ownership as a Step in the Right Direction.

At the recent labor conference at Hull, England, a resolution was adopted to the effect that "socialism is the definite object of the Labor party." This party has steadily favored municipal ownership, but until this year has been unwilling to take the next and logical step of endorsing socialism. This action just taken is helpful to a clearer understanding of the relation between the two movements. Socialism stands for the collective ownership of all the means of production; municipal ownership stands for the collective ownership of a part of the means of production. The difference is one of degree, not of kind, and in Great Britain no logical line of demarcation between the two has been found.

In this country, too, the Socialist is making full use of municipal ownership. He well knows that many people will take tickets for a short ride who would be frightened away if urged to buy a through ticket. The main point is to get them started toward his ultimate goal. After a man has been enlisted in favor of municipal ownership it is comparatively easy to get him to accept the principle of public ownership of railroads, telegraphs and coal mines, although he may still not be ready to accept the whole Socialist programme, collective ownership of all the means of production, for the simple reason that he is apt to be an owner or part owner of some "means of production" himself—e. g., a shop or a store or a share or two of stock in a manufacturing plant. That is why the national platform of the Socialist party is discreetly silent on some of the cardinal doctrines of socialism. The real purpose of collective ownership of all the means of production is therefore toned down to a demand for—

"The collective ownership of railroads, telegraphs, telephones, steamship lines and all other means of transportation and communication and all land."

"The collective ownership of all industries which are organized on a national scale and in which competition has virtually ceased to exist."

"The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests and water power."

The platform is silent about municipal ownership of lighting plants and waterworks because M. O. people are attending to that part of the Socialist programme, leaving the thoroughgoing Socialist free to concentrate his efforts on the second part of the programme as outlined above. It may look enticing, but remember that socialism doesn't intend to stop with public utilities and big corporations nor until it has swallowed up in the great state machine every vestige of private ownership of everything except what a man wears on his back or needs to furnish his home.

HITS DETROIT CITY PLANT.

Alderman Points Out Weak Place in Municipal Management.

"If the truth were known," said Alderman R. M. Watson of Detroit while in Milwaukee, "we are paying more for electric light in Detroit at the municipal plant than we could get it for from a private corporation. Our plant is obsolete."

The delegation of Detroit aldermen told Commissioner James of the city's experience with municipal heating. When the Detroit city hall was half its present size it cost the city $10,000 a year to heat it by a municipal plant in the building. The Detroit Central Heating company now heats the enlarged building for $3,000 a year.

The visitors said Detroit was confused as to what to do about the street railway system when the franchises expire in two years. The visitors said the city government of Detroit lost money on the three cent fare because the three cent fare roads do not have to maintain the pavement between the tracks, while the four cent roads do.

Alderman Watson says that the board of estimate in Detroit has persistently refused to appropriate money to keep the municipal electric lighting plant up to date and that as a result the time will soon come when the entire expense of replacing the plant will have to be met in one year instead of gradually from year to year, and the cost of electric light will rise proportionately.—Milwaukee Journal.

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houston, Maine, says: "I have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50 cent bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery before that was half gone, the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at Jones Drug Co.'s drug store, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.
