Don't Wear a Collar

Are you one of the patients who have waited hours to see your doctor and after getting the precious slip called a "prescription," been told you must have it filled at "so and so?" Don't you believe it; no matter what doctor writes the prescription, or what name may be on the blank, its YOUR PRESCRIPTION and you are at liberty to have it prepared where you choose.

For nearly twenty years we have been filling prescriptions right here in the same place, and at the same time we have been improving our store and service, until no honest doctor can truthfully say that we are not as fully and completely equipped for prescription work as any store in the state. If you want the best prescription service it is possible to get, at prices no higher, and in many instances lower than elsewhere, let us be your druggists.

The Educational Rally held at Logan the evening of the 11th, was well attended by the people of Logan and surounding districts. The talk given by Superintendents Ackerman and Gary, were instructive and highly appreciated.

It is very encouraging to note interest manifested in behalf of the country schools. The educational rallys being held throughout the county, seem to be a new departure. There being several objects in view. First, to draw parents and teachers into a closer relationship for the betterment of the pupils. Again, Mr. Ackerman hopes by coming into personal contact with the country people and the country schools while in regular session, to be more able to judge of the requirements, and to work some plan for the betterment of their condition.

We all feel much encouraged, and believe Superintendent Ackerman's heart is in the right place.

At the close of the meeting Superintendent Gary awarded to the Logan school one dollar as a prize for the best school exhibit at the county fair.

Redland.

Quite a crowd attended the meeting at the grange hall last Wednesday night to hear State Superintendent Ackerman and County Superintendent Gary. Prof. Ackerman's topic was, "The Home and Schools as a Unit." His address in part was to the effect that you cannot expect the teacher to improve your children if yourselves do not set a high standard for them. He cited a grave mistake parents make when they send an excuse by Willie for being absent, saying that he has been sick; when the truth was that he probably had to stay out to work. The speaker stated that there are three classes of pupils: Literary, hand and commercial minded.

The literary minded pupil will be always studying; the hand minded want to be making things. Mr. Ackerman thinks it would be wrong to crowd him in literary matters. The commercial minded; the boy that starts to play marbles for keeps and gets all of his school mate's marbles, should have a commercial training. The address throughout was highly interesting as well as entertaining. Mr. Ackerman is a strong believer in apportioning a lump sum to school districts instead of the present system, a matter in which your correspondent agrees with him.

Irreverence.

(The following communication was recieved at the Courier office Thursday evening of last week, just too late for that issue of the paper, and it has been Mr. Kelly's request that we give it space in this issue. Editor.)

Editor Courier: Recently, at the earnest solicitation of a prominent citizen, who said, "I want you to see just how irreverent and blasphemous Dan Shannon, the evangelist, is," I went to hear him, and have regretted it ever since, for in all my life I never before heard the name of the Almighty Jehovah, the Infinite Creator of the illimitable universe, the Eternal God, before whom angels bow and archangels veil their faces, I never before heard the holy name used with such flippancy, irreverence and blasphemy.

Why the people should turn out to hear this "evangelist" (so called) as they do, is astonishing, for he is a self-conceited, self-righteous ignoramus, or, he is a rank hypocrite. His admirers may take either side of the statement, as they prefer.

The good good has been accomplished during the recent meetings has not been because of the "evangelist", but in spite of him, for the Eternal God "bringeth good out of evil, and maketh the wrath of man to praise Him."

Years ago, at my mother's knee, I was taught to revere the ever blessed name of Jehovah, and I am thankful to be able to say that, however I may have departed from her teachings in other respects, I don't think I have ever been guilty of irreverence.

This evangelist is gifted in many ways and at times has his hearers deeply affected and his audience wonderfully moved and seriously thinking, and then, God save the mark, he spoils it all with some ribald joke or some shocking, irreverent phrase. To use a homely comparison he is like the cow that gives a pailful of good, delicious milk and then puts her dirty foot right down into it (apology due the cow. She don't know any better).

Moses saw a burning bush, and turning aside to see why the bush was not consumed, heard the voice of God saying, "Put thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place where thou standest is holy ground." Evidently our "evangelist" has not derived any lesson from this scripture, or he would be more meek, humble, modest and reverent.

As to the abuse he has heaped on St. John's and St. Paul's churches my reply is, the church was preaching the gospel about 2000 years before our revivalist was born, and about 1600 years before the Sect he represents had been heard of, and will still be preaching the same gospel and administering the Sacraments when the subject of this sketch and his irreverence are forgotten. Respectfully,

H. L. KELLY.
