AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marlton, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life.

I suffered for ten years with serious flammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave m up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and refleyed of all my suffering."—Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-

The Mondell Act.

The act of the Sixteenth Congress , 1909, gives to the agricultural entryman, on land later classified as coal Molalla Grange, No. 310, at Molalla. and, the privilege of electing to take the surface rights, the coal rights re maining in the government for fur-ther and seperate disposition. The General Land Office already reports that 90 percent of the Colorado entrymen on lands believed to be under lain with coal will choose surface rights, thus reserving to the United States the coal rights. This is significant of the value of the new law, which followed lines laid down by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger in by his firm. 1907, while he was Commissioner of the General Land Office. If the entry nan chooses to contest, the issue then becomes one of the relative worth of the land for agriculture or for coal Roads.

The report and recommendations of the Country Life Commission are highly valuable, as its careful investigation, including personal visits to all sections of the country, and correspon-dence with 550,000 residents of the country districts as to the most pressing needs of the farmers for the improvement of their condition, shows that public sentiment is unanimous in favor of better roads as a practical means of supplying existing deficiencies in country life.

In his message to congress accompanying the commission's report the president summarizes the conclusions arrived at by the commission, and states that as a result of its investifarm value of $41,687,000. These im- gations the following three general life statd out:

"First, effective co-operation among farmers, to put them on a level with the organized interests with which they do business. "Second, a kind of schools in the country, which will teach the chilplanted to that grain throughout all dren as much outdoors as indoors and pare for country life, and not as pres-

> "Third, better communication, in cluding good roads and a parcels post, which the country people are every where, and rightly demanding." The satisfaction of the first two of these needs will be greatly facilitated by the adoption of a system of improv ed roads extending through all farm ing sections of the country. Bad roads are the chief obstacle to co-operation among the farmers, and improved oads will make co-operation possible. The need for a new kind of coun try schools cannot be met so long as our dirt roads, which at certain seasons are almost impassable, prevent the attendance of the farmer's children at centralized schools where they could have all the advantages of a graded school in connection with a high school. Central schools of this kind are now being established in some sections of the country, where good roads permit of the pupils of Taking Iowa's yield in 1908 and the an entire township being transported average price of oats, an acre's crop to them daily from their homes, and the 32,000,000 acres planted to the eral.
