Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?
Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.
Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get open through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Hundreds of people are fed each day at this shop restaurant and every bit of the cooking is done by electricity. The chef, or his assistant, throws a switch and the oven gets hot in a few minutes, another switch and the broiler is ready for the steak, and the pressure of a finger starts the heat under the coffee percolator, the stock kettles or any of the other cooking utensils. When the work is done the simple reversing of the switch turns off the current and the heat is gone until it is wanted again.

Underfed, hungry mechanics cannot turn out good work. Men nourished by poor, unwholesome food cannot do their best. For those reasons the restaurants were established at this great electrical plant, as well as at most of the branch plants, and time had actually demonstrated the wisdom of this industrial philosophy. Health means equally as much to the employer as to the employee; both lose when an employee is or forced to lay off for a few days on account of illness. Skilled workmen are very scarce and high priced and, like a valuable machine, they must be kept in good repair and in perfect order if they are to last long. The industrial restaurant has been proven a thorough success and many of the other large manufacturing concerns are following the excellent example set by this electrical company.

Miss Adah B. Hedwell is agent for cosmetics and periodicals of all descriptions. She wishes to make mention of a special offer of the McClure and Woman's Home Companion combination for $2 a year.

Electrical Kitchen Cooks Meals of Employees

It has been most thoroughly demonstrated that it is equally as important to keep the employees of a concern well fed on good wholesome food, as it is to keep a good supply of first class coal under the big boilers in a power house. Remembering this fact the General Electric Company of Schenectady maintains two large restaurants at its mammoth plant in that city where the employees can go at all hours of the day and regale themselves with a lunch or a full meal at a nominal cost and be assured of obtaining the very best the market affords. In these large restaurants all the cooking, roasting, baking, frying and broiling is done over the mysterious fires of electricity. There are no dirty ashes, no dusty handling of coal, no bother with slow fires, no smoke, no soot, no foul odors. All of these devices are of the company's own manufacture and as they have been in actual use for years their worth and economy have been thoroughly tested.

The kitchen of the restaurant in the main office building at Schenectady is equipped with large baking and roasting ovens, stock kettles, broilers, griddle stoves, a steam table, a plate warmer, hot plates, cereal cookers, water boilers, coffee percolators, etc. There are also a potato peeler and a dish washer, both driven by small electric motors. The size and extent of this electrical kitchen installation can be judged when it is stated that between 1200 and 1800 persons are served daily from this kitchen. During the week ending April 20th, 7000 persons were served, of which 3769 ordered a full meal, the remainder a partial one.

The preparation of this food requires the consumption of 1200 kilowatts of electric power, which is equivalent to about 375 watt hours per person per full meal, which, at a rate of five cents per kilowatt would be about one and one-third cents a meal.

The electric baking ovens are 45 inches wide, 33 inches deep and 15 inches high, and they will bake one hundred loaves of bread in forty-five minutes. The electric broilers, the maximum heat in fifteen minutes and this is the special advantage of baking by electricity. In the large roasting oven thirty-five pounds of beef can be roasted in less than three hours time. With the large broilers a steak one inch thick can be properly broiled in five minutes. All the other electrical devices work in this simple, swift and sure manner, doing their work well and thoroughly with a total absence of smoke, dirt or gases and do not heat up the surrounding atmosphere in the kitchen.

The electric kitchen on the hottest day presents a fairly cool appearance. Electric fans quickly remove the little radiant heat which comes from the cooking fuel and the room is never sweltering hot as it is where coal fires are used. Down in the main part of the plant is located a large cement building of two stories which is used exclusively for restaurant purposes by the shop employees. At this restaurant the employees can purchase for a very small sum a substantial, clean and nourishing meal or lunch. If he so desires he can at any time, except between 12 and half past when dinner is being served, get a sandwich or some fruit, a cup of coffee or a glass of milk. For the most part the meals are served from long counters instead of tables but each restaurant has also the regulation dining rooms for the use of heads of departments, foremen, etc.

Various filling materials are used—Gold, Amalgam, Cement, Gutta-percha chemically pure Tin-foil, Silicious Cements or artificial enamel, Cast Gold Fillings, Porcelain, and combinations of one with another.

With a Silicate Cement you can have the color of your teeth perfectly matched restoring the lost surfaces in unbroken outline.

With Porcelain Fillings you can have almost any surface of any suitable tooth filled with a perfect tooth-like filling, that will stand the stress of mastication, and the filling can be made complete, ready for insertion, outside the mouth.

With the Gold Casting Process a filling of pure gold is made, after taking impression of the defective tooth, and the gold filling made as easily in your absence as if you were in the chair; you can read the paper or go home, and have the completed filling inserted at a later time. Thus all malleting is avoided, much time in the chair is saved, and a perfect and permanent filling made.
