Oregon City today ought to have a population of 50,000 souls and would have that number had the early set-tlers possessed sufficient foresight to tlers possessed sufficient foresight to grasp the wonderful opportunities provided by nature. But that is a matter of the past. What we have to contend with now is the present. As a general rale communities do not prosper without the enthusiastic sup-port of all the people. If we expect to grow, or even maintain the popula-tion we now have we must get to-gether. The Commercial Club is do-ing a splendid work in making known the advantages of our city as a place the advantages of our city as a place and a collapse now would probably of residence and for business oppor- mean that the Uinted States would be of residence and for business oppor-tanities. But it cannot carry on the work without assistance. It needs the carnest co-operation of every man, woman and child in the community. They should act as a unit. When they announce that they are residents of Oregon City. We want to be able to sneak with pride of our people and anneunce that they are residents of speak with pride of our people and our progress. During the past ten years the population of Oregon City has incraesed nearly one hundred per cent. The year 1911 promises to be a our to Oregon to tell the people th record breaker in the way of immi-gration. The two great railway lines are going to spend millions and mil-lions of dollars in the work of railway construction. While Oregon City is not on the direct line of any of these contemplated in the work of these not on the direct line of any of these contemplated improvements, yet it is near enough to receive, on account of its acessibility, great additions to its population. It is four duty to double our population during the next five years, but in order to do so we must not only be on the lookout for new professor admits that it is sometimes professor admits that it is sometimes and healthy enterprises, but we must see to it that business we now possess is not driven to other localities.

LEST WE FORGET.

A Critic Reminds Us How Our People Have Bucked Progress.

We of this blg republic complacentaffirm the glory of our national achievements and are not without temptation to acclaim them as proof of superior craft and judgment.

But herein do we forget that we are on record as having cast our vote against every move that has contributed to the present century's develop ment.

We raised our voices in contemptuous protest against the first projected railways. Had the locomotive waited its signal from the people it would not yet have started.

When the electric telegraph was shown to us we brushed it aside as a toy and laughed its inventor to scorn when he offered to sell us his rights for a few thousand dollars.

We put into jall as an impostor the first man who brought anthracite conl to market. We broke to pieces Howe's sewing machine as an invention calcu lated to ruin the working classes, and we did the same thing to the harvester and the binder. We scorned the typewriter as a plaything.

We gathered together in mass meetings of indignation at the first pro posal to install electric trolley lines, and when Dr. Bell told us he had invented an instrument by means of which we might talk to one another across the town we responded" with accustomed ridicule, and only the reckless among us contributed it its being.-Atlantic Monthly.

HUMAN DISSECTION.

Surgery and the Anatomista In the Olden Days.

For a long time Alexandria was the only medical center of the world, and the physician Galen, born about 130 A. D., had to journey from Rome to the African city even to see a skeleton. He sent his students to the German battlefields to dissect the bodies of the national enemies, while he himself used apes as most resembling human beings. Human dissection was revived in Bologna in the fourteenth century, where Madonna Manzolina later was professor of anatomy, undoubtedly one of the first women doctors, if not the very first. Leonardo da Vinci, painter of "The Last Supper," was a great anatomist, but dissection had fallen into disuse when Vesalius finally revived it about the middle of the sixteenth century. Even in comparatively modern times anatomists have been the object of attacks by the populace. In 1765 Dr. John Shippen of Philadelphia was mobbed as a grave robber. Doctors'

It was the lack of opportunity to obtain subjects regularly that led to the practice of grave robbing and originated what Dr. Keene calls "a set of the lowest possible villains-the resurrectionists." -New York World.
