COUNTRY CORRESPONDENCE

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mrs. Jane Stewart, formerly of this place but now a resident of Portland, accompanied by her sister, was a visitor here last Tuesday.

Mr. Joe Howell and bride of San Francisco visited on New Year's Day with their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lowellen.

Genie Lowellen and his cousin, Harry Hunt, were here a few days last week.

Robert Baty of Portland and Claude Baty of The Dalles visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baty, this week.

Mrs. Quinn was unable to superintend the Sunday school Sunday on account of sickness.

Mrs. W. H. Clark and daughter Alda went to Portland last Wednesday and remained over a day or two with relatives.

Harry Scholts and Pearl Selby, who have spent the holidays here, returned to school Wednesday, the former to Corvallis and the latter to McMinnville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher are again in their home here after an absence of several months at the sawmill.

Mrs. Thomas Martin and daughter Dossie, accompanied the boys back to their home near Madras. They had come to attend their father's funeral.

Erna Calavan has been sick a few days but is again able to attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laisner of Portland were here last Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley May.

Mrs. Thomas of Mt. Pleasant visited Mrs. Ida Cooper last Monday.

The good old-time neighbors of Mrs. Cooper surprised her by sending her several substantial presents on Monday after New Year. Among them was a dozen fine chickens with which to help in the poultry business.

Mr. Chas. Toosa has purchased of Fred Ely the hop yard at this place and had it platted in acre tracts and also lots. This is the prettiest spot of ground on the hill and we trust there will be some good substantial homes built the coming season.

McGinnis, the blacksmith working with Ralph Groves, has quit and taken charge of the Butley shop at the foot of Seventh street.

Will Hall experienced another runaway Tuesday. While in front of the First National Bank he left his team for a moment, when it started down Main street, and then on 5th, where a man caught them. The brake being set on the wagon and lines tightly wrapped around them from running at a faster speed. No damage was done, but a thrill of excitement was caused.

Mrs. Nichols has been quite ill for several days and seems no better at the present time.

Foley's Kidney Remedy—An Appreciation

L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Jones Drug Co.

CANBY

Geo. Combs, who is on the advertising staff of the Daily News of Portland, made his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Combs, a visit Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Miss Cochran, reporter of the Enterprise, made her regular weekly visit to Canby this week on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Newhall from Hood River have been visiting their relatives, John R. Newton and family of this place.

Leslie Bartlette and Leslie Newton have returned again to Salem to resume their schoolroom duties at Willamette University, after having spent the Christmas vacation with their parents here.

Perry Carter, cartoonist, and company gave a most pleasing entertainment here Thursday evening, Dec. 29.

This is the last of the 12-year course which was given this year at Canby Rev. C. L. Crosby, the Methodist minister, deserves the credit for bringing these high-grade entertainers to Canby.

W. L. Combs and family, consisting of wife and son, from Salem, spent their Christmas with J. L. Combs and family of this place. Mr. B. L. Combs is a brother of J. L. Combs.

Robert E. Johnston of Minneapolis, Minn., arrived here Sabbath morning and began a series of evangelistic meetings, which are to continue throughout the month of January. These meetings are held in a tabernacle built for the occasion, which was put up by volunteer labor in four days' time, there being from fifteen to twenty persons working at it. This tabernacle is located on the Wait lot, opposite the City Hotel and will hold between five and six hundred persons. Mr. Johnston is a very able evangelist and large numbers are coming out to the interesting services. A grand chorus choir under the special direc-

LIBERTY BELL

Its Connection With the Declaration of Independence.

The famous Liberty bell was cast in London in 1752, brought to America and subsequently recast in Philadelphia. It bears the inscription, "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the World and to All the Inhabitants Thereof." It was cracked while being tolled after the death of Chief Justice John Marshall in 1835. It is kept on exhibition in Independence hall, Philadelphia. It has had a fictitious importance owing to the popular belief that its ringing proclaimed the adoption of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. Concerning this belief, however, Friedewald in his "Declaration of Independence" (1904) says:

"There is no shadow of authority even for associating the ringing of the bell with the announcement of the agreement upon independence. The mythical legend of the blue-eyed boy waiting outside the door to give the signal to the man in the bell tower is the product of the fertile imagination of one of Philadelphia's early romancers, George Lippard, who first gave currency to it in his appropriately titled 'Legends of the Revolution.' This book was published in 1817."—New York American.

INCURABLE

Some interference Wireless Operators Cannot Overcome.

Few are the steamer passengers who fall to visit the wireless office aboard ship to watch the operation of the instruments and to question the operator. Needless to say, the technical understanding of the well-meaning visitors is a variable quantity. The operator just listened to wondering exclamation, original suggestions for the improvement of the service, discourse as to the relations between wireless telegraphy and spiritualism and other doubtful topics with uniform courtesy. At times, however, the strain is too great. It was a lady passenger with an eye for details who came to the wireless room and looked wonderingly in.

"Oh, here's the wireless! May I come in? Isn't it wonderful to think of sending those—those waves—you call them waves, don't you? How fascinating to work at this! Are those jars filled with water?"

"Those are condenser jars, madam, quite empty."

"Really? I don't believe I could ever understand it. That coil of wire looks like a birdcage."

"That is the inductance helix."

"What are those things over your ears?"

"The receiving telephones."

"Then you have telephone connection too. One can hardly keep up with the times these days. What does that coil do?"

"That is the receiving tuner and interference preventer."

"Wonderful! Does it keep out all interference?"

"Not all," replied the operator wearily. "Some kinds of interference can't be tuned out; we just have to stand it."—Youth's Companion.

THE HESSIANS.

They Were Good Soldiers, and Some Became Good Americans.

There is a popular belief among some people that the Hessian mercenaries brought here by the British government to fight the Americans remained here after the war was over and that their descendants constitute a considerable element of the Pennsylvania Germans of today. Comparatively few remained here after the war, because the British government was under contract to return such as escaped the casualties of the war after it was over. The few that remained made good citizens, as they made the very best soldiers against the Americans, and whenever it was practical to do so they were put in the most responsible places by the British commanders.

The intense hatred at one time against the so-called Hessian soldiers, some of which still lingers with the present generation, is very unjust, because they did not volunteer to fight against the Americans, but they were forced into the British service by the impetuous German princes who sold them to the British like so many slaves. The Hessian soldiers would sometimes take a notion to desert, and they invariably found refuge among some of the German colonists. A considerable number of them were left behind from time to time on marches on account of sickness or wounds. These always found a ready welcome among German settlers; few of them ever found the way back to their native land.—"Pennsylvania Germans," by William Boidelman.

"John D. Rockefeller's name has been omitted from Cleveland's social register." Another case of conspicuousness by absence.

His Experience.

"Jasper," said Mrs. Grigson, who was looking over the morning paper, "here's a story of a woman who was robbed on a street car in broad daylight, and yet the thief got away unsuspected."

Mr. Grigson said that he had seen the item, but that it was either a typographical error or else the story was pure invention.

"Why do you say that?" asked his wife.

"Look at the item again. It says her purse contained $100 in currency, does it not?"

"Yes."

"It says there was also a receipted bill for a five dollar hat, does it not?"

"Yes."

"Well, no woman with $100 in cash in her possession would buy a five dollar hat."—Youth's Companion.

His Critic.

"The greatest compliment that I ever received," says Ople Read, "was a criticism. Several years ago I went to Arkansas and visited the scene where one of my stories is laid. The landlord of the little hotel said to me:

"Here comes a little old fellow to whom I loaned a copy of your book. He can't read, but his wife reads to him. Let's see what he says about the book."

"Hello, Jason, did your wife read that book to you?"

"Maw'nin', sah. Yes, she done read it to me."

"Well, what do you think of it?"

"Huh? That ain't no book at all. I done lived hear fo' forty years an' I done hear folks talk that a-way all the time."—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Love and the Laundry.

"The only thing I find to say against you is that your washing bill is far too extravagant. Last week you had six blouses in the wash. Why, Jane, my own daughter never sends more than two."

"Ah, that may be, mum," replied Jane, "but I've to! Your daughter's sweetheart is a bank clerk, while my young man is a chimney sweep. It makes a difference, mum."—London Tit-Bits.

Cleaned Them Out.

First Girl—Was your bazaar a great success? Second Girl—I should think so. All the gentlemen had to walk home. They hadn't even a penny in their pockets to pay their tram fares.—London Tit-Bits.

How It Is.

"How is it, if Love is blind, that we hear of love at first sight?"

"It is after love at first sight occurs that Love usually goes blind."—Chicago Record-Herald.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women. I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman."
