

THIN OUT THE DOG FLOCK.

City is Full of Useless, Worthless Canines.

DANGEROUS AS WOLF PACK.

City Should do What Poisoner is Trying to Do.

There is mighty little difference between a dog poisoner and a dog, and the distinction is in favor of the animal.

Any city can get along without either, but it is a lot easier to get rid of the dog than the snook who drops the poison.

What possible use or excuse is there for a drove of animals in a city the writer could never see.

There is hardly anything so awful to contemplate as hydrophobia, and the terrible resultant death of convulsions.

We are not excusing the dog poisoner—he is far more dangerous than the dogs—and he is more difficult to catch than a postoffice thief.

Last week strychnine covered meat was thrown out in different parts of the city.

There should be a dog tax so high and a dog ordinance so rigid that it would be mighty expensive to keep dogs here.

And the danger is in the pet—the family dog that has grown old and becomes vicious without your knowledge.

Dog owning and dog poisoning can both be easily discouraged in this city.

SOME THINGS WE MAY DO.

A Suggestion or Two for a Bigger City.

A movement we believe would do more toward building up our city than all the booster programs you can put on.

Today there are three applicants for every renting house, and there is a daily enquiry at the Courier office for houses to rent.

It does not require a big capital to put a company in shape to build some houses here.

It seems to us this matter is one that should be looked into.

And then there is yet another proposition that has proven a big winner to any town where it was ever tried.

Anyhow we need, and must provide, more places for living if Oregon City is to grow.

MOLALLA PEOPLE ARE GETTING IN

Want Railroad Work to Start at That End.

SAY THEY WILL RAISE MONEY

Looks as if Work will Start all Along the Route.

Everything looks bright in the Molalla valley for the new railroad and present prospects are that work will very soon commence at that end.

At the meeting held there Saturday last, the Molalla people got right down to business, and the disposition shown to at once go ahead with the work is highly pleasing to the directors.

Two years ago the Molalla people took hold of the railroad project in dead earnest and came through with liberal stock subscriptions.

That the railroad is a certainty, there is no doubt. It is organized right and the men behind it are going to see that the work goes through.

Friday night of this week, at the Commercial Club, the directors of the Clackamas Southern railroad will hold a public meeting.

REBELLION STARTS UP IN ALASKA.

Desperate Men will Try Self Protection.

Things are looking nasty up in Alaska, and if our vacillating, weak-kneed administration does not come out of it and take active steps to straighten things out, there is lurid prospect of a lively little rebellion.

There are five thousand volunteers in Alaska openly defying the government, and they state they will no longer stand for the government's do-nothing policy.

This building will provide what the city sadly needs, a public place where people can find, and we predict it will be the best investment the Commercial Club ever made.
