Atrocious Conditions Under the Diaz Government

By GUSTAVO MADERO, Brother of General Madero and Financial Leader of the Revolution

DIAZ is truly a great comedian. His stage has been Mexico, and from it he has FOOLED the world.

He has done this by making the outside world think him HUMANE—think him a man who, risen from the people, loves the people tenderly. It is not quite true—he loves. He is quite capable of a great love, but only for one object, and that object is himself.

Our COMPLAINTS against the late Diaz government summarized come to this:

In Mexico there is NO FREEDOM for the ordinary citizen, not even freedom from the injustices of an entirely unequal taxation.

In Mexico not even human life is SAFE FROM THE POLITICAL ASSASSIN. Indeed, official murders are so COMMON as to scarcely cause comment.

In Mexico the masses are DEPRIVED of suffrage, education, the free press, everything the free man holds most DEAR.

In Mexico there never has been an election which approaches HONESTY. The nation is a MONARCHY in fact, a republic but in name.

In Mexico things do not go by right, but by FAVOR of the POWERFUL, and in this twentieth century on this side of the Atlantic ocean such conditions we could not longer tolerate.

The United States Ought to Sell the Philippines

By Colonel HENRY WATTERSON, Journalist

THERE IS ONE THING WE OUGHT TO DO—THAT IS, SELL THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS TO JAPAN. IF SHE WILL BUY THEM, AND BUY MAGDALENA BAY FROM MEXICO FOR A UNITED STATES COALING STATION.

We have got to do that anyway, and now is the time to do it.

The United States would not have any trouble in perfecting such an arrangement because Madero and his party, who are going to have something to say in the government of Mexico, are friendly with the United States.

I have been in Europe since last December, and while there I heard much comment on the sending of 20,000 United States troops to San Antonio.

European nations had FEARED for the safety of their interests in Mexico, but now they believe them safe in the hands of the United States.

Lincoln and His Advisers to Blame For Civil War Deaths and Loss

By R. C. CAVE, Confederate Veteran

IHOLD THAT THE RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE CIVIL WAR, WITH ALL THE BLOOD AND TREASURE THAT IT COST AND ALL THE DESOLATION THAT IT BROUGHT, JUSTLY RESTS ON ABRAHAM LINCOLN AND HIS ADVISERS.

I say this not in bitterness, but simply discussing the facts of history.

I want to see the people of both north and south ruled by the spirit of FRATERNITY and harmoniously working together for the welfare of our common country, but I do not think the men of the south should be asked or expected to SACRIFICE the truth of history and go down to posterity branded as rebels and traitors to secure that end.

In Summer Women Dress More Sensibly Than Men

By CLAUDE L. WHEELER, Associate Editor New York Medical Journal

WOMEN DRESS MORE SENSIBLY THAN MEN. For instance, if men wore Dutch neck shirts in summer they would be infinitely MORE COMFORTABLE, AMIABLE AND HEALTHFUL.

A few years ago an attempt was made to induce men to wear silk and linen shirts with soft collars in the summer time. But it was no use. It wasn't stylish enough for the young fellows.

Pretzel babies need the comforting effect of McGEHE'S BABY ELIXIR. It quiets feverishness, corrects sour stomach, cures colic pains and checks diarrhoea. It is a perfectly safe and wholesome remedy containing no opium, morphine or injurious drug of any kind. Price 25c and 50c per bottle. Sold by Jones Drug Co.

If you feel "blue," "no account," "lax," you need a good cleaning out. HERBINE is the right thing for that purpose. It stimulates the liver, tones up the stomach and purifies the bowels. Price 50c. Sold by Jones Drug Co.

WORK WITH DEATH

Powder Makers Toil In Constant Peril of Their Lives.

THEY DON'T WANT VISITORS

Men Callers Are Permitted in the Plant Only With Extreme Reluctance and After Drastic Precautions, and Women Are Absolutely Barred.

In all the vocations in which a man can make a living in the United States there is none more perilous than the manufacture of gunpowder and none in which the public, which usually suffers severely in case of accident, takes so small an interest. The world gunpowder itself carries a suggestion of peril which is reflected in all the superstitions of the men who work in the trade.

The men who work in powder plants are a study in themselves. Probably in no other business do the human agents take more precautions against disaster with such pitiful results.

Men who work in powder plants are in constant fear of death. They are face to face with peril every second. Instead of growing hardened to it, as do the laborers in many other fields of danger, they appear to be the most superstitious class of men on earth. They are well paid. A man who has nerve enough to work at this trade is worthy of his hire. He can command $10 a day, sometimes $20. He practically makes his own rules, since he is the one to suffer from an infraction of them. His every suspicion is respected by his employer. He cannot deride the hours of labor, since that is a matter eternally in dispute, as in other kinds of labor, but he can dictate the conditions under which he works from the moment he enters the factory until he leaves.

These superstitions seem absurd sometimes, but they are the law of the gunpowder factory. If you are an employer you break the law at the risk of financial loss; if you are a fellow employee you violate it at the risk of your life. One of the first laws among the employees is that of self preservation. They have a deep rooted fear of the casual visitor. Few men have gone through a gunpowder plant out of mere curiosity. They are not wanted and are told so frankly. If they succeed in obtaining the permission of the superintendent or possibly of some one higher in authority they are subjected to an extraordinary ordeal before they are admitted to the sacred precincts.

First they are searched, and no police official is more adept in the art of "frisking" than is the outer guardian of the average gunpowder plant. Every piece of metal, from pocket knife to garter clasp—every coin, match, suspender buckle, everything that could possibly strike a spark, is removed. The hatband of the most fashionable derby is examined with care to see that it carries no metal initials. And this examination is not carried on alone by the official whose favor you have gained. A representative of the employees takes an active part in the examination, and if he has any doubts he will politely request you to strip to the skin.

Once inside the powder factory you are under even more careful scrutiny. Your shoes are taken away, and you are provided with felt slippers. Convinced that on your person there is no piece of metal which under any provocation could strike a spark, you may feel at liberty to roam around, but you are not. Your every movement is watched carefully, and should you make a gesture calculated to inspire distrust you would be hustled out of the building and told to leave the neighborhood within a given time. I had a graphic illustration of the extreme care taken by these men to prevent an accident and to save their own lives. After having been carefully searched and after having surrendered everything which might come under the classification of metal I was admitted to the plant. Secure in the knowledge that I was thoroughly "disinfected," I assumed a nonchalance which I was far from feeling as I watched the various processes of making gunpowder. I was so well at ease that I drew a toothpick from my pocket and calmly picked my teeth. Instantly I was thrown to the floor and while two husky men held me a third searched my clothing. When finally I was released it was explained to me that they feared the toothpick might be a match. Laboring under the constant fear of death, the employees grow extraordinarily superstitious. Once allow a woman to set foot within a powder factory and the entire force will quit. It is one of the axioms of the trade that a woman brings misfortune, and it is useless to argue the question. A woman photographer for a newspaper on a "Sunday assignment" once was admitted into an Illinois powder factory by an inexperienced official, and the next day the plant was shut down. The employees struck. The plant remained idle until an entire new force was recruited.—Chicago News.

Natural Longing.

However old, humble, plain, desolate, afflicted, we may be, so long as our hearts preserve the feeblest spark of life they preserve also, shimmering near that pale ember, a starved, ghostly longing for appreciation and affection.

"Th' heaven alone that is given away, 'tis only that may be had for the asking,"—Lowell.

Unimproved. George Ade recently heard that an old lady from the neighborhood in Indiana where he was born was in town on a visit to a relative. Mr. Ade thought that theater tickets would be a fitting attention, and on consulting her as to what she would prefer to see she said that she had seen "The Merchant of Venice" over thirty years ago and had always desired to see it again. He accordingly procured the tickets.

The next day he called and inquired to find out how she liked the performance as compared with that she remembered from long ago.

"Well," replied the old lady, "Venice seems to have spruced up a right smart bit, but that Shylock is the same mean, grasping critter that he used to be."—Metropolitan Magazine.
