ROOSEVELT SAYS HE WILL ACCEPT

Colonel Answers Governors, and Will be in Fight "Until the Convention."

New York .- "I will accept the nomination for the presidency if it is tendered me and will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference," is Colonel Theodore Roosevelr's reply to the letter of seven Republican governors asking him to stand for a nomination. The reply was as follows:

men: I deeply appreciate your letter A soldier of fortune, be had no preferand I realize to the full the heavy responsibility it puts upon me, expressing as it does the carefully considered convictions of the men elected by popplar vote to stand as the heads of government in their respective states.

"I absolutely agree with you that this matter is not one to be decided with any reference to the personal preferences or interests of any man, but purely from the standpoint of the interests of the people as a whole. I will accept the nomination for President if it is tendered to me and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference. One of the chief principles for which I have stood and for which I now stand and which I have always endeavored and always shall endeavor to reduce to action, is the genuine rule of the people, and therefore I hope that so far as possible the people may be given the chance, through direct primarles, to express their preference as to who shall be the nominee of the Republican Presidential convention. Very truly,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

LAW IS TO BE TESTED

Method of Electing Delegates is Basis

Salem. Ore.-Through the institution of a friendly suit in the Marion County State Circuit Court by John A. Carson, a Salem lawyer, the constitutionality of the initiative law governing the election of delegates to presidential electors, enacted by the people in the last general election, will be determined. The bringing of such a suft was indorsed at a meeting of the Republican state central com-

The initiative law involved permits an elector to vote for only one delegate and one elector although ten delegates and five electors are to be nominated and elected by each party.

Eighty-six now in Political Race.

Salem, Or .- All signs now point toward the list of candidates for the primaries of 1912 as being in excess far filed in the office of secretary of state for the primaries of April 19.

AMERICAN TROOPS MAY CROSS BORDER

El Paso .- Four troops of United States cavalry are patroling the Rio Grande with orders to cross into Cindad Juarez, if necessary, to protect American life and property.

In case of fighting across the border line in the future, the American comwar department to send the usual noshall not be endangered. If this no tice is not heeded and a zone of safety respected, the American troops are directed not to hesitate to go into Mexlean territory to enforce a proper degree of protection for American citi-

Decrying President Francisco I. Madero as a "gringo lover," and one who "with the scurrilous hand of the Yankee," and declaring that American capital has backed him, a manifesto purported to have been signed by General Pascual Orozce, Emilio Vasquez Gomez and others, proclaiming General Geronimo Trevino, provisional president of Mexico, was widely circulated in northern Mexico.

Two Lose Lives in Hotel Fire. indirectly, the lives of two men, deadly danger to 100 persons and a proparty loss roughly estimated at $50, 000, the old Gliman House, at First Alder streets, once the city's leading hotel and landmark, was gutted by fire Monday.

be renominated by the Republicans at the national convention in June, in spite of the open candidacy of Theoand Alder streets, once the city's leading hotel and landmark, was gutted by dore Roosevelt for a third term, is the emphatic prediction made by Repdent's campaign.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario St., Rochester, N. Y., has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley's Kidney Pills. After de-tailing his case he says: "I am only sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley's Kidney Pills. In a few day's time my baskache comple-lely left me and I fell greately in tely left me and I felt greately improved. My kidneys became stronger dizzy spells left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent beter since using Foley's Kidney Pills.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. Doan's Regulets relieved and strengthened the bowls so that they have been regular ever since.—A. E. Davis, grocer Sulpher Springs, Texas.

"I suffered habitually from constipation. If suffered, with baskache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbarable. I gave Foley's Kidney Pills a good trial, and they done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects."

A Veteran of the Light Brigade

A War Story

By F. A. MITCHEL

During the war between the states an Englishman named Larkins, who merly, had been a sergeant in the British army, came over to America to seek service with the Federal army. If he "New York, Feb. 25, 1912,-Gentle failed he would try the Confederacy. ences, though in England the people were overwheimingly in favor of the > Larkins had papers to prove his British citizenship, which enabled him to sojourn either in the north or in the south, as he pleased. He came over in a blockade runner to Charleston, S. C., and, going to Richmond, Va., made application for a commission. He was offered one, but by this time exhaustion had begun to show itself in the Confederacy, especially in a financial way, and Larkins was not pleased with the want of prospect of emolument in its service. So he concluded to try for a commission in the Federal army.

Having declined the southern offer, he asked for a pass to go through the lines to Washington, telling the authorities in Richmond that he had been called home to England. It was furnished him, and he left for the Army of Northern Virginia, at that time encamped between the two capitals, intending, after having been passed through the lines, to work his way northward. The route he desired to take lay through Fredericksburg, and encamped upon the road was a division commanded by a general whom I will call Beaumont. When Larkins presented his pass to the officer, telling him at the same time that he was a British subject, he was treated with consideration for the reason that the southerners were constantly hoping always ready to show attention to such English persons as came among them. General Beaumont showed great in terest in John Larkins, regretting that national political conventions and his recall to England had deprived the south of his services. The general told him that if he would remain and accept a commission he would appoint him to a position on his staff. The Englishman was tempted; but, knowing that he must take his pay in depreciated Confederate currency, he adhered to his resolution, assuring the that the British government would interfere in their behalf, and they were general that his recall was imperative. A number of officers were introduced to Larkins, who looked upon him with considerable interest. This he attributed to the fact that he had told the general that he had fought in the Crimean war and took part in the celebrated charge of the Light brigade, of which he gave a vivid description. Whatever the cause the ex-British sol in point of numbers to that of 1919. dier was much pleased with his trent-With still more than a month to go, ment, and when he was urged not to there are 86 candidates who have so hurry away he felt disposed to linger in his pleasant surroundings. one had heard of the charge that had thrilled the world and had been commemorated by the British poet laureate Alfred Tennyson, so that one who had taken part in it was especially inter-sting to soldiers. mont's headquarters in time for lunchcon and was invited by the general to to come out here at ouce." lunch with him and his staff. During the afternoon Beaumont invited the less a battle opens." Englishman to ride with him on a tour of inspection of his division, and in the evening the chief of staff, Captain Carter, asked the visitor if he would not like to call upon a southern family living in the vicinity. Larkins was not manders have been instructed by the what would be considered in England a gentleman and demurred at the in- If you will go with him he will show tice that American lives and property | vitation, but the general urged him to make the acquaintance of at least one tion and treatment of you since you household of southern ladies while in Larkins that evening met Caroline Fletcher, a captivating southern girl. ed for 10 o'clock to escort you through who had only to smile upon him to the lines." make him fancy that she had been mitten with him. When he told her that he was simply passing through the lines and would go north the next has profaned the banners of Mexico day she pouted and insisted on a promise that he would call upon her the next evening. Gallantry led Larkins led forth a man pale as death in citito promise, and he left her not quite knowing whether he was standing on his heels or his hend

America, and he consented.

The next day he was shown more attentions by the officers and in the evening called on Miss Fletcher. She received him on a veranda rich with the perfume of flowers. She was carefully attired and looked bewitching. She flirted with Larkins for awhile, Portland, Or.-Costing, directly and | then began to ask him on which side | of the American conflict his sympathies were enlisted. He assured her that he had no preference, whereupon she coquettishly asked him if he would do her a service. Having declared that he would be glad to accommodate her, she told him that she belonged to a Union family and was bound up in the success of the Union arms. She con-Taft's Manager is Certain He'll Win. fided to him that she was sending in-Chicago.-That President Taft will formation to Washington and ended by asking him if he would carry a > Larkins knew well that if caught by the Confederates with such information on his person his British citizenship would not save him from the gal- in either the Federal or Confederate lows. He declined to be the bearer army.

Many sufferers from rheum-tism have been surprised and delighted with the prompt relief afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Not one case of rheu-matism in ten requires an inter-nal treatment whatever. This liniment is for sale by all dealers.

of the message. The lady looked much disappointed, but forebore to press the matter and begged that he would not betray her. Larkins promised, and that ended the episode.

The next day the Britisher said he would take his departure. He was informed that he must be sent through the lines with a flag of truce, and the situation was not just then fitted for the dispatching of such a flag. The enemy was restless, and there might be fighting at any moment. So Larkins was obliged to content himself at headquarters, which were not so agreeable as before the attentions that had been showered on him were discontinued-that is to say, he did not seem to excite the same interest as for-

During that day one of the officers brought up to him a citizen whom he introduced, expatiating on the ex-sergeant's experience in the Crimea. 'The man looked at him closely, made some commonplace remarks and withdrew From that time Larkins began to realize that he was under surveillance. He had been furnished with a tent. which he occupied alone, and during the night was awakened by men talk ing outside. Curious to know what was going on, he got off his cot and looked out. Several privates were sitting on the ground close by his tent, smoking. He was surely under guard. What could it mean?

He lay awake the greater part of the night wondering what object the general could possibly bave in treating him, a British subject, as a guest, but really depriving him of his liberty.

The next morning when he awoke the men had gone. An officer came in and told him that a breakfast would be sent in to him. During the day he noticed that this same officer never lost sight of him. To kill time he thought he would go and call on Miss Fletcher.

"Where are you going?" asked his shadower.

"I'm going to pay a visit at the Fletchers'. I expect to be going as soon as the general will send me through, and I think I'll say goodby to them.

"You won't find the Fletchers at home today."

This was said in a half commanding tone, as if meaning, "Stay where you are." Larkins said nothing, but turned and retraced his steps.

He was sitting in a camp chair that afternoon near General Beaumont's tent when an officer rode up, threw himself from his horse and went in to see the general. There being nothing but canvas to intercept the sound. Larkins could hear a part of what was said. After some talk that he could not make out: "He's the man," the inferior officer

"Are you sure?" asked the general. "Yes, general; the same fellow, playing a different game.

"When will be be here?" "Within an hour.

"Very well. We'll be ready for This was Greek to Larkins, but the treatment he had received and the fact of his being under surveillance, taken with the words "playing the same game," made him unensy. As soon as the officer had left the general

Larkins went into his tent and said: "See here, general, I wish to go through the lines at once. If I am purposely detained I desire to know the cause."

"I'll send von through tomorrow morning," said the general, speaking In a tone to indicate that he weant to do what he said. "Am I detained in your camp? "No. Go where you like."

"Very well, I'll wait till tomorrow Larkins had reached General Beau- If I am detained longer I shall telegraph the British consul at Richmond "You'll not be detained-that is, un-

The next morning at daylight Larkins was awakened by General Beaumont's orderly, who said that the general would like to see him in his tent. Still uneasy, he arose and went to the general. An officer was there waiting. "This is Major Clayton, Mr. Larkins.

you something to explain our recephave been with us. On your return I will be pleased to have you breakfast with me, and a flag of truce is order-

Larkins would with Major Clayton walking down the road fill they came to a clouring. A file of soldiers were standing, resting on their arms. Seeing the major approach, an officer went to a tent surrounded by a guard. zen's dress and place I him before the

He looked enough like Laritins to be his brother. The Britisher know at on e that a spy was to be executed. To rning, he walked back to the general's headquar "Permit me to offer my apologies." said the latter. "The man you say taken out for execution is a northern man who was spying on as under cov er of forged papers of British citizen ship. This coincidence and the fact that he resembles you caused as to beleve we had got one we have been Aooking for Our entelling him is a blessing to you, for we had about made up our minds to try you by drumbead court martial and shoot you." Lurkius now saw through all that had occurred. The most mortifying circumstance was his realization that written communication for her to Pres | the southern beauty had been set upon him to endeavor to tempt him to betray himself as a spy if he really was one Satisfied with his experience, he returned to England without service

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA Backache Almost Unbarable

Is almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 803 E. Olive stret, Bloomington, Ill., says

One of Mad Anthony Wayne's Remarkable Achievements.

STORMING OF STONY POINT.

This Brilliant Feat of Arms, In Which Success Was Won at the Point of the Bayonet Was One of the Most Des perate Incidents of Any War.

One of the most marvelous achieve ments credited to American bravery and strategy was that of the capture of Stony Point by Mad Anthony Wayne, who was one of the most ple turesque figures of the American revolution. When he was superseded in command of the Pennsylvania line. even after his brilliant success at Monmouth on June 28, 1778, a less ambitious and patriotic man would have resigned his commission. It seemed the Irony of fate that the setback in his career should follow so closely the official encomiums for his work at Monmouth, but that very setback gave him Stony Point-the greatest opportunity of his life-and he made good.

There were two important factors, discipline and valor, that entered into this remarkable achievement the canture of a fortress on the Hudson held by the British and considered almost impregnable. Stony Point was an island and the fortress was built on a rock which was precipitous and rough. It was guarded by three redoubts and protected by a double abatis of logs that extended across the peninsula. The post was garrisoned by 607 men, who felt so secure in their position that they were wont to refer to the post as the "Little Gibraltar."

On July 14 General Wayne assembled all his troops at Sandy Beach. and at that moment none of his soldiers knew the plans of their commander. The following day the march began over a wilderness trail and in perfect silence. Not a man was allowed to leave the column under penalty of death. By 8 o'clock that night they were within one and one-half miles of the British fortress. Then the men were told of the desperate work ahead of them and the battle order read.

No man was allowed to load his musket, and the battle was to be won or lost with the bayonet alone. portion of the order provided that any man found retreating a single foot was to be put to death at once.

Close to midnight the order to adrance was given. The fort was to be attacked from all sides. Once in motion General Wayne lost no time. The British opened fire with guns, both great and small. Seventeen of the twenty men in one advance guard were shot down, but the companies in the rear eagerly pressed on. General Wayne himself, struck in the head with a musket ball, fell stunned. He recovered in a moment and, rising on ne knee, shouted: "March on! March on!" Then, turning to his aids he begged them to take him into the fort position. Colonel Fleury, a French officer in the American service, at the head of his determined band forced his way up the redoubt and as the soldiers poured into the fort grasped the British flag and lowered it. The victory was complete. The British ost 53 killed and 543 taken prisoners, of whom 70 were wounded. The Americans lost 15 killed and had 83 wounded. It was one of the most faring and desperate incidents of any From every point of view the stortning of Stony Point was a remarkable feat of arms, but back of the success of hat night was a story of preparedness, the cause which has always been overshadowed by the brilliancy of the result. General Wayne had trained his men, stimulated their pride, enforced rigid discipline, had them at the point of attack at the right moment and then with inspiring valor led them

The victory at Stony Point naturally aroused a tremendous enthusiasm, and it came at the right time. The counfry was depressed if not quite discouraged, and Stony Point was like a tonic. it gave the people more strength, more courage and at a time when they sadneeded it. Not only did General Wayne receive official recognition, but be was in receipt of bundreds of congratulatory letters expressing popular and professional opinion - Chicago

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A Cold, Lagrippe, then Pneumonia

It is too often the fatal sequenand coughs that hang on weak en the system and lower the vital resistance. Feley's Honey and Tar Compound is a reliable medi-cine that stops the cough promby healing the cause; soothes he inflamed air passages, and checks the cold. Keep always on hand. Refuse substisutes. Jones

Very Serious It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the gunuine-

THEDFORDS BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indugestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined. SOLD IN TOWN

A REAL MAGIC CAP.

Curious Experience of a German Organist In St. Petersburg.

Not very long ago a German organist who went to St. Petersburg to live had there an experience with a new cap that for a time almost made him believe in the magic of the Teutonic

The organist bought the cap during his first day at the Russian capital and wore it the next day when he went out for a walk. On his return to his lodgings he was amazed to find two gold purses in his pocket, one of which contained a sum equivalent to $50.

The next day, after his usual walk, he found four purses in his outside pocket, a find that caused him to doubt his senses. A third day, with a similar profitable result, sent him to the chief of police to tell his story.

The authorities detailed a detective to go with the German to the tailor who made the cap. Investigation disclosed the fact that it had been constructed of an odd piece of English cloth brought in by a stranger. From it the tailor had made fifteen identical caps to order. Having a bit left, he fakers, had constructed a sixteenth cap, which was the one sold to the organist.

The detective then followed the or ganist through the streets of the city, when the mystery was solved. The cap, it appears, was the emblem of a gang of pickpockets working co-operatively. The one who secured a purse dropped it into the pocket of the first confederate he saw. The cap had identified the German, and he had reaped the reward.

With this clew it was an easy matter for the Russian authorities to catch the whole gang .- Youth's Companion.

The Port of Workless Men. One morning we passed through a square in Moscow containing nothing but men-wild eyed, long baired long bearded men-men in rags, most of them, and all of them compelled to come there and wait to be hired to To that square must all workingmen go who seek work. The city feeds them while they wait a single small piece of black bread each day Some never leave that sounce, but walt there their lifetime through. They gazed upon our handsome landau with hungry and wolfish eyes. I never be fore beheld so frightful, unkempt company of hopeless, hapless, hangry human slaves as these Russian work ingmen who waited for a job.-Wil Ham Seymour Edwards in "Through

"Now, Johnny," said the teacher after she had explained the meaning of the word, "I wish you would write a sentence containing 'defeat.' After a struggle which lasted for about twenty minutes Johnny announced that he was ready to be heard. "Please read your composition," the teacher directed. "When you git shoes dat's too tite," Johnny read, "it's hard on de feet."-Chicago Record-Herald.

Scandinavia to Moscow."

How Cold Causes Kidney Disease

would die at the head of his column.

General Wayne's wound drove his followers to a frenzy. They dashed up the hill and battered down all operations of the strengthen the kidneys are perfectly as the property of the prope give tone to the urinary organs and restore the normal actoin of the bladder. They are tonic in ac-tion, quick in results. Try them. Jones Drug Co.

MALARIA

headache, biliousness, indigestion, rheumatism, pimples, blotches, yellow complexion, etc., are all signs of poisons in your blood. These poisons should be driven out, or serious illness may result. To get rid of them, use the old, reliable, purely vegetable, liver medicine.

Thedford's Black-Draught

Mrs. J. H. Easler, of Spartanburg, S. C., says: "I had sick headache, for years. I felt bad most of the time, I tried Thed-ford's Black-Draught, and now I feel better than when I was 16 years old." Your druggist sells it, in 25 cent packages.

Insist on Thedford's

An Honest Incubator At an Honest Price

FORTUNE TELLING

I overheard this: "What do you think? I had my fortune told today.

"Yes. And what did the woman tell you?" "Oh, a lot of things Do you know, believe there is something in it. She said I laid a fortune coming to me from the old country, and that's true. and I am to take a big journey. And my life line is crossed by a great sorrow. And-"Let me see-

"Oh. yes. I am to be married twice. A dark haired man and a blond wo man are mixed up in my destiny, and an enemy will cause me trouble. The gypsy asked me the date of my birth, and my horoscope shows"-

And both women agreed they had been considerably disturbed by the babblings of some swarthy crope of the alleged revelations of some paint reader or star prophet. Foolish ones!

If one may judge by the advertise ments of the chairvoyants and me dlums and their like there must be a host of people who patronze the Silly tribe of humans! What, think you, do the poor itinerants who go faking from place to place know about the future?

When reduced to the last analysis they "reveal" very little of a startling If you live long enough you are likely to make a journey, if one amounts to anything he will have one or more enemies, sorrow is the common heritage of the race, there are a lot of black pary fortunes coming. With plenty of trouble in the world why reach out for more-at the end of a fifty cent plece?

haired men and blond women in the world, and most persons have imagi-

Witless patrons! How humans have been fooled by the folk who, from the witch of Endor down, have assumed to "summon spirits from the vasty deep"-for a small price in hand paid!

The future is veiled. And happily so. Do you fancy Prov idence has committed itself to some greasy gypsy or soothsaying peddler? Let the future be. The present is all

He who vainly tries to peer down the vista of coming days is as one who starts into a tangled maze of windings where, as old Omar says-

You "come out by the same door wherein you went."

A Cneerful Suggestion. Not long ago a stock of crockery was sold at auction, and Mrs. Wilson attended the sale. When she returned her face was radiant with joy.

"You must join the cremation society," were the first words she said to her husband. Mr. W .- What for?

Mrs. W.-I've bought such a lovely vase to hold your ashes! You have no idea how it will set off the mantelplece.-London Answers.

Has a Right to Be Resentful. "I don't mind baving my trousers, my coat, my necktie or even my collar splashed with mud by an automobile." ays a South Broad street man. "But when one motorcar spatters my spectacles so that I can't see to dodge the next one I think I have a right to feel resentful."-Newark News.

Showed It. Dora-Do you think it would be concelted of me to say I made this dress myself? Grace (sweetly)-Not conceited, dear; only superfluous. - London Watch Dog.

The Oregon Home Builders Builders of Homes.

"PROFIT-SHARING Investment Certificates are REAL Money Makers

Send for Booklet 60456 Corbett Bldg Portland Ore

Germs Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

Jones Drug Co., Oregon City.

The Courier's Ad.

For the benefit of Courier Readers in particular, and for the Courier's benefit on the side, we offer to Clackamas County, or any other old county, the following big combination bargains

FOR THE CAMPAIGN OF 1912

The Oregonian, Daily, $6.00 and Courier

The Regular P. ice of the Oregonian is $6.00 The Journal, Daily, 5.40 and Courier, both Weekly Oregonian 2.00 and Courier, both Semi-Weekly Journal 2.00 and Courier, both Bryan's Commoner

This offer holds good during February

Read Both Sides. Keep Informed

OREGON CITY COURIER

SUBSCRIPTION DEPARTMENT

and Courier

Office in Favorite Cigar Store Phone 1121 Opposite Masonic Building Res. 1833

Williams Bros. Transfer Co. Safes, Pianos and Furniture Moving a Specialty

Freight and Parcels Delivered Prices reasonable and Satisfaction Guaranteed

The Courier will stand by any man when he stands right, and quit him when he goes wrong.