

Consult a Qualified Optician

It is not so long ago that people were content to choose glasses in much the same way they would buy boots at the "bargain counter," or some new "cure-all" from the touring quack on Main street.

But the eyesight is too precious to experiment with—and today most people realize it.

If you have an eye trouble consult our qualified Optician.

He will give you expert examination and precisely the help you need.

NEWS OF THE CITY

DR. CLYDE MOUNT, Dentist, Masonic Temple.

The special election is Tuesday next. Think it over.

Born Tuesday, to Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Eastham, a son.

For Sale—two heavy draft coils two years old. George Bliss, Carus, Oregon City, Rt. 3.

M. Babler, a well known Logan resident, was in this city transacting business Tuesday.

"I have lived in Oregon for 20 years, and this is the first year." Why a fellow gets so he can almost sing it.

Captain Phillips has the basement excavated for a handsome new home adjoining Senator Dimick's place on Center street.

They used to say that it never rained in the Willamette valley in June and July, but we get showers right along every week just the same.

For sale—buggy box, cushion and seat, entirely new, ironed ready for the top. A bargain. D. F. Whiteman, rural mail carrier, Rt. 2.

J. D. Olson of the Portland Journal has been stationed here and will open an office this week. He will cover the city for that paper.

Jack Hanny of Camas, Wash., was in this city the first of the week, the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hanny, on 14th Street.

Miss Hazel Toozee has returned from Gearhart Park, where she was a delegate to the Y. W. C. A. Convention held in that city last week.

Oregon City is the best town in Oregon, and you have only to ask any traveling man (the business thermometer) to prove the truth of this statement.

You can hardly find a street but has one or more new houses on it, and the fifty new houses the Willamette Paper Co. will build will break all records for the growth of Oregon City for a year.

O, but what crops there are in Oregon this year.

R. W. Brown of Milwaukee, visited Oregon City friends Sunday.

Miss Olga McClure of Portland, was the guest of Oregon City friends Sunday.

Miss Alice Bailey, who has been spending the past two months visiting relatives in eastern Oregon, has returned to this city.

The Courier force is celebrating in honor of Mr. Fourth of July, the biggest man this country ever produced, so if this week's issue is a little shy, forget it.

Chautauqua never attempted such an array of attractions as its program contains this year. And if the people show their appreciation such programs will be arranged for every summer.

Mrs. J. P. Keating had two children, Rodney and Virginia, who have been the guests of Mrs. Keating's sisters, the Misses Cochran, have returned to their home in Portland.

But two days in June did the temperature register as high as 75, and July 1 opened with the old mercury hugging 65. Oregon is a pretty good old dump of a state to live in—you don't melt or blow away.

Miss Esther Johnson of Forest Grove, who was assistant principal of the Oregon City High school a year ago, and who taught in Alaska last winter, visited in this city Monday. Miss Johnson is studying violin with Leon Des Larzes.

There are five propositions for the voters to pass on next Tuesday. Three of them are under one proposition and must be voted on collectively, the wharf, the elevator and the public ground. The matter of a fire alarm system and the new charter are separate propositions.

Tom Fairclough and H. Kruger are in from Ogle mine for a few days' change. Mr. Kruger has not been outside of the mine for eight months, and when he looked over the every-day rush on our streets he wanted to know if the people had already started a fourth of July celebration.

Green Point Hose Co. No. 5 gave a delightful ice cream social at their fire house Tuesday evening, at which their families were guests. Instrumental and vocal music was rendered, and speeches were made by Mayor G. B. Dimick, Fire Chief Charles Hannaford, F. J. Toozee and members of the department. During the evening sandwiches, ice cream and cake were served. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

A representative of the Dun's commercial agency was in this city Saturday, just returned from a driving trip all over Clackamas county, and to a Courier man he said he was simply astounded at the richness of his wonderful county. He said it was the equal if not ahead of the famous Hood River country, and that the day would come when the country around Boring would be raising apples that would rival that famous locality. This gentleman said that Clackamas county was only in its swaddling dresses as yet, and that its development had only begun.

The members of St. John's sewing club pleasantly surprised Mrs. J. W. McMillan at her home in Gladstone Monday afternoon, arriving there at 1:30 and spending the afternoon. Mrs. McMillan and family left the following day for Astoria, where they will spend the summer months. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in conversation and music, and delicious refreshments were served. The following ladies were present: Mrs. J. Hanny, Mrs. M. Clancey, Mrs. Matt Raber, Mrs. M. Michels, Mrs. T. O'Neil, Mrs. L. G. Lee, Mrs. M. Justin, Mrs. K. Michels, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. R. Burns, Mrs. James McMahon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Armstrong have moved into one of the Logos houses on 9th street.

Ernest Rands has returned from Siletz, where he has been on a surveying trip for the past two weeks.

Mrs. M. Johns of Portland, a former resident of this city, was visiting friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith left the first of the week for Alaska, where they will spend the summer.

It's not a question of whether you can afford to attend Chautauqua this year—it's a question whether you can afford not to.

Why doesn't the city council protect the city's trees as much as the telephone companies do their poles?

Misses Bertha and Celia Goldsmith have returned from Eugene, where they were guests of relatives last week.

Miss Violet Johnson, of Portland, a former resident of this city, was the guest of Oregon City friends Sunday.

Miss Lorraine Parker of Independence, was in this city visiting her sister, Miss Myrtle Parker, and brother Charles Parker.

Miss Nettie Burgoyne, formerly of this city, but now of Tacoma, Washington, was the guest of her brother, Herman Burgoyne, Sat.

Dan Hogan of Portland, a representative of the Acme Paint and Varnish Co., was transacting business in this city Monday.

And already there is talk that the west side will incorporate and have a little city of its own. As fast as you hear a man say this, shoot him.

Mrs. J. McMillan and children left Tuesday for Astoria, where they will join Mr. McMillan, who has been there for the past month. They will remain in Astoria until about September 1.

B. N. Hicks, an attorney from Oklahoma, who recently came to this city, has opened a law office in the Weinhard Building. Mr. Hicks' family will join him here some time during the month.

In the case of Arthur V. Needham against John Haggard, Judge Campbell dismissed the suit Monday. Needham brought suit to eject the defendant from from the occupation of two lots in Sellwood Gardens, upon which the latter had made part payments.

An eastern cutlery factory that will sustain fifty families wants to come here. A milk condensary with an investment of half a million dollars wants to come here. There's a way to get them, but it is not by sitting down and talking about it. The way to get them is to get them.

Dr. F. B. Ford will preach next Sunday evening on the "Passing of the Old Political System and the New Order," and he invites the public, especially those who are interested in the present political crisis. Service at 7:45 p. m., the morning sermon at 10:45.

Philip Leichtweis of Molalla, was in the city on business matters the other day, and was a caller at the Courier office. Mr. Leichtweis is we believe the oldest subscriber on the Courier's records, he having taken the paper for 26 years.

The Hawley Paper Co. adding a big $80,000 mill, the government starting a $750,000 locks canal, the Willamette Co. building fifty new houses, and with new houses and public buildings going up all over the city—well, things are looking pretty bright for the future.

The eastern cutlery factory that wants to locate here has been offered all it asks by Medford, but the company wants the terminal rates this city is going to have. But the company will not force its way in. Our people must make a stir if we locate this industry that pays the highest wages of any skilled workmen manufactory.

With the growth the west side is bound to have following the Southern Pacific's big work and the completion of the locks canal, then will have to come a new suspension bridge, but this one a much larger one, partly paid for by the street car companies which will use, and with wide sidewalks on both sides.

Next Tuesday is the opening of Chautauqua, and from the interest and talk in the city it will be a pretty good place to take a census of the city in the next two weeks. Secretary Cross has certainly arranged a splendid program, and no family in Oregon City can afford to let such an entertainment go by without attending some part of it.

On the big telephone poles you will see signs posted offering a reward of fifty dollars for anyone mutilating them. Yet the linemen will shin up your shade trees and use his ax and saw till his heart is content with mutilation, and until the limbs of the trees shall not touch those precious wires.

If there isn't there should be a city ordinance that would make criminal any person climbing into and mutilating a shade tree. A man can't stand with a shot gun to protect his trees all the time. If a private individual should should climb into one of these trees and go to butchering it we would make him hump fast enough.

Next Tuesday is the day the voters will pass on the three propositions and on the city charter. It seems strange that there is so little talk or discussion of these important matters. One would never know there was a special city election within a hundred miles. But at the same time this apparent indifference is little to judge by. Now a days the people think out these propositions all by their lonesome, and then they vote.

ONE BIG DAY OF SPORT.

Willamette Company Give Employees Splendid Entertainment.

The big fourth of July celebration given by the Willamette Paper Company is on as this paper goes to press, and there are hundreds of men, women and children enjoying the day, the refreshments and the splendid outing.

This big celebration will no doubt cost the company a lot of money, but the Courier believes it is a splendid investment, and that the managers did the right and handsome thing to provide their employees with this day of recreation and enjoyment.

The proper thing for the workmen and employers is to get closer together, to have a feeling of fellowship and to do away with the foolish class prejudice. When a man has his heart in his work and with his employers he is a valuable man, when he has not he is simply a machine marking time.

The managers of the Willamette company have taken a step in the right way to get the men and the employers closer together. It was a splendid day of sport and one the employees highly appreciate and will long remember.

And along the same lines why would it not be a good idea for the smaller concerns, the printing plants, the stores and offices to all get together on some day of the future and give their employees the same kind of a sport day as this paper company has inaugurated?

WILSON AND MARSHALL.

The People win at Baltimore with Strong Progressive Ticket.

There probably is not a reader of the Courier but who knows the ticket the Democratic national convention nominated at Baltimore, and it would be like a twice told tale to rehearse the details. Woodrow Wilson was nominated, not by the trusts and the bosses, but despite them, and that popular progressive, Governor Marshall of Indiana, was chosen as his running mate.

Bryan brought about the nomination of Wilson, forced Wall Street to keep its hands off, and then put the party on one of the broadest and most progressive platforms that was ever before the American people.

The nomination of Wilson and the adoption of the platform kills the necessity of Roosevelt's new party, and sounds the dirge for the old Republican party.

MURDER, FIRST DEGREE.

Jack Roberts Gets the Full Penalty for Auto Murder.

Jack Roberts, charged with the murder of Donald McLoud Stewart, by shooting him in an automobile on the Whitehouse road, June 3, was convicted of murder, first degree, Wednesday, and will be sentenced Saturday.

Roberts received the sentence with indifference.

Multnomah Pays the Costs.

We have never heard any criticism because Sheriff Mass permitted the Jack Roberts murder trial to go to Multnomah county. The murder was committed in this county, and the man could have been tried here, but the sheriff did not make any very loud noise when Portland wanted to try the case. And the taxpayers of Clackamas aren't kicking, either.

WOMAN'S CLUB COMMITTEES.

Appointments Made for the Coming Working Year.

The Women's Club and the Live Wires discontinue their meetings during the summer months, and at their meeting in the Commercial Club parlors last week when the newly elected officers and the committees appointed were installed, as follows:

Educational—Mrs. T. E. Beard, Mrs. George Harding, Mrs. M. M. Charman.

Calendar—Mrs. W. A. White, Mrs. E. P. Rands, Mrs. L. E. Jones, Mrs. Rosina Fouts, Mrs. Edward Schwab, Mrs. W. B. Ellis, Mrs. Duncan Shanks, Mrs. E. T. Fields, Miss Cis Pratt.

Auditing—Mrs. Theodore Osmond, Mrs. E. T. Avison.

Civic Improvement—Mrs. J. W. Norris, Mrs. C. G. Miller, Mrs. J. J. Tobin.

Music—Mrs. A. A. Price, Mrs. Theodore Osmond, Mrs. C. G. Miller, Mrs. Walter Wentworth, Miss Myrtle Buchanan.

There will not be any more meetings of the club until the second Thursday in October, when the organization will take up an active session again.

Cheney-Hinz Wedding.

Miss Ethel Cheney and Mr. William Hinz, both former residents of this city, were married in Portland Sunday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Dodson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. S. Bollinger, of the Highland Congregational church, who was also a former resident of this city. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon over white taffeta, and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas.

During the ceremony Mrs. Mrs. Thomas Keith, sister of the bride, sang very beautifully "Perfect Day." Sweet peas and roses were used very effectively as decorations in the different rooms. During the evening refreshments were served. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hinz will make their home in Portland.

Don't you miss Chautauqua this year—you can't afford to.

E. R. Case, a horse trader, was arrested and fined $10 Monday for allowing his horses to stand on the streets for longer than two hours. Mr. Case claims that Policeman Shaw persecuted him in the arrest, but Shaw says this is not the first offense, but that he did not arrest him before as he thought a warning would be sufficient.

McLoughlin Memorial Association Elects Officers.

The following directors of the McLoughlin Memorial association were elected Saturday night: E. G. Caulfield, J. E. Hedges, G. A. Harding, C. H. Dye, Rev. A. Hillebrand, Frederick V. Holman, E. E. Brodie, Dr. Andrews, C. Smith and George H. Himes.

Following the meeting of the Association the directors elected the following officers: E. G. Caulfield, president; Rev. A. Hillebrand vice president; J. E. Hedges, secretary; The Bank of Oregon City, treasurer.

STUBBORN IN POLITICS.

A National Movement to Which He Was Violently Opposed.

At the meeting of the Illinois Bar association Judge Theodore Brentano of the superior court told of a case tried before him several years ago at which the late Jim Evans, a widely known and universally liked newspaper writer, was a witness. Evans had given important evidence, and the opposing attorney was doing his best to shake his testimony.

He had made Evans go back over his past life and was questioning him regarding the different positions he had held.

Jim was telling of a period of his early newspaper days when he had held many places and none for long.

"Then where did you go?" thundered the lawyer after Evans had told of working a few days in the southwest.

"To Dallas, Tex. Worked two weeks," replied Evans.

"Why did you change?" asked the lawyer.

"My boss and I could not agree upon a question of national policy," was the answer.

"Then where did you go?" "To New Orleans. Left there in a week."

"And what was the reason this time?" from the attorney.

"Same thing," answered Evans with a smile. "The proprietor and I found that we did not agree upon a political question of national importance."

The same answer was given as Evans told of numerous other places he had taken and given up. The attorney finally gave up his attempt to break down Evans with the remark, "You must be a hard man to get along with if you have such set political ideas."

A few days after the case had been decided Judge Brentano met Evans on the street.

"Say, Jim," he asked, "what was that question of national importance that cost you so many jobs? What did you and your bosses disagree over?"

"Prohibition," answered Evans with a smile.—Chicago Tribune.

French With a Brogue.

A story is told of a certain mayor of Cork who headed a deputation to the emperor of the French and commenced an oration to his majesty in what he conceived to be the French tongue. "Pardon me," said the emperor, after he had listened to the speech with much patience. "English I know fairly well; but, I regret to say, I have never had an opportunity of studying the Irish language."

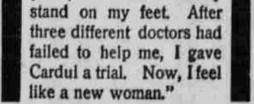

My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. The pain ceased and the child sank into a restful sleep.—Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

The Courier has readers, a lot of them, and live ones. An ad. does the biz.

"I Am Well"

writes Mrs. L. R. Barker, of Bud, Ky., "and can do all my housework. For years I suffered with such pains, I could scarcely stand on my feet. After three different doctors had failed to help me, I gave Cardui a trial. Now, I feel like a new woman."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

A woman's health depends so much upon her delicate organs, that the least trouble there affects her whole system. It is the little things that count, in a woman's life and health. If you suffer from any of the aches and pains, due to womanly weakness, take Cardui at once, and avoid more serious troubles. We urge you to try it. Begin today.

YOUR DAILY PROBLEM OF WHAT TO EAT IS VERY EASILY SOLVED

Pass it on to us. It is not what you eat that has alone to be considered--it is the quality of what you eat. It is easy to say "Lets have some special dish for dinner," but the mere buying of the materials for that dish does not make your dinner a success. You must have the best of everything to get the fullest enjoyment from the meal.

Our reputation is built on selling the best of groceries. We have studied the "What to Eat" problem for our own sake as well as YOURS. Come in and let us talk it over.
