PYRAMID OF GIZEH NO LONGER ENIGMATIC.

Unexpected Conclusions. The very stones of the Great Pyramid of Gizeh are crying out in no uncertain tones. Every inch of the massive structure, with unerring precision, reveals the solutions to problems which for centuries civilized nations have spent fabulous sums in vain to find and which men of science have encountered hardships to analyze.

A Queer African Plant.

In South Africa there is found a plant of the genus mesembryanthemum growing on stony ground which so closely resembles a pebble that it is invariably taken by the stranger to be a stone.

GARDEN CITIES IMPROVE RACE

Children Raised in Them Larger Than Those of Slums.

OUR TENEMENTS A MENACE.

Henry Vivian, Chairman of English Movement, Says Poor Quarters in Some American Cities Are Worse Than Any in Europe.

Henry Vivian, chairman of the co-partnership tenants' movement in England and an ex member of parliament from Birkenhead, described the growth of the garden city idea in England at a dinner given to him at the City club of New York.

Mr. Vivian has spent six weeks in this country and Canada studying the problem of housing persons in cities. He said that he had found slums on this continent worse than any in Europe.

To illustrate the value of suburban garden towns for the housing of workmen of large cities and their families Mr. Vivian gave some interesting statistics.

These statistics were gathered by a committee of parliament, of which Mr

EFFECT OF THE ENGLISH MOVEMENT IN A BEAUTIFUL LONDON SUBURB.

Vivian was a member. On the report of this committee the housing and town planning act was passed in 1909 by parliament. This act gave government support to the building of ideal suburbs around the great centers of population in the British Isles.

The co-partnership tenants' movement, Mr. Vivian said, had designed suburbs near Liverpool, Hampstead, Ealing, Manchester, Birmingham, Stoke on Trent and elsewhere. The most perfect type of the garden city, he said, was at Hampstead. One of the cardinal principles in laying out such a suburb, he said, was to leave the trees untouched so far as possible.

The piece did not appeal to the men, though, and they failed to applaud with any degree of heartiness. After the curtain fell McGraw scolded them for this lack of warmth.

"Here, you fellows come in here free and have the best seats the house affords, and then you sit stock still like a row of dumplings!" he said. "I hope this doesn't happen again."

The very next afternoon one of the veterans halted the youngster at practice on the Polo grounds.

"Well, kid," he said, "more big doin's tonight! Mac's going to take us to the theater."

"What's the show?" asked the green hand.

"The show," said the veteran, "is 'Bought and Paid For.'"

"Thank the Lord for that!" said the youngster fervently. "If it's rotten we won't have to applaud."—Saturday Evening Post.

A Brave Ache. Of brave deeds done upon the battlefield and amid the thunder of cannons and the cries of the wounded and dying, of heroes of the Victoria cross, and great generals who rose from small beginnings, the teacher told her class, firing them with enthusiasm for their mother country.

Motto For a Station. Vice President Sherman and a senator from Alabama were in front of the new Union station, within a stone's throw of the capitol.

ROUNDED OUT THE JOKE.

Two Well Set Traps, Each of Which Snared Its Quarry.

At the recent homeopathic convention at the Delaware Water Gap Dr. August Wornadoerfer, Jr., told a story about a brother specialist who is an authority on the stomach.

"Blank," he said, "was traveling in the west, where they are all great jokers. At a western country club a jocular looking stranger accosted Blank and said:

"Dr. Blank, I believe?" "Yes, sir, thank you."

"The great Dr. Blank?" "Well, er—well, yes, I have been called—er—by that name."

"The Dr. Blank who treats stomachs?" "Precisely, sir."

"Then, Dr. Blank, as it's the luncheon hour and our table d'hote is excellent I wish you'd treat mine," said the joker.

"Dr. Blank's veins, as we all know, run rich with generous sporting blood."

A Prayer. Teach me, Father, how to go softly as the grasses grow.

A Wise Father. When Sherman Hoar, a lawyer of recognized ability, left the law school and opened an office in Boston his father, Judge Hoar, at the height of his legal reputation, the young man's first client was an Irishman, and the case, though only some small matter of a boundary line, was one that required the examination of a number of deeds and records.

Locating Othello. A masterpiece of censorship was once performed by the Turkish censor, Nischan Effendi, on the occasion of the production of Shakespeare's "Othello" at Constantinople.

Clear Case of Bunke. During a New York performance of "Rip Van Winkle" by the late Joseph Jefferson, the theater manager, who was standing in the lobby, observed a countryman hovering about the entrance in an uncertain way.

Free at Last. It is the custom among some of the New York theatrical managers occasionally to entertain the members of the local ball teams at their theaters.
