SOCIAL MATTERS.

Mr. John F. Clark and Mrs. Leon DesLarzes were the hostesses of the Derthick Club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clark on the West side and which was one of the most interesting and instructive meetings held by the club. The afternoon was devoted to a musical programme, the vocal soloist being Miss Thelma Water, of New York. Miss Water is possessed of a beautiful contralto voice, and sang with much expression her selections, which included "Ah Mine Fils," "The Cry From the House Top," "Young Thomas of Devon," "Faust," Miss Louise Huntley, one of the well known young pianists of this city was the accompanist for Miss Water. Miss Water's solos were preceded by reading the sketch of the opera "Le Prophete" by Mrs. William A. Huntley. This opera was composed by Meyerbeer.

After the programme was enjoyed, the hostesses of the afternoon served refreshments. Large bunches of Oregon grape were used with artistic effect in the decorating of the rooms of the Clark home. The next meeting of the club will be held on Valentines Day at the home of Mrs. W. A. Huntley, when she will be assisted in entertaining the club by Mrs. L. A. Adams.

Those attending the meeting at the Clark home were: Mrs. L. Adams, Mrs. Lydia Olmsted, Mrs. Theodore Osmund, Mrs. Neita Lawrence, Mrs. G. A. Harding, Mrs. J. W. Moffatt, Mrs. Anna Sicker Hayes, Mrs. W. A. Huntley, Mrs. Louise Henderson, Mrs. R. C. Ganong, Mrs. Thomas Burke, Mrs. Carl Joehnk, Mrs. J. E. Hedger, Mrs. Leon DesLarzes, Mrs. E. A. Chapman, Mrs. J. F. Clark, Miss Louise Huntley, Miss Kathleen Harrison, Miss Marjorie Caufield.

One of the social events of the season was the dancing party given by the Fol De Rols at Busch's Hall Friday evening, which was attended by several hundred young people of this city. Olson's orchestra furnished excellent music for the dancing.

The hall never looked more beautiful or attractive as it did on this occasion and the committee having charge of the same deserved the praise given them on that evening by their guests. Hundreds of college pennants, of every size and color were gracefully arranged along the walls and between each window these were centered with bright colored Indian robes. The orchestra was stationed at the rear of a screen formed of the same.

Many beautiful gowns were in evidence. This is the first of a series of dances given by this club, and the members are already planning for the next, which promises to be a most novel affair.

There is no doubt everybody will turn out to assist the Hook and Ladder Company to make its anniversary ball, which will be held at Busch's Hall February 22, a grand success. The firemen never fail to give their guests a royal good time, and arrangements have been completed for the affair. Fox's orchestra, of Portland, which is well known in Oregon City, having already established a reputation for itself, has been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion. The hall is to be gaily decorated in the National colors appropriate for the occasion.

The committee in charge of the ball is composed of Dr. A. L. Beatie, Thomas Trembath and Webb Burns.

The annual masque ball given by the German Verein at Busch's Hall Saturday evening was very successful. Long before the arrival of the masquers, the hall was filled with spectators, who too, enjoyed the dancing after the masques had been removed at 10 o'clock. There were grotesque costumes, pretty costumes, cute costumes and some that weren't so cute, and all had a good time dancing to Parson's orchestra of Portland. The affair was a big success both socially and financially.

Those winning prizes for their masques were: Miss Hopper, Peter Klooster, Edward Miller, Miss Loreta Raber.

During the evening the women of the Verein served luncheon in the dining room adjoining.

NEWS AND COMMENTS

Twilight Writer Combines News and Comments.

T. J. Kelland, whose barn went down with the recent snow fall, will erect a much better one on the opposite side of the street from his residence.

Mr. G. M. Lazelle will also replace his sheds, which were wrecked in a similar manner, by a more serviceable structure. Both buildings will go up in the early spring.

Paul Ellings is erecting a small barn on the Bailey tract, but lately purchased by him.

Mr. William McCord, after heaving out of the forests one of the largest and best ranches in this neighborhood has arrived at a point where he can and announces that he has, obliterated by his other possessions "worry" and in lieu thereof has broken into society, and really seems to enjoy it. At any rate he is excellent company.

Bargain sales of an article of merchandise at $1.49 that previously sold for $2.50 means one of two things; originally an exorbitant profit or a falsehood. We generally give the advertiser the benefit of the latter belief.

Why should the United States government pay a messenger $780.00 for carrying the electoral vote from Oregon to Washington when there are thousands of men in our state just as capable and anxious for the job at one third the price, or less? It is but the rankest graft of the people's money, and is insolently given the press by telegraph thus hurrying at the taxpayer the slogan "The People be Damned."

Miss Ruby McCord saw the "Divine Sarah" in Portland last week.

"Back to the City" is becoming quite a fad in the rural districts, among the "better half" element. Although quite wet, many of our farmers are breaking ground preparatory to sowing grain, that the early fall rain made impossible at the usual season.

A young lady from our community opened up a salinary experiment station at Seattle and her first victim is an unsuspecting brother. G. N. Page of this vicinity, has been removed from the Oregon City Hospital to the home of his daughter in Oregon City much improved in health.

G. M. Lazelle and his boy, called on New Era friends Sunday.

The Community Club meets at the usual hour and place next Saturday evening.

A movement is on foot to secure the building of a permanent roadway this coming season, over the mud-flats of the South End road.

RECOLLECTIONS OF CIVIL WAR.

(The following poem was read by Frank Moore, at the meeting of Meade Post, G. A. R. Saturday Last.)

When the cotton states seceded and declared themselves for war, In the north were many doubters, many thought they'd gone too far. When the rebels fired on Sumter, and the air was filled with smoke It was then that all the doubters knew, the traitors meant no joke. It was then that Father Abraham took charge of the ship of state. It was then our great commander met the issue plain and straight. At first 'twas thought few thousands of our patriotic men Would disperse the rebel forces and the flag we'd raise again. But soon it was discovered that rebellion's hosts were strong, And soon it was apparent that we'd need a mighty throng. Then another call was issued, and we yelled it o'er and o'er, "We are coming Father Abraham, three hundred thousand more." There was then a great uprising—throughout the loyal north, There was then a mighty marshaling of the legions we sent forth To the rescue of the capitol, it was in danger then.

From destruction by the rebels, who had many thousand men, And then we had a battle on Bull Run's ill-fated field. And our forces beaten backward, and the ground we had to yield. Though the blow was most discouraging, the cause was far from lost. The struggle must go onward, however great the cost. As soon as we recovered and our men again in line, The cry was "On to Richmond" by the men who stayed behind. And now the mighty Lincoln, with good and thoughtful care, Placed the gallant George McClellan in command of forces there. When the great campaign was opened in the spring of
