If you will only take down that unsightly street fence you will wonder why you did not do it years before. There is nothing you can do with so little expense to improve the looks of your residence. Don't wait for your neighbor. Take yours down and he will follow after a little. The street fence is a relic of the days when pigs and cattle ran the streets. In the clean-up this year, take yours down.

HOW IT CAME ABOUT.

Humorous Writer Explains the Ins and the Outs. (Communicated.)

Things took a certain turn in the matter of the appointment of a city engineer—a turn so sudden that some of us didn't realize what had happened until it had turned fully over and was back in position again.

G. C. Yale was appointed city engineer by Mayor Jones at the opening of his administration, and Mr. Yale appointed Major C. S. Noble as his assistant.

But it was determined that Mr. Yale did not change his shirts in Oregon City. He did this in Meldrum, a few blocks up the trolley, and the charter of Oregon City, that famous old book of 300 pages that we keep adding to, but seldom take from, expressly states, so it is alleged on information and belief, that a man must not only change his shirt, his stockings, neckties, brush his teeth and has his Mrs. (if he has one) cook his breakfast within the prescribed boundaries of Oregon City twelve straight months before he becomes eligible to make estimates of improved streets in said city.

(Let it be understood that the charter does not expressly provide that the Mrs. must cook breakfast every day. Bacon and liver are just as good for legal qualification.)

So Yale couldn't qualify. There was nothing to it. He knew he might refuse to quit or refuse to accept a discharge and possibly get away with it, but he thought better to yield to the charter and the ruling class, and he resigned—simply quit the job.

Then the council appointed in his place his assistant, Major Noble, and Noble being a full-blooded Scot and having been brought up on that good old Scotch command (or is it a Bible proverb?) "Do unto others as you would be done by" (or something along those lines) he at once made Mr. Yale assistant city engineer (on paper) at $120 per 60 days, and they say as between men (strictly a gentlemen's agreement) that is herein further stipulated and agreed that the party of the first part shall be the party of the second part; the party of the second part shall be the whole works as party of the first part, and that party of the first part recognizing the second party is the first part (when Dr. McLaughlin's charter and the councilmen are not looking) will hand over the first party's salary to the second party—in recognition that he is the real noise in the engineer's department.

And there is peace an inch thick, everybody is happy and the government still lives.

SOCIAL MATTERS.

An entertainment will be given February 20th at the First Christian church at Gladstone, the affair being in charge of Mrs. Thomas Burke, of that place. The programme will consist of solos, duets and quartets. Prof. Gustave Flechtner, a well known violinist of this city, will be among those on the programme.

Miss Lilli Schmidt, instructor in needlework on the West Side, entertained her class at her home on the West Side Saturday afternoon. Games were indulged in during the afternoon after which refreshments were served.

Present were: Cora Moore, Flossie Blackburne, Ella Parker, Elsie Buse, Mabel Ford, Ella Karlik, Frances Karlik, Edna Downing, Marie Gribble, Odella Armstrong, Gladys Montgomery, Carmen Schmidt, Neva Cooley.

Miss Esther Levitt, who recently returned to Oregon from her former home at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, accompanying her mother, Mrs. S. Levitt, have taken up their future home at 54 1/2 Fifth Street, Portland. Miss Levitt has accepted a position as book-keeper in the clothing store of her brother, J. Levitt of this city. Miss Levitt entertained at her home Tuesday evening at four tables of five hundred. Among the guests were: Mr. I. Masolnek, of Milwaukee, Mr. and Miss Pearl Barde, of Portland, the latter who has visited in this city on many occasions at the Levitt home, will become the bride of Miss Levitt's cousin, Mr. Masolnek.

The Levitt home was a bower of beauty with its decorations of roses, red carnations and Oregon grape. Miss Levitt will also entertain at a card party on Washington's birthday, which promises to be a novel affair.
