OREGON CITY.

Miss Nan Cochran - Local Editor

M. Long, of Mulino, was in Oregon City Wednesday.

Mrs. Fred Jossi, of Carus, was in Oregon City Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Driscoll of Eldorado, were in Oregon City Tuesday.

Richard Mueller and wife, of Highland, were Oregon City visitors Wednesday.

Mrs. Jacob Jossi and daughter, of Clairmont, were Oregon City visitors Wednesday.

Julius Mosberger, of Mackaburg, was among the Oregon City visitors Wednesday.

Thomas Lewis, and family, who reside near Carus, were in Oregon City Wednesday.

Mrs. Elmer Bly, and daughter, of Carus, were transacting business in Oregon City Wednesday.

Mrs. C. E. Spence, of Beaver Creek, was in Oregon City Wednesday, accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davis, also of that place.

H. G. Trullinger, of Molalla, who has been in Oregon City on business, returned to his home by the Molalla stage Wednesday afternoon.

Erick Dietrick, of Eldorado, and Ed Brenner, of Carus, have gone to the mountains, where they will locate a homestead. They left Wednesday.

Misses Mary and Clara Mitchell, who recently recovered from typhoid fever, have taken apartments at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Schultz of Twelfth and Jefferson Street.

C. E. Spence, one of the prominent farmers and grangers of Clackamas county, who is attending the Legislature session at Salem, will return to his home at Beaver Creek Sunday.

F. Randolph and A. L. White, timber cruisers of Portland, were in Oregon City Wednesday on their way to Mulino, where they will remain for a few days. They left Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. George Schultze, residing at the corner of Twelfth and Jefferson Street, who has been very ill for some time suffering from pneumonia, is improving. Mrs. Schultze was critically ill for several weeks, a trained nurse being in constant attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jack, who were called to Marquam by the illness and death of the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Jack, which occurred on Sunday, returned to Oregon City Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Jack also returned to Oregon City Tuesday evening. A. T. Jack is also a son of the late Mrs. Mary Jane Jack.

Mrs. Elsie Schoenborn, of Eldorado, and brother Harry, also of that place, came to Oregon City Wednesday. The latter returned to Eldorado Wednesday evening and Miss Elsie will remain for several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schoenborn, of Seventh and John Quincy Adams Street.

The team belonging to Michael Kroll, a well known farmer of Clairmont, took fright in this city Wednesday. Mr. Kroll was driving his team along Seventh near Monroe St. when the horses became frightened and ran at a terrific speed until they ran into a telephone pole. The horses were uninjured, but the wagon was slightly damaged.

"Box and Cox" at Eldorado.

"Box and Cox" is a playlet that will be given at the Eldorado schoolhouse Saturday evening, March 8, under the supervision of Miss B. Oswald, the teacher of the school at that place. After the play is given there will be a programme of recitations, dialogues and songs, followed by a basket supper, the baskets, which will be sold to the highest bidder, and the proceeds go towards the school. Miss Elsie Schoenborn will take the part of "Mrs. Bouncer." Harvey Schuebel has been assigned to the part of "Mr. Cox," while Harry Schoenborn will be "Mr. Box."

NEARING THE LIMIT.

Legislator is Close to the "People be Damned" Stage.

Editor Courier: It may be that the members of the State Senate, who were hypnotized by the State Superintendent's Office, think the people are hypnotized also and it may be that the State Superintendent thinks that he can play the juggler's act with the people and it may be the editorial in the Oregonian attacking Senator Dimick (said editorial having the earmarks of the State Superintendent) made friends for the school supervisor law, but I am inclined to think the entire outfit of school grafters may yet be taught that the charms of their imaginations are not guides that the people take stock in, for if the Senate blocks the repeal of that nuisance, the School Supervisor Law, the repeal of that graft law will go before the people by initiative petition. Then the State Superintendent can find out how much stock the people take in the statement "double the efficiency of the schools," and "Saved Lives" etc.

Why is he afraid to let the people decide this matter? It would have been easy to have submitted it to a referendum vote. I wonder if the people have forgotten that he was an "Aspirant Candidate?" In fact I am of the opinion that the thing that is giving the State Superintendent's office and the State University the black eye is petrified political character of their heads. Did not the president of the Monmouth "Normal" school go to the assembly politicians and try for the nomination of governor? Did not the president of the State University meet a man that a bargain might be made so that the referendum petition against the appropriation might be thrown down? Why were the friends of the Monmouth "Normal" afraid to have the appropriation go before the people on a referendum vote? They knew that they could not rip the state.

It really looks as though the "Educators" of this state have inherited Senator Vanderbilt's motto "The people be Damned," and are working their inheritance to the limit. The people say the limit is in sight. I talked with many people in Clackamas county about the School Supervisor Law, and the great majority of them considered it a graft nuisance. Mr. Gary, the Superintendent only gets one thousand dollars a year and $200 traveling expenses. Each of the supervisors $1,000 for ten months and part of their expenses.

In Coos County the school supervisor is a useless piece of furniture. The State Superintendent says the city child gets $33 a year and the country child gets $13 a year for education. The country does not have to pay any of the city's special taxes for schools but the city has to help pay this special tax for country school supervisors. In my judgement the country child gets more for $13 without a school supervisor, than the city child gets for $33 with supervisors. For among the curses that the city teacher and pupil have to endure is the top heavy load of superintendent and supervisors.

DID NOT UNDERSTAND.

When Bill Was Reconsidered, Mr. Schuebel Voted for It. Editor Oregon City Courier,

In your last week's issue you said that I voted against Senate Bill No. 108, introduced by Speaker Smith, called the Eight-hour bill. I did not vote against, but for that bill. In the morning session of the house, this bill came up for consideration, and it was voted down because many of the representatives believed it to mean a general eight-hour law, applying to common labor on farms, etc.

Now I voted against such a bill because I knew it would work a hardship on the farmer, hop-man, and orchard man, in gathering and marketing their crops before the fall rains set in, and there should be no law to oblige him to work only eight out of twenty-four hours under penalty. This would throw to waste lots of the crop for which he worked all year to get ready for harvesting.

But in the afternoon this bill was reconsidered, and after an understanding of the bill, it to apply to state and county work, and sub-contracts on the same, being the same bill the people voted on in our last general election, then I voted heartily for the bill. I wish to record myself as a firm believer of paying a man well for any and all work that he may do, but I do protest against anything that will force anyone to pay a man for merely putting in time.

Respectfully yours,
GUST. SCHNOERR.

TEN HOUR BILL PASSES

Amended to Allow Three Hours' Overtime Goes Through

The Schuebel ten-hour bill, very much amended from its original form, until Mr. Schuebel would have to be introduced to it, has passed the senate, the house will no doubt pass it, and it will go to Governor West.

The bill provides that laborers may work three hours beyond the ten-hour day, and for the extra hours he shall receive time and a half in wages.

Senator Dimick and Representative Schuebel have fought long and hard to get through a bill to stop the long shifts in the mills here, but amendments have been put in Dimick's eight hour bill so that it was defeated in the senate, and then he jumped in and helped Schuebel to fight for his.

If the bill becomes a law it will take effect May 1.

MRS. MARY JACK.

Another prominent and well-known Oregon pioneer has gone to her last resting place, being Mrs. Mary Jane Jack, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Susan Hook of Mt. Angel Sunday afternoon, after an illness of several months of Bright's disease. Although Mrs. Jack had been a great sufferer for the past month, she has borne her sufferings with fortitude. She was loved and highly respected by all who knew her, and her passing away is keenly felt by her family and many friends throughout the state. Mrs. Jack had a kind word for all and was always ready with a helping hand to give aid to those who were in need or in sickness. She was a woman that Oregon might well be proud of, having made the trip across the plains mostly by foot, when 15 years of age in company with her two brothers. She met many hardships enroute. It was at the time the Indians were warring with the whites, and Mrs. Jack, whose maiden name at that time was Mary Jane Weddle, had many close calls. The trip across the plains lasted six months, when the party arrived in Oregon.

Here Mary Jane Weddle made her home with her uncle on the Robert Allen Donation Land Claim until her marriage to William Allen Jack, 18 months after her arrival here. The Jacks made their home on the Jeremiah Jack donation land claim on Butte Creek until 18 years ago, when Mr. Jack died. Since that time Mrs. Jack has made her home with her children in Oregon City, Marquam, Silverton and Mt. Angel.

Mary Jane Weddle was born at St. Joseph, Mo., January 15, 1837. Her parents died while she was in her girlhood, and were well known residents of St. Joseph.

Mrs. Jack was a member of the Presbyterian church of Oregon City, uniting with that denomination while making her home in this city. She has been a devout Christian during her life and has accomplished much good by her Christian acts. Mrs. Jack is survived by the following children: Mrs. Susan Hook of Mt. Angel, County Assessor Jack and Allen F. Jack, a prominent merchant of this city; Barton Jack of Marquam; William Jack of Silverton; Mrs. Anetta Albright of Oregon City. The funeral services were held at the Miller cemetery near Silverton Tuesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Spencer of Silverton.

The Construction Train on the Clackamas Southern Coming Around the Hill of the Abernethy Canyon

Clackamas Southern Going Some

The great bridge over the Newell Creek canyon on the Clackamas Southern Railroad, has been completed, and trains are now passing over the large structure. The track laying crew is actively engaged in extending the track towards Beaver Creek. The people of Clackamas County had the reputation of being sleepy for years, but have awakened from their long sleep, and are now showing the other counties in the state how to do things on a large scale.

All of the hired agents and "knockers" and all barriers put in the way of this project by the Southern Pacific and its pet project, the Portland, Eugene & Eastern Railroad, have been swept aside by about five hundred sturdy citizens of Clackamas and Marion counties, and the work is still going forward.

The first division will be in operation in less than 60 days, and the Company will have all the freight it can handle. The Company received the shipping receipts Wednesday for another large shipment of new 60-lb. T. rails, and as soon as they arrive they will be placed in the Company's yards in the northern part of the city for use when the present supply is exhausted.

This road has not had the support it should have had from our own citizens, and the woods have been full of "doubting Thomases" but the good work has gone on, and other good work will go on after they are dead and gone to the "Happy Hunting Ground." The real property along the line of this road has enhanced in value and will keep advancing, as people will cause the large holdings to be cut up into small tracts for homes, and in a few years the whole country along this line will be thickly populated.

It would require less than $50,000 to finish this road and put it in operation its full length, as all the steel has been purchased, and the Company has enough subscribed through the sale of stock to finish the grade. In less than one year's time this road will be completed, and Oregon City and the country tributary to the line

Another Grange Credit.

Thousands of rural schools in a number of states began the teaching of agriculture in the fall. The grange has been an earnest advocate of this so far as we know, the first agitation for the teaching of agriculture in the rural schools was started by T. B. Hart well at the national grange meeting, November, 1878.

Public Comfort Room.

A new idea now being talked up by some of the granges is the establishment of a public comfort room in the city where most of them do their trading, where the farmer's family can feel they are free to go and rest or pass the time.

PHYLLIS

Operatta that Will Be Given at the Opera House Next Wednesday

The Presbyterian Choir of this city will present the Operatta entitled "Phyllis, the Farmer's Daughter," at Shively's Opera House next Wednesday, under the direction of Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, leader of the choir. They have been rehearsing and practicing this since last Fall and at this time are in a condition to give the public something that is very fine. There is enough comedy in the playlet to give the proper touch of mirth, and those loving music will be more than delighted as the solos, duets and choruses are very fine. Remember the date, next Wednesday, February 26.

Mrs. Hasbrook, who resides on Seventh street in the Nash building, while walking along Main street near the Moreland boarding house Wednesday afternoon, was seized with an epileptic fit and fell to the sidewalk. She was carried into the home of Mrs. Moreland, where she regained consciousness one and one-half hours after being taken ill. She was afterwards taken to her home by Miss Adah Mass and Miss Leila Moreland.

Mrs. Hasbrook was accompanied by her little daughter. She had just returned from the Oregon City Hospital, where her little two-year old child was taken Tuesday morning after suffering severe burns the day previous. The child was nearly burned alive. Mr. Hasbrook is employed at a logging camp on the Columbia River and has been advised of the serious condition of his little daughter.
