STATE CAPITOL NEWS

Solem.-At the close of what esnally the final week of the legislatve session complications came up which makes it difficult to tell just cleaned up its work and to come back for the sole purpose of considering the vetocd bills is presumed to be responsible for the action of the governor and his private secretary in utive offices. Governor West dropped out of sight Saturday and received no bills from the legislative assembly, and it was said will receive none and will not appear at the state capitol until after the legislature has finally cleaned up every bill that is on the desks of the known from an authoritative source

Governor is Criticised. West was severely criticised Satur day by members of the senate and house, as well as by attaches and emand Sunday last, with his mother at ployes, whose salaries have been held

> The governor declared during the week that Saturday being a holiday, the senate and house had no right to remain in session, but lawyers in both branches of the legislature declare is a legislative day and that the legislature could work and be well within the law. It was believed to be the plan of the governor, in order to circumvent the legislature in its determination to remain here until all vetoed bills are acted upon, to force receipt of all bills this week. This will make possible the holding of all bills in his office George Barney, Herman Waldo, made possible, but when a committee until Friday or Saturday of this week, of tax payers approach this august as he has five days on each bill to body with a prayer advocating the veto or sign or send to the secretary

> Houses May be Swamped. In event that the governor should hold in his office all of the bills yet to be passed by the legislature, to could turn in such a bunch of bills late in the week that both houses would be literally swamped and in as bad a condition then as they have been at any time during the session. Should the governor do this, it is believed that the legislature will remain here and act upon all bills, no matter how long it takes. That is the sentiment of many members, who began to scent a scheme by the executive
