Dog News and Comments

The dog catcher was out with a net catching all of the dogs that were in sight, many of which had collars on, but whether their licenses had been paid by the owners will be determined in the next few days. Many valuable pets were in the wagon which was in charge of the dog catcher, there being several councilmen on hand to see that he do his duty. There is no doubt but that most of the animals will be claimed by the owners. In the collection were: fox terriers, shepherds, collies, poodles, and several other breeds. Several of the dogs were too smart for the catcher and escaped.

There are many dogs in the city whose licenses have been paid, and whose collars were stolen from the dogs' necks after their licenses were paid, but fortunately they have their tags and receipts to show that the licenses have been paid. Any one missing his pet dog will no doubt find it in the dog pound.

There was a complaint made by the Woman's Club about dogs being a nuisance in McLoughlin Park. There were several valuable plants removed from the McLoughlin Park last year, but these were dug up with a shovel, and a detective was placed on the track and it was traced to several blocks from the park. This matter was out of print for some unknown reason. But the poor dogs are to blame for damage done. It might have been taken an educated dog carried with it a spade and dug the plants, carrying it home in its mouth to its master, but so far the "educated" dog has not been discovered.

The crusade against dogs was started through a petition of the Woman's Club to the council. It was suggested by the Women's Club that all dogs in this city should be locked up, but this was defeated by several members of the council who had some mercy for the poor dumb brutes and owners as well.
