The agents of the Co-operative supply house represent-ed to the farmers that they owned the large 4-story concrete warehouse at East 1st and Madison streets, which they occupied, and that they also owned all the goods, wares, merchandise and machinery contained in the building, and that they owned the land on which the building stood, as well as the vacant lots adjoining On February 20, 1913, the Co-Op. supply house was declared insolvent, and R. S. Sabin, secretary of the Merchants Protective associati pointed as receiver. On March 8th a meeting of the stockholders was called, and a great many "suckers" at-tended, only to learn that they had "bunked" some of them to the tune of $5,000. The so-called suckers appointed a committee of three to invest the books of the company and they learned that the Co-operative never owned more than one-half of the stock of goods on hand, and had only one year's lease on the building and real estate. There was about 14 carloads of canned goods, unlabeled, in the building, which belonged to sever-

He counted all earthly possessions insignificant compared with the Abrahamle Promise, to which he had become heir. That Esau cared nothing for the spir itual Promise and was quite content with the earthly inheritance, is manifest from the subsequent story.

In his journey toward Haran, Jacob came to Luz. He did not seek lodgings there, but placing a stone for a pillow. wrapped himself in his mantle, and lay down in a quiet spot to sleep. His deep religious convictions, his faith in the God of his father and his grandfather, his desire for a share of the Divine blessing, had made him an outcast. Doubtless he felt lonesome and heart-sick. He was leaving his friends and going, practically penniless, to find some kind of service.

"Jacob Have I Loved."

This Scriptural statement is borne al leading wholesalers, and packers and were "loaned" to the co-operative out by God's dealings with Jacob. He had shown his courage, his faith. Now he needed encouragement, and there fore was given a dream of beautiful import. In his dream he saw a ladder cus, Oregon, who run a small mer-chandise store at that place were in-extending from his side up to Heaven and crowded with angels. At the further end, in his mind he saw God and heard His words, full of encour agement. God assured him that He recognized him as the legal heir to the great Abrahamic Promise and the Law Covenant. The patriarchs Abraham, Isaac and Jacob-under neither the Law nor the Gospel-constituted a distinct class. To them especially (in conjunction with some of the noble Prophets and Worthies of the Jewish Age) belonged God's great promises respecting the blessing of all mankind. Not being of the spirit-begotten Church, they can have no share with Messiah in His Spiritual Kingdom. In fulfilment of the Abrahamic Promise, however, they will be granted human perfection in the resurrection, and thus qualified to be princes of earth, representatives of Messlah's Kingdom.

What the Dream Meant.

Jacob's ladder represents the thought of direct fellowship between Heaven and earth. Through Jacob's Seed this great work of opening up relationship between God and men would be acomplished. The vision of God at the urther end, and His encouraging erds, were to stimulate Jacob to ithfulness and appreciation of this great Promise as worth much more han it had cost him. The dream had its intended effect. Jacob was encouraged for the remainder of his life. This lesson applies to Christians also. With the fuller light of the Apostolic teaching and the guidance of the Holy Spirit, we understand that before Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and the Holy Prophets of the past can bless the world. another work must be done. That work will be done by ung lord Jesus.

If this ladder of communion came down to Jacob, still more does it center in The Christ, of which Jesus is the Head, and the Church the Body.

FOR WOMEN ONLY.

That is the nature of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription-the one remedy for women which contains no alcohol and no habit-forming drugs. Made from native medicinal forest roots. Dr. Pierce tells its every ingredient on the bottle-wrapper. Prominent physicians and some of the best medical authorities endorse these ingredients as being the very best known remedies for ailments and weaknesses

This is what Mrs. GENETTI E. COFFEY, of Longstreet. Ky., says: "I feel it my duty to write and tell you what your medicines have done for me. I was a great sufferer for six years from a trouble peculiar to women, but I am thankful to say, after taking four bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' I am not bothered with that dreadful disease any more. I feel like a new woman. When I first wrote you for advice I only weighed 115 pounds—now I weigh 135. "I thank you very much for your kindness. You have been as a father to me in advising me what to do, so may God bless you in every effort you put forth for good.

"I hope this testimonial will be the means of some poor suffering woman seeking health." Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, newly revised up-to-date edition, answers hosts delicate questions about which every woman single or married ought to know.
