county has wilfully neglected the road toward Canby, that in 1912 a special tax was voted to have this road fixed up, and only about 600 feet of work has been done on it since, not enough to be of any benefit to the heavy traffic on this county road, and it also claimed that about $800 was paid for this 600 feet of road work, under supervision of Mr. Fine. A mass meeting was held for Canby last Saturday to protest against this alleged wasteful spending of county funds.

The committee was asked to look into the following matters: Of county paying expenses of estimating the cost of county division delegation; that bills in the name of O. E. Robbins, were put through Oregon Commission Co.; that a warrant was drawn for $150.00 for county publicity given to the Oregon City Enterprise. It is also charged that this $150 was used to get out a booster edition of the Enterprise for which the paper received considerable other profit from sale throughout the state. Coast Bridge Company bills, it is said, also need looking into. $350 paid for examination of suspension bridge, while Messrs. Moffatt offered to inspect it free of charge. One man said he saw off a part of the cable and found it dangerous.

MRS. ROSALIE GOULDING.

Larzes, following which were devotional exercises by Mr. C. L. Smith of Portland, who very earnestly pleaded for "purity of thought", after which a solo, "The Leadeth Me", was sung very beautifully by Mrs. Good of Portland, and during the afternoon Mrs. Mattheson, of Oregon City, sang a solo which was much appreciated. Miss Harriet Wood of Portland Library, gave a very interesting address.

The evening of the conference began with a song service led by Mrs. DesLarzes. After the devotional exercises, led by Mrs. Danenhauer of Portland. Mrs. DesLarzes and Miss Wolfe sang a duet.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Noyce Jones of Salem, who spoke on "The Best Books in the World". The speaker asked those in the audience who had read the Bible straight through to raise their hands, and seven or eight did so. Mrs. Jones made the rest of the audience feel that they ought to follow the example of the seven. She said that life inspiration of the Bible had made all the poetry and art and music of the world possible.

After pledging themselves to be loyal to their God and to each other the very successful conference came to a close.

SIDE LIGHTS

Little Stories Noted by Lady Reporters on Booster Day

Even the haughty chinook knew that Booster Day was here, and when one of them ventured forth to witness the great parade on Friday the trolley hook of J. B. Fairclough accidentally slipped into his mouth and after a half hour's struggle fifty pounds of chinook was safely landed. D. E. Jenkins also caught one weighing 35 pounds.

Booster Day without the Oregon City drum corps would be like the play of Hamlet with Hamlet left out. Under the leadership of Drum Major W. Jones, Messrs. Clyde, Grant, Kelly and McClellan electrified the visitors as well as the residents of the city by reproducing many of the patriotic airs that had so often resounded in their ears on the gory battle field. They were heartily encouraged on every corner and at intervals they pronounced themselves as being in full accord with the beautiful sentiments expressed by the governor of North Carolina to the governor of South Carolina.

Did not our city look fine in her Booster Day attire, with blue and white ribbons flying everywhere, and did not our stores present a good appearance to the many visitors of the day?

We have a good one on one of our prominent city attorneys. As he was trying to wend his way through the Booster Day crowds, holding aloft three toy balloons which he was trying to get upstairs to his little ones without attracting too much attention, a thrifty-looking farmer with several eager children in the rear, hailed Mr. Hedges and wanted to buy balloons. The look on Mr. Hedges' face as he hurried on was not one that we usually see in a balloon vendor's face, and his disgust was intensified by a phone call soon after reaching his office, demanding his license for selling balloons.

A special meeting of the city council was held to discuss the improving of Seventh street. As there was no quorum present there was merely an informal discussion as to the advisability of macadamizing or hard-surfacing the street.

A MATTER OVERLOOKED

Little Attention Given to Schools, Teachers and the School, become acquainted with the teachers. They need your cooperation. If they are laboring conscientiously for the advancement of your child, why not talk it over with them. Ask your little boy when he comes from school what word he has learned to spell today. Sometimes lay aside the embroidery and hear him read his lesson. No where is our help needed more than in the schools and once we begin it goes on from teacher to superintendent and school board until in various ways we can by united effort raise the standards of our schools. There can be no greater incentive, no better field in which to work than to promote good morals by educating the children.

Pythian Sisters Celebrate Anniversary
On Monday evening, April 28, the Pythian Sisters celebrated their sixth anniversary. The following program was given: Music by the orchestra; solo, Mrs. E. H. Cooper, accompanied by Miss Nellie Swafford; violin solo, Mr. Flechtner, accompanied by Miss Harrison; reading, Evadna Harrison; ladies' trios, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Green, accompanied by Miss Harrison; solo, Mr. Harrison, accompanied by Miss Harrison; music by the orchestra, which was composed of Prof. Flechtner, Mrs. Crawford, Miss Harrison and Mr. Hollansbee. The yearly convention of this order will be held in the K. of P. hall at Portland next Friday. The work will be put on by the Oregon City lodge.

GIRLS' CONFERENCE

Miss Stella Wilson, Portland. An advisory board consisting of Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Britts, Mrs. Danenhauer, Miss Lillian Miller, Miss Helen Watts, Miss Myrtle Mills, Miss Mildred Carlyle and the secretary superintendent of Grants Pass was named. The committee consisted of Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. H. N. Smith, Mrs. E. B. Andrews and Miss Alma Haskins.

In closing the business session the convention adopted the following resolutions:

"Be it resolved that the First Girls' Convention of the Oregon extends thanks, first to the people of the Presbyterian church who have given us the use of their church building; second, to Mrs. Andrews and the ladies who so ably assisted her, and the young ladies of decoration committee; third, to Mrs. Ormsby, Mrs. Danenhauer, Miss Wolfe, leader of the Queens of Avilion, Miss Corey, leader of the Campfire Girls, and to all those who have taken part in the program; fourth, to the railroad companies for their kindness in giving rates to this convention."

A beautiful demonstration was given by the Queens of Avilion, or the Ladies of King Arthur's Court. They staged a portion of the initiation of a Pygim, for that is the name by which the new members are called. The costumes worn by the members were beautiful and the soft music and singing were very attractive.

The Camp Fire Girls also presented a portion of a ceremonial meeting, showing the presentation of beads to various members and the other ceremonies which are a very enjoyable part of such societies. The camp fire work for girls takes up the same line of work that the Boy Scouts do for boys. Miss C. J. Corey, physical director of the Y. W. C. A. of Portland, explained the working of the order.

The Sabbath afternoon meeting for girls and women was opened by a song service led by Mrs. Leon Des

PROBE COMMITTEE MEETING

Farmers and Others Present Matters They Want Investigated

The mass meeting committee which had announced that on April 29th it would meet at the County Court House to hear any communications from any citizen who wished to appear and give information regarding the charges now pending against the court, held its meeting as per schedule Tuesday at 1 o'clock, and there was a large attendance and much live interest shown in the proceedings. Mr. Brown, chairman of the citizens' mass meeting committee, presided and announced the session was for the purpose of hearing complaints from anyone who wished to make same.

Mr. LaSalle said he wished to speak about the bids in which he and his father were interested, they having bid $14,000 on a certain job while the bid of Clarence Simmons for $17,000 was accepted by the court instead, and he alleged that Mr. Simmons was heard to boast in advance of letting the contract, no matter what the other bids might be he was sure of the contract. Hoyt, appointed referee, decided in favor of LaSalle, whereupon he said the court turned down all bids. White Bros. drew the plans and said they were not allowed to supervise the construction, $900 for plans.

The next matter that came up for discussion was the franchise granted on October 2nd, 1912, to Portland Gas & Coke Co., to Park and places beyond, which it is claimed was just to give them control of the franchise for all of Clackamas county.

Mr. Hageman said that in reference to the new Clear Creek bridge in reality all that was needed was repairs, the stringers were O. K. and capable of supporting the weight of very heavy teams in transit. Work was done while the contractors were otherwise out of jobs, that is, while they were "floating."

Another claim of graft was the fact that Mr. Elliott petitioned for a bridge to be built in section 17, T8 3E, on the old road toward Damascus, and he got the bridge over a dry gulch on Moffatt place, with an offset of 4 feet at one end, and there was actually no travel over the bridge and it was not needed except to give somebody a "job."

Again, it was asserted that rocks were moved from place to place at a cost to the county of $3,000 each which was almost a "steal" in the judgment of the taxpayers present at the hearing.

The county finances are, however, in good shape, a credit being shown of $86,262.61, bills for March not included, amounting to $25,200.08, leaving a credit balance of $60,992.22. No county is allowed to incur indebtedness exceeding $5,000.00.

The purchase of a steam roller and rock crusher came up next, and it was stated that the county court authorized the purchase of machines at a price of $4,900 from a certain manufacturer, and one taxpayer was sufficiently interested to look into the matter to the extent of getting quotations from other concerns making similar machines, with the result that he found a Buffalo concern was willing to furnish a 9x16 crusher of the same kind for just $900 less than the price paid for the one purchased by the county, which difference in price might have been saved the taxpayers under different conditions. This statement was made by Mr. Olds, who was instrumental in bringing to a head the dissatisfaction of the taxpayers which resulted in the present investigation being conducted. Another complaint was to the effect that the
