OUR CITY'S NEEDS

A Suggestion for the Church Brotherhoods to Think Over

In common with all towns and cities, Oregon City has many needs. And foremost among them are needed the things which count for righteousness, and clean and happy living. We think with shame and regret of the many places which count for anything but right living, and we feel that trying to eliminate these by creation of a just public sentiment, which will lead to a prohibition legislation. But have we considered soberly the fact that we must have something to take the place of these saloons and other places of questionable resort? Were they today to be removed, what would we have to offer to homeless men and to men who are accustomed to spend their evenings on the street?
This question has been asked many times, but no answer that has resulted in anything definite or lasting has been given. And the proof of it is that there are many churches here, organizations for helping mankind to a higher and truer life, and they have not done what they might have done, if united effort had been made.

Many years ago a woman, who has since died, had this matter deeply at heart. She thought of her son, her only child, who with an inherited taste for strong drink, would fall an easy prey to the many evil resorts which were even then on our streets. By urging and planning, and working, she started what afterward became one of our city's most precious institutions, gave up the effort.

There were many reasons for this failure, partly the unfortunate location; but mostly because it did not have the moral and financial support of the majority of our citizens. Many tried hard and long, but it was of no use.

Now what can we do about this? We have asked the question long enough. Why could not this be the work of our churches? There are four, which more or less hold their monthly meetings with banquets and speeches. Why could this plan for a men's resort not be taken up by these four organizations and made the plan for their effort and influence? No more worthy or needed cause could be presented and labored for. In these Brotherhoods are many men who are not members of the churches, yet who have the good of the city at heart, and are willing to spend and to speak for righteousness. A concentrated action of all these, with the enthusiasm which numbers and a good cause always arouse, could and would result in a place where men could spend a pleasant evening, without evil influences.

It would need to be a place where a working man could go in his working clothes, a roomy place where books, papers, magazines, games and cheerful company could give an enjoyable evening.

Our churches would do give a hearty welcome to all who come to our services. But they are open for regular meetings only two or three evenings in a week, and there are the other evenings where only saloons, picture shows and the like are regularly open.
This is only a suggestion, and possibly not a practicable one in the eyes of the "brethren". But looked at from a woman's point, it seems feasible. Surely, something of this kind needs to be done, and it ought not to be delayed.

MRS. D. C. LATOURETTE.

PRACTICAL LINES

Juvenile Fairs Splendid Means to Educate the Children

A great deal has been said in regard to the ways in which to advance the education of the children along practical lines, and to cultivate the individuality that lies dormant in all children only waiting for well directed guidance to develop the latent talents into a power for good.

In the effort to teach this broader view of education, training schools in domestic science, art, manual work and agriculture have been established, which is a movement in the right direction and in time will be far-reaching in every day life.

In order to bring the children into closer touch with the movement the juvenile fairs have been established. Clackamas county has been divided into five districts. The Oregon City, West Oregon City, Willamette, Canemah, Mount Pleasant, Twilight, Leland, Carus, Beaver Creek, Maple Lane, Henri, Clairmont, Jones Mill, Holcomb, Park Place, East Clackamas, Jennings Lodge, Gladstone, Hazel Dale, and Eldorado. Last year the first juvenile fair was held in the Commercial Club rooms. The exhibits displayed were very good, but the fair had not been established long enough to make it a real live success, though the interest shown was encouraging. Prizes were offered for all articles made, and produce grown by the boys and girls between the ages of fourteen and twenty, and are placed in three classes, for the ages of fourteen and twenty class A; ten to fourteen in class B, and all under ten in class C. Some of the reasons for the prizes being offered are, first: giving the children an interest in, and motive for, doing work on the farm, which includes agriculture, care of animals, manual arts and household arts, inspiring them to do the various things through their interest and industry.

2nd: Establishing a high standard for the various things that are grown or made for the fair, which will gradually improve the things produced throughout the district.

3rd: To show what the children can do toward improving the farms and bettering conditions of homes and neighborhoods.

4th: To encourage the children to do something for themselves, thus developing individuality.

5th: An educational training that will tend to meet the problem of the high cost of living.

The prize list will be sent out to the different schools as soon as completed. Committees have been appointed to take charge of the exhibits and arrange for the programs and music. This article will be continued in next week's issue, giving a detailed account of the arrangements and plans for the second juvenile fair of Clackamas county.

MRS. J. J. COOKE,

$15 for this genuine Victor-Victrola

Yes sir, a genuine Victor-Victrola for $15. Hardly seems possible, and yet this new instrument embraces all the fundamental Victor-Victrola principles.

And the unequalled Victor-Victrola tone—that's the most important thing of all. Come in today and hear it—no obligation to buy, but you won't want to do without one.

Other styles $25 to $250. Victors $10 to $100. Easy terms if desired.

$985 See the Picture of the Car the price puzzles You; Read the description the price astonishes You; Drive the Car the price delights You;

The Overland

As handsome a car as the most exacting buyer could desire. From cooler to tail-light impressive, every line indicating fleetness and power, eloquent of comfort and pleasure, built with faithful regard to genuine quality, correct, invulnerable in every mechanical detail, the best in its class that American skill can produce and money can buy.

That is the Overland. They don't build only 5,000 of them; nor even 10,000. If they produced no more than that number of cars, they too, would have to ask at least $1300 for the beautiful car we offer at $985 F. O. B. Toledo.

They build 40,000 cars this season. They contract for the raw material for this enormous production at one time, pay for it in cash, and thereby secure the best markets afford, at the lowest prices.

The price includes everything needed for comfortable touring; acetylene engine starter, gas, tank, gas and oil lamps, genuine mohair top and top covering, clear vision, rain-vision windshield, Warner speedometer, horn, robe-rail, foot-rest, tire carriers in the rear of the car, etc.

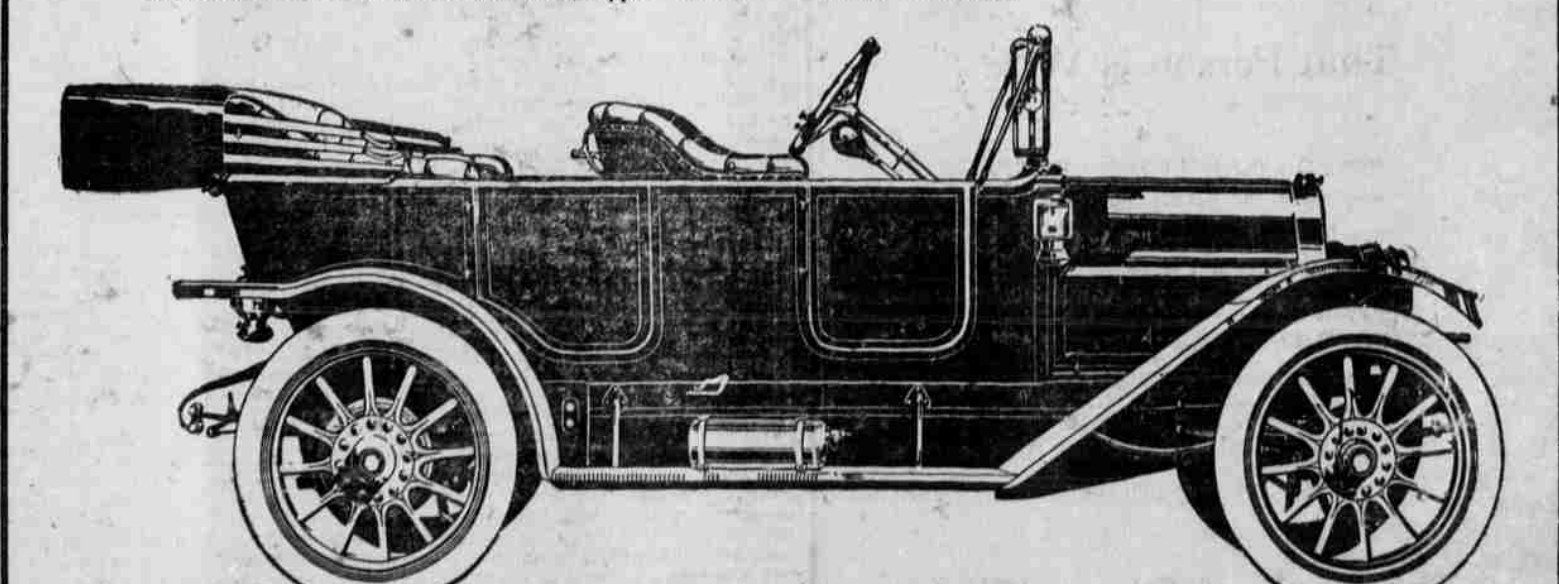

The Overland motor is the best of its type. Some motors—this is an important point—have three main bearings, some only two. Overland motors have five large main bearings; that's one of the reasons why they work without trouble. The whole motor is built for power and endurance.

The Overland model 69 rear axle is of a new and improved type, three-quarter floating; this axle system has all the advantages of the full-floating axle, but none of the shortcomings of the semi-floating axle usually found in cars of moderate price.

The brakes are of new design, overlarge, gradual but powerful in application. They will hold the car anywhere.

In Overland cars the transmission is combined with the rear axle and the drive is in a straight line. Both these features make for saving of engine power and smooth and quiet running.

Come and take a look at it. Compare it with others. Take a ride in the big, fully equipped Overland; it involves no obligation on your part. Then draw your own conclusions. That's all.
