STORY IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE
Man Who Drew the Plans Says Estacada Bridge is All Right
Portland, July 27, 1913.
Editor Courier:

Some time ago my attention was called to a newspaper article printed in the Oregon City Enterprise and the Portland Telegram about the Estacada bridge being in a dangerous condition, and in justice to the builders of that bridge and in common justice I wish to make a statement.

I was employed by the county court of Clackamas county to draw the plans of the Estacada bridge; the plans I furnished were accepted by the court; the contract was let to E. D. Olds and J. W. Reed to build it; it was built according to those plans; it was accepted by the county court when completed as having been built according to the plans, and the builders were paid for the work.

In view of this statement, one that can be proven by the county court's own records, it appears to me that the charges in the Enterprise and Telegram, stating that the bridge was in an unsafe condition, "owing to structural faults", are untrue and libelous statements, printed for the sole purpose of injuring the bridge builders, the reasons for which seem to appear in the recall election now on, in which Mr. Olds has had a prominent part. Fairness and honesty alone prompt me to make this explanation.

This bridge was built 5 years ago, and it fulfilled every requirement of the court and contract. If the bridge is not in a safe condition today (which I doubt) the fault is entirely with the present county court in not looking after it and keeping the shrinkage tightened up. Any Howe truss bridge must have this attention, and if the Estacada bridge has not had it, it is simply glaring neglect on the part of the court, and they alone should be censured.

The articles of June 5 were plain, libelous misstatements in their charges of "structural faults", and the county court can hardly afford not to answer the letter of Mr. Olds in the Courier of June 26, where he challenges them to submit the bridge to any competent bridge builders in Oregon for proof of their charges.

I have known Mr. Olds for many years and I know that he is one of the best bridge builders in Oregon, and I vigorously resent the untruthful, anonymous attack on him—an attack that should rebound to the men who caused it publication.

Now, at her fruitful birth tide, the fair green field flowers out in blowing roses; now on the boughs of the colonnaded cypresses the cecilia, mad with music, tulle the blinder of sheaves; the careful mother swallow, having finished houses under the eaves, gives harborage to her brood in the mud plastered cells, and the sea slumbers, with zephyr wooing calm spread clear over the broad ship tracks, not breaking in signals on the stem posts, not vomiting foam upon the beaches. O sailor, burn by the altars the glittering fund of a mulet or a cuttlefish or a vocal scarus to Priapus, ruler of ocean and giver of anchorage, and so go fearlessly on thy seafaring to the bounds of the Ionian sea.—Theocritus, Fourth Century B. Surprising Cure of Stomach Trouble
When you have trouble with your stomach or chronic constipation, don't imagine that your case is beyond help just because your doctor fails to give you relief. Mrs. G. Stengle, Plainsfield, N. J., writes: "For over a month past I have been troubled with my stomach. Everything I ate upset it terribly. One of Chamberlain's advertising booklets came to me. After reading a few of the letters from people who had been cured by Chamberlain's Tablets, I decided to try them. I have taken nearly three-fourths of a package of them and can now eat almost everything that I want." For sale by Huntley Bros. Co.
