The marriage ceremony was followed by a wedding supper.

The bride was becomingly attired in gray and carried a shower bouquet of carnations. The bridegroom and bride were unattended. The marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends.

The bride came to Oregon City from Texas about a year ago with her parents, and has since made Oregon City her home.

The bridegroom comes from an Oregon pioneer family, being the son of Silas Straight, a well-known pioneer, and whose home is in the city.

Word has been received in this city of the marriage of Miss Spencer of San Francisco, Calif., and Mr. Phil H. Emster, also of that city. The wedding was a very quiet affair, and after a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Von Emster will make their future home in San Francisco.

Mr. von Emster, who was formerly with Mrs. Clifford Spooner of Jennings Lodge, is possessed of many friends of that place.

STATE MAIL CARRIERS MEET.

Big Gathering of Rural Carriers in This City August 31, September 1

The annual convention of the rural mail carriers of the state will be held in this city the last day of this month and the first day of September, and the plans and program guarantee a big time.

This association has had a remarkable growth in the past 3 years and nearly every state in the Union now has strong organizations, and it is through such conventions that the mail boys bring before the people the objects of their associations and gain in membership.

The convention here promises to be well attended. Them erchants are giving it support, and the people generally are doing all they can to help Uncle Sam's boys.

The exercises will be held in both Gladstone park and the Commercial Club parlors of this city. J. H. Max, well of Eugene, state president, and W. H. Boyd, secretary, will attend, and it is expected there will be many numbers from every county in the state.

JOHN ROHL

The funeral of John Rohl who met death in the woolen mill Wednesday was held Friday, Rev. E. A. Smith officiating.

The exercises were from the residence where a large crowd of friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects. There were numerous floral pieces. The fellow employees at the mill sent a very beautiful piece as did the mill company. The body was interred in Mountain View cemetery.

John P. Rohl was born in Germany March 6, 1855 and died in Oregon City August 6, 1913, aged 58 years and five months. Mr. Rohl came to America when eighteen years of age and settled in Buffalo, N. Y., where he lived a number of years, afterward going to Michigan and Wisconsin, from which state he came to Oregon City where he has resided for nine years. His first wife died in Wisconsin and on May 13, 1904 he was married to Mrs. Mary E. Jones. Mr. Rohl was a Christian man all his life from boyhood and at the time of his death was a member of the First Presbyterian church of this city. An honest man and a kind neighbor and devoted husband.

WHY DON'T WE ACT?

Typhoid is again here. Aren't we going to defend ourselves?

There are a dozen cases of typhoid fever in this city.

The various claims are made that the causes are private wells, milk supplies and our water source—the foul Willamette.

Be the cause, what they may, you know, we all know, that where typhoid has ravaged, a pure water supply has instantly cut it down.

The fight for safe water is a national issue.

New York is spending $125,000,000 on a reservoir that will impound the streams of half the Catskills and tunnel one hundred miles through solid rock to bring the pure mountain water to its people. Los Angeles has gone 250 miles up into the snow-capped Sierras and tapped the Owen river for water for a hundred years to come.

San Francisco wants to dam the Hetch-Hetchy valley in the Yosemite National Park as a reservoir from which to obtain an unending supply of pure water.

Last winter we had 150 cases in this city. Portland had similar epidemics until it cut off from our sewer and got pure water.

It would be impossible to frame a find a drawback more injurious to our city than our yearly epidemics and our sticking to the present water system.

We absolutely must do something to stamp out typhoid, and pure water seems to be the only remedy.

Why don't our people quit talking and act? The county is full of water supplies. Why don't we get together, frame up a policy for relief, and go after it?

To the Summit of Mt. Hood

Rev. W. T. Milliken, D. C. Latourette, Kenneth Latourette, George Edwards, Joseph Ewing, Ralph Barbur, Lytle Kellogg, Dallas Armstrong, Herschel Saunders have returned to this city after enjoying an outing at Government Camp and Mt. Hood.

The young men, whom Rev. Milliken and Mr. Latourette accompanied, are members of the Baracas Class of the Baptist Church, and the outing given the young men was enjoyed by all.

The party climbed Mt. Hood, reaching the summit in good time. This is the second trip that Rev. Milliken has made to the summit of the mountain and states it was one of the most enjoyable outings he has ever enjoyed.

Although he has traveled over the Rocky Mountains he says that the scenery does not compare to that at Mt. Hood, and while enjoying his outing he secured many photographs as a reminder of his first outing at Mt. Hood. He came from Minnesota about a year ago.

Services were held on Mt. Hood last Sunday similar to that held by the Sunday School class of H. E. Cross several weeks ago when Rev. Milliken presided.

Largely Exaggerated

The ministers of Oregon City are taking steps to prevent the performance of the Wild West show in that city next Sunday.

Representatives of the show have engaged counsel and advertised that they will give their performance regardless of any attempted interruption.

Rev. William T. Milliken says they will stop not only the circus, but any baseball games, band concerts, moving picture performances, or other forms of amusement to which admission is charged.

McMinnville Register charged.

Rev. Milliken has not said anything of the kind, the Enterprise of this city said the rest for him—anticipated, as it were. Mr. Milliken went out to stop the Wild West circus performance on Sunday and he is Scotch enough to make it good. And he did.

Scott, the handsome collic owned by E. K. Quinn in this city, has been taken to the home of Mrs. Catherine Jones who resides at Marquam, where he is enjoying the country air.

The way that "Scott" happened to be taken to Marquam was that although he had reached the age of 10 years and had never been compelled to don a muzzle as the law now requires until September, he flatly refused to be "muzzled".

He was the pet of the family and the manner in which the animal carried on when being taken to undergo the ordeal of having one placed over his head was pitiful and sad.

Although Mrs. Quinn kindly consented to take the dog to her home until the time comes when "Scott" will be allowed to return to the city and not be compelled to wear a "baseball mask" over his face. He is having a "time of his life".

It was Mr. Quinn who was the cause of much favorable comment in many papers in the west as well as several eastern publications when he gave his horse a two weeks vacation, declaring that "Prince" and "Queen" were entitled to a vacation as well as himself.

The horses each year are given their vacation and allowed their liberty in pasture for the two weeks. Mr. Quinn is one of the well known and most humane residents in the city. On his little farm near Mountain View Addition his farm animals receive the best of attention and their appearance shows it, even the Poland Chinas and Chester White swine of which he is to make a specialty in raising.

We want representatives to act for us in Clackamas County. Write for terms and particulars.

FAULT IN THE MAN

Manager Freytag Answers the Writer Who Complains "No Markets"

Oregon City, Ore., Aug. 12, 1913. To the Editor of the Courier:—

In last week's issue of your paper your correspondent from the Twilight district gives some advice to the publicity manager of the Oregon City Commercial club, and states that "some growers are plowing up their strawberry beds, etc." stating "no market. Tell the Easterner the truth."

We will begin with the last, and tell our adviser he is too late with his kindly suggestion, for that is just what is done, underestimates are given rather than over estimates of crops, conditions, etc. So much for that.

As for the farmers plowing up their strawberry patches, it is within the memory of man when hop fields were plowed up, much to the present sorrow of the hop grower. Also what about potato prices last year. Why just pick on strawberries? Our Twilight correspondent knows the answer.

If one would go through the Twilight district and see the character of the farming as it is done in that section very generally one would understand why the howl from Twilight. Weedy potato fields, corn fields standing in grass unkempt and distressful places give their owner the grouch he suffers from.

His fruit when it comes to market is as untidily packed and presented to the buyer as his place is kept. Ask Mr. Finnegan this side of Twilight if he is plowing out his strawberries. Mr. Finnegan could tell a different story but he puts up his berries for market in a scrupulously careful and business-like manner.

Why not raise a berry that will ship and not depend on local markets alone. This section would support a salesman in some fruitless locality whose salary could be more than paid by the waste on but a few of the places, leaving a handsome profit to the good farmer. We have the fruit and vegetables and there are people who are crying for them. Our Twilight friend wants to sit down and let nature weed the weeds out of his potatoes and providence furnish his market.

Also one word as to markets. This is a question not for Clackamas county alone to solve. It's up to every producer of any thing grown or manufactured to settle that question.

It has been hoped that the Society of Equity would furnish relief to their numbers, devising some plan whereby our immense surplus crops would find their market.

There is enough wasted in the state of Oregon to furnish means for the salary of competent salesmen in different points to handle this surplus. Why not try to do something?

The Oregon farmer should be loyal to our grand state for no where in this world can one find climate more pleasing, soil more adapted to raising good crops or more ready to respond to intelligent handling. If he is not a good farmer let him study the art of husbandry, and grow such crops as he can sell.

There are other things to raise than berries which are perishable and must find their market quickly. Agricultural products, poultry, hogs, bees, etc. are profitable, and if you cannot make good in this country, you surely did not succeed elsewhere. Go to the agricultural college and study agriculture or the department you can make good in is the advice of the Publicity Manager of the Oregon City Commercial club.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.

When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea, or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Try it when in need of such a remedy. It never fails. Sold by Huntley Bros. Co.

In Harmony With Nature

Will G. Richmond, Inglewood, Calif., says he will be glad to answer any inquiries regarding the benefit he had from using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. "It has so greatly benefited me for bronchial trouble and cough, and acts so well in harmony with nature, it is more like a food than a medicine."

ECONOMY, DECENCY, HONESTY

A Ringing Letter Asking Voters to Stand By Saturday

Oregon City, Ore., Aug. 8, 1913. Editor Courier:—

Dear Sir: Daniel in the lion's den is not a "patch" on being editor of the Oregon City Courier. There is not the slightest doubt that if some of our Oregon City "lions" could get out of the den to a quiet wilderness where fighting editors and preachers did not exist they would lie down to happy dreams for the first time in months. While traveling through the eastern part of the state I found the cry of many citizens was for honest newspapers, so that the rotten conditions of their local governments might be brought to light. Believe me, the citizens of this state of Oregon are demanding good government and will have it. The days of the tin horn gambler and greedy, booze-guzzling politician are soon to pass away. In fact I believe that honest, competent men can be elected anywhere we have an opportunity to put the facts before the people. Personally I must express my great appreciation of the good work you have done with your excellent paper, and I take this opportunity to state that I am with you heart and soul in the work of ridding the county, state, or nation of undesirable misfits, whether before or behind the scenes.

I thoroughly believe that the aroused intelligence of Clackamas county will put into office Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith. For myself I shall be found against the ring, now and at all times.

In interviewing hundreds of lady voters in eastern Oregon I was not surprised to find them logical, intelligent and well posted on the political situation. The ladies of this state are not boasting, but their vote will count big for better conditions. For removing causes of trouble, not results.

Now, ladies and gentlemen of Clackamas county, remember the time and the place, and vote for economy, decency and honesty. Back up the best newspaper in the state and put the ring where they belong, in the discard.

S. MACDONALD.

Things to Remember Oregon City, Aug 12

Courier:—

We all remember the epidemic of scarlet fever that raged in and around Oregon City last fall. We also remember how our officials failed to do their duty—and we all remember the investigation of the State Board of Health and that they demanded the resignation of the county health officer of Judge Beattie. And we all remember how he defied the will of the people and the rulings of a higher court and said "THERE WILL BE NO RESIGNATION." At the same time we were erecting marble headstones at the graves of our little
