Two Important Receipts

These important recipes for the good they may do, are copied by Daniel M. Conway, Portland, from his book of valuable receipts.

Cure for Hydrophobia

The following is taken from a Philadelphia paper. Mrs. J. W. Fall, of 936 South Summer street, sends the following recipe for hydrophobia: She says it has been known and used by Dr. Noble of Philadelphia, for more than forty years, and that it has been used on man without failure. It is known as the Goodman Remedy: Take one ounce and one-half of the root of elecampene, green or dry, bruise it well, add one pint of new milk and mix and boil until reduced to one-half. Take this at one dose in the morning, fasting until 4 o'clock the afternoon. If any food is taken at noon let it be light. Miss one morning and repeat as before except take two ounces of the root. This is the fifth or the third. This is the last. After this no one need fear the bite of a rabid dog.

Cure for Small-Pox

"I am willing to risk my reputation as a public man," writes Edward Hines to the Liverpool Mercury, "if the worst case of small-pox cannot be cured in three days by the use of Cream of Tartar."

"One ounce of cream of tartar, dissolved in a pint of hot water, and drunk at intervals when cold, is a certain, never-failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and avoids tedious lingering."—Boston Post.

The Committee's Thanks Oregon City, Ore., Aug. 18. Editor Courier: The report that would not down was made by Casto, Schuebel and Brown.

The executive committee of the recall wishes to thank its many friends who went to the polls and voted. The victory is ours complete and not in any way due to organization as we practically had none but for the overwhelming sentiment of the people we would have been defeated. There will be other campaigns in the future and your organization should be of the best and put in thorough working order in plenty of time to discover its weak spots before it is too late.

We owe a great deal to a few individuals in an effort to get the committee organized and necessary to name them as you all know them. Due credit must also be given the Courier. Our representatives face a condition in which they are in no wise responsible, chief of which is a weak treasury and we expect only the best and can be done legally under the circumstances. We trust all citizens will co-operate with them for economy and a thorough business administration.

G. N. LAZELLE, P. W. MEREDITH, Executive Committee.

LOGAN

Considerable threshing has been done but the weather has interfered and the grain is not all cut at present writing, some of the water out weathers and it was a bad job to harvest and thresh and they are not in condition to stand rain very well. The grain shows a good yield generally.

Samuel Gerber had two three-horse binder runways in three days which were done in the water out weathers but no serious damage was done.

M. Rowan has brought his family from eastern Oregon. Mrs. Rowan is in a Portland hospital and will probably undergo an operation soon.

F. W. Foster is in Logan again having recovered some what from recent illness.

Members of the Logan Farmers' Equity local are making arrangements to buy a car load of mill feed soon. Now is the time for dairymen to prepare for winter and it is also time for farmers to get their water out weathers and themselves at the same time.

Arrangements will probably be made before long to order another car load of woven wire fencing. Those needing anything in that line will do well to take advantage of the opportunity.

N. L. Kirchem reports an exciting ride with W. J. Wilson. Mr. Wilson, in trying to avoid running over a small boy who ran out in front of the auto, ran into a telegraph pole, did some damage to the machine and shook up the passengers some what.

Ole Thompson is in North Dakota and probably appreciates the Oregon climate by comparison.

Several people have been suffering with colds and hoarseness lately. Mrs. Ellen Gerber has burned her hand rather severely on election day. Rather a bad way to celebrate entering into a full-fledged citizenship.

A. F. Sloper has had the veterinary treating a sick horse.

Raise More Flax Clackamas, Aug. 10. Editor Courier: As things are drifting back again into a normal state it might be well for us all especially our young people, to take a summary of the great opportunities which nature has given to the people of Oregon.

The reasons are vastly too numerous to mention here, so we will take up but one of the many resorts: Flax, that would give the farmer work for summer, then would come the threshing, then the seed manufactured into oil, our young men could become manufacturers. Then the fibres could be spun into thread, the thread woven into linen cloth. And we all know the many uses of linen cloth. Deep Creek at Barton gives the natural water power.

Clackamas Great Stuff

O. E. Freytag, of the Publicity Department of the Oregon City Commercial Club, who has been appointed superintendent of agriculture, horticulture and of the pavilion, is busily engaged in collecting exhibits from Clackamas county also has a fine collection of grain that is to be forwarded to the Hill line, where they will be placed on exhibit. Mr. Freytag has a limited space in the building on Main street occupied by the Publicity Department. He has found that it will not accommodate the fine samples that are being sent in by the farmers, who are trying to assist in showing what Clackamas county can produce. The grain has been placed at the rear of the building, where Mr. Freytag takes pleasure in showing to visitors. These are probably some of the finest samples that have been brought to this office.

In the collection there are three varieties of barley, five varieties of wheat, three varieties of oats and peas six feet long. The seven headed wheat has attracted much attention as also is the flax.

Mr. Freytag recently received a communication from a Carl Olson of Wyoming, Minn., who visited in this city last fall. Mr. Carlson, who was so taken up with Clackamas county produces in the line of grain that he asked Mr. Freytag to forward him some samples of the grain as his friends would not believe that grain, as stated by Carlson, could not be grown. Mr. Freytag has already forwarded the samples and they were so arranged that Minnesota people can see what the crops in Oregon are.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co.
