MOTHERS HAVE YOUR CHILDREN WORMS?

Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and nervous appetites? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt his mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and improves the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. All druggists or by mail, 25c.

RURAL CARRIERS CONVENTION

MAIL BOYS WILL GATHER HERE SUNDAY

Two Days' State Meeting Promises to be Big Time

Sunday and Monday, August 31, and September 1, is the annual convention of the Oregon Rural Letter Carriers Association in this city.

The reasons for the Sunday and Monday dates are because both are holidays, when the carriers are off duty, and the only dates that could be arranged to come together. Uncle Sam doesn't give the boys a day off when they want it to attend conventions, and they must do the best they can.

But there is but little in the meaning of a convention on Sunday. The delegates will arrive during the day, will make headquarters at the Commercial Club rooms. At four o'clock there will be song service and prayer, followed by a social meeting and in the evening the delegates will attend the Bell Theatre by invitation.

Monday the convention will open in full form and there will be a splendid all day program.

Mayor L. E. Jones will give the address of welcome; the commercial club will extend greetings in several short talks, and Franz Krakzberger, of Macksburg, will make the response. Then will follow the business session, reports, election of officers, election of national delegates, and selection of time and place for next convention.

At about noon the convention will go to the Chautauqua assembly grounds for lunch and a general good time. The Commercial club will serve the luncheon.

These delegates will come from all parts of the state; they will look over our city, and big mills and they will be every-day driving advertisements for or against us; but the hospitality of our people and the interest of the commercial club and their business men are taking the matter of entertainment sufficient forecast of the kind of advertising.

The president is J. H. Maxwell of Eugene; vice president, Nelson E. Willets of Yamhill; secretary and treasurer, W. H. Boyer, Beaverton. The arrangement committee in this city is: D. F. Whiteman, W. T. Smith, C. A. Andrus, Hazen Bernard, E. M. Waldron, Otto Lyman, and Orville C. Johnson.

WORLD'S PEACE. We hear much of peace today, but let me tell you this peace of the world is maintained by the great governments of the world. It is not the governments, but the people, from whom the danger of war comes today and will always come so long as they fail to exercise proper self restraint and the courtesy that the peace of the world demands. We in America must learn that we cannot continue a policy of peace with insult. We must learn civility. We must learn that when an American sovereign speaks of the affairs of a foreign nation he must observe those rules of courtesy by which alone the peace of the world can be maintained.—Senator Elihu Root.

LULLABY. Sweet and low, sweet and low, Wind of the western sea, Low, low, breathe and blow, Wind of the western sea, Over the rolling waters go; Come from the drying moon and blow, Blow him again to me, While my little one, while my pretty one sleeps. Sleep and rest, sleep and rest, Father will come to thee soon, Rest, rest on mother's breast, Father will come to thee soon, Father will come to his babe in the nest. Silver sails all out of the west Under the silvery moon, Sleep, my little one, sleep, my pretty one, sleep.—Tennyson.

COMBINATIONS. Combinations may exist for a good purpose, just as they may exist for a bad purpose, whether among business men, among farmers, among laborers, and as regards all of them, our aim should be effectively to suppress combinations that work evil and also to favor those that do well, while nevertheless exercising control so as to enable us to be sure that they in very fact do well alike to competitors, to wage workers and to the general public. If a corporation or a combination makes for all the benefits are shared with reasonable equality among the employers and capitalists, the workers and the general public. If, however, the so called efficiency represents merely profits for the employer obtained by exploiting the workmen or mistreating his rivals or swindling the general public, then our desire is not merely to stop the practices, but to punish those who take part in them. It is our aim to help legitimate business. We wish to see the business man prosper and make money, but unless he does prosper and make money he can neither permanently pay good wages to his employees nor permanently render good service to the public.—Colonel Roosevelt.

Money to Loan. I have various sums of money on hand to loan on real property, for long or short periods of time. WM. HAMMOND, Lawyer. Beaver Bldg., Oregon City.

SONG OF THE FAIRIES. We, the fairies, blithe and antic, Of dimensions not gigantic, Though the moonshine mostly keeps us, Oft in orchards frisk and peep us. Stolen sweets are always sweeter, Stolen kisses much completer; Stolen looks are nice in chapels; Stolen, stolen be your apples.

When to bed the world are bobbing, Then's the time for orchard robbing. Yet the fruit were scarce worth peeling Were it not for stealing, stealing.—Thomas Randolph.

RELIGION. Religion is the greatest thing—one might say, the only thing. The relation which one bears to the Supreme Being is the most important. It is the background of life, the sky of destiny. Now, so many people do not get much out of their religion, and religion certainly does not get much out of them. I want you to get much and to give much. Interpret life in the terms of the personal creator, sympathize with life in terms of righteousness. Charles F. Thwing.

THOUGHTS ON EATING. The true essentials of a feast are only fun and feed.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Better is a dinner of herbs where love is than a stalled ox and hatred therewith.—Proverbs xv, 17.

He was a bold man who first ate an oyster.—Swift.

Reason should direct and appetite obey.—Cicero.

Does not the appetite alter? A man loves the meat in his youth that he cannot endure in his age.—Shakespeare.

No man can be wise on an empty stomach.—George Elliot.

CIVILIZATION.

It has long been a matter of dispute whether civilization has been a blessing or a curse, and in this city we cannot always say that it is a success. We have libraries, churches, schools and all else that knowledge of science for which man has been striving, but the point is: Are we individually greater than were our fathers of a hundred years ago? Have you higher ideals and thoughts and determinations than did your father, who did not have all these advantages of the advance of civilization? You cannot do what your father did because you are not made of the stuff. We are eating, drinking, working too hard and not getting rest enough nor enough play. We are breaking down in this day of civilization, morally and intellectually.—Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton of New York.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief." writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by Huntley Bros. Co.

"Tales of Honey and Tar" from West and East

Wm. Lee, Paskenta, Calif. says, "It gives universal satisfaction and I use only Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for my children." E. C. Rhodes, Middleton, Ga., writes, "I had a racking lagrippe cough and finally got relief taking Foley's Honey and Tar Compound." Use no other in your family and refuse substitutes.
