VICTOR JUSTIN

The funeral services over the remains of Victor Francis Paul Justin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Justin, of Eleventh and Centre Street, who died at the family residence August 26th of typhoid fever after an illness of four weeks, were held at the St. John's Catholic church Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, Rev. A. Hildebrand officiating. The services were largely attended by the many friends of the family. Special music was impressively rendered by the choir. A touching feature of the service was the little friends of Victor, who were altar boys acting as pall bearers for the departed little altar boy and school mate. Clad in their altar garments they carried the little white casket, which was covered with snowy flowers. The pall-bearers were Bruno Webber, Otto Smith, Edward Hanlon, August Riesberger, George Riesberger and Jacob Riesberger. The floral tributes were beautiful and in profusion. The interment was in the Catholic cemetery and many friends of the little fellow followed the remains to the last resting place.

Victor Justin was born in Oregon City December 23 1900, and was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin. The little fellow was a general favorite with his schoolmates and had a host of friends in this city. He was a bright and studious pupil of the McLoughlin Institute and always stood at the head of his class. He was a member of St. John's Catholic church and has been an altar boy at that church for the past year.

Victor Justin is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Justin, three sisters, Mrs. William Johnson of Portland, Miss Rose Justin and Miss Minnie Justin, of Oregon City, and two brothers, Joseph Justin and Cyril Justin of Oregon City.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin and family have many friends in this city who deeply sympathize with them in the loss of their son.

IS IT THE PUREST WATER IN OREGON?

which I can refer you claim) Colon Bacilli. Hence it is customary to test for Colon Bacilli and to so report. The Eharth's typhoid bacillus is a little less than one and one-half microns in length. The head of an ordinary pin is 2 millimeters or 2,000 microns in diameter, hence it would take 1,339 typhoid bacilli laid end to end the long way to reach across the pin head. Were the colon bacillus always present with its typhoid brother all would be well, but cases are on record where the excreta from typhoid patients show no such bacillus, and it is almost impossible to detect the other's presence. They may be present in billions where no colon bacilli are found. Hence the ordinary tests for pure water are only partial tests at best. If colon bacilli are present in your drinking water you may be absolutely sure that, provided you are in the proper physical condition, the typhoid will get you. If not, you may bank upon it that they will nab you anyway unless you boil all your water, even that in which you wash fruit, vegetables or even dishes.

City election is coming soon. Look up the record of all candidates upon the water question, and govern yourself accordingly. Maybe some of us may live long enough to see our city control the water question instead of having the water question rough ride over the best interests of the city.

A TRIP WORTH WHILE.

Party of City People Climb to Summit of Old Mount Hood.

A party of mountain climbers composed of Tood Binford, Mort Parks, Percy Caulfield, Fred Humphreys, Harry Black and Raymond Caulfield, the latter of whom acted as guide, left Oregon City last Saturday night for Government Camp with the intention of climbing Mt. Hood at night. Percy Caulfield and Harry Black, the latter of Portland, remained at Government Camp as guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Caulfield, while the other members of the party made the ascent.

Leaving Oregon City at 7 o'clock Saturday evening good time was made over the mountain roads to Government camp. The mountain climbers started immediately for Mt. Hood with the intention of making a record trip. The snow line was reached at midnight, and after a few hours rest the party started and resumed their steep climb through snow and over crevasses until the top of old Mt. Hood was reached. The top was reached about 11 o'clock and the view was grand. Mountains in Oregon, Washington and California were viewed. The sky was cloudless and those composing the party who have made the climb before state that it was one of the most successful trips made. Raymond Caulfield, Todd Binford and Mort Park placed their names on the registry, but Fred Humphreys decided that Crater Rock was far enough for him to climb and remained at the point until the return to Oregon City Sunday evening, after having partaken of a hearty supper at Government Camp.

From this experience of climbing part way up the mountain by night, the party has found that it was a great benefit to them, as that which they traveled over before midnight is one of the most tedious in the ascent. By making this before daylight and allowing themselves several hours of rest, the trip was not as difficult as if they had made it during the heat of the day.

Have Their Own Tested Wells

A writer in last week's Courier, a new arrival in the city, commenting on the water supply, stated that even the ice was made from the liquid, that no amount of freezing would kill. The ice plant owners state that they do not use the city water, but have deep well supplies, which are repeatedly tested and pronounced free from typhoid germs.

TWO MILL MEN HURT

One Drawn into Machine, Another Falls Down Elevator Shaft. Two men were seriously injured in the paper mills Tuesday, one in the Crown plant and one in the Hawley mills.

Virgil May, aged 23 years, for some time an employee of Hawley mills, was caught in a winder by his blouse, dragged into the machinery and seriously injured. It was only after the machine stopped that he could be removed from the machine's jaws. His hip was badly crushed, his leg broken, and other lesser injuries. He was rushed to St. Vincent's Hospital, Portland.

William Smith, aged 30, an employee of the Crown-Columbia, fell down an elevator shaft, a distance of about 20 feet, and struck on his head. He was handling freight and stepped back over the edge of the elevator. Altho his skull was not broken yet the shock was terrific and the physicians say his condition is serious.
