Mr. and Mrs. William McLarty and children, who have been enjoying an outing at Nehalem, Oregon, have returned to their home in this city. While in that section Mr. McLarty purchased a beautiful lot, which is located one and one-half blocks from the beach, and about a block from the depot, this being situated at Elmore Park. He expects to erect a modern bungalow before next season, and will spend his summer vacation at his home by the sea. Before returning home Mr. and Mrs. McLarty spent much time in making long "hikes" and although Mr. McLarty's position in this city is confining, he proved to be one of the champions of the summer resort. A trip was made to Mt. Neah-kah-Nie, this being one of the highest mountains in the West. Some distance was traveled on the mountain, and the scenery there-from was magnificent. Mrs. McLarty accompanied her father, William Beard some time ago, Mr. McLarty going later. Mr. and Mrs. Beard have purchased property on Classic Ridge, where they erected early in the season, and which they have been occupying during the summer.

"The man who expects trade to be dull and is willing it should be dull will have it dull."

"The man who leans back in his chair and says, 'I'll take it easy now, for this month will be dull anyway,' will get just what he's looking for."

"It's all in your mind."

"This prattle about 'dull seasons' is a mongrel theory, stred by mental weakness, mothered by indifference and nursed by the universal tendency of human nature to fight shy of work."

"Suppose there are one or two or five thousand people gone out of town on their summer vacations. There are more visitors than that that come into town every day."

"There is plenty of business to be got if you only make up your mind to go after it. We can have what we want in this world provided we're not afraid to work and sweat and advertise."

"You can have dull months if you want them, but you'll be out of date if you do. They're not in style any more."

STREETS AS PLAYGROUNDS. How Children of City Spend Time and Their Favorite Games.

The People's Institute took a snapshot census of children in the streets of New York city between 4 and 5 o'clock one afternoon. Edward M. Barrows, who directed the census, made the results public recently.

The 500 investigators observed 127,727 children. Of these 27,004 were idling and 23,971 more were standing around watching others play. Far and away the most popular sport was baseball, which in one form or another found 13,000 participants—11,500 boys and 500 girls. The girls turned the tables on the boys, however, when it came to carling for babies. This popular outdoor sport had 4,711 devotees—2,800 girls and 521 boys. The census director set down 20,841 children as engaged in wholesome competitive games.

Less than two-thirds of 1 per cent of the children were found fighting—903 boys and seven girls. There were 740 gamblers, of whom only twenty-eight were girls. Some of the favorite street games among the boys as listed in the census are "kick the can," "potsey," "shiny," "cowboys and Indians," marbles and writing on sidewalks.

NO MORE DULL MONTHS FOR WIDE AWAKE STORES.

Plenty of Business at All Times For Those Who Go After It.

Under the caption "Dull Months Out of Style" the Kansas City Times says: "A dull month? Not on your cash register! Dull months are for dull people, not for live ones."

"If you were a carpenter and your saw was dull would you say, 'I can't work this month—my saw is dull?'"

"Not for one blessed minute!"

"You'd get up in the morning and file that saw before breakfast. You'd put an edge on that saw that would make it eat its way through an oak board like a ten-year-old boy through a piece of pumpkin pie."

"The live merchant or manufacturer does exactly the same thing. The minute he sees the first faint sign of approaching dullness he sharpens up his business tools and goes after more business."

"And he gets it too."
