COUNTRY COMMENT

A Column of John Stark's Caustic, to-the-Point Editorials

From the returning hop pickers I learn that the wives and daughters of Portland bankers were out taking in the hop picking and seemed to enjoy themselves greatly.

During a recent rain storm our old cat tried to get her kittens in a dry place. The kittens having been brought up in an outdoor sanitarium had been leaky, did not readily follow her call.

I don't mean to imply that you are similarly situated, not at all, for you are vintner just as grandpa did, and he had studied the question, so of course you are right.

From a New York report I learn of a woman giving birth to a son on an old, deserted pier, where she was found and sent to the Bellevue Hospital, where it was learned she had been without food for many days.

Only a few days ago I picked up a copy of Dunn's Trade Review which boasted that more than one billion dollars worth of farm products had been shipped out of this happy land in the past fiscal year.

Not long ago a couple of likely looking young men tried to sell me a book. (I didn't have the price.) Among other things the spokesman mentioned was about "the second coming of Christ."

In a recent issue of Dunn's I learn that the money changers of Wall street will divide one hundred and eighty million of stolen wealth. I, too, am looking for the coming of a second Christ to kick their tables over.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold.

Will G. Richmond, a resident of Inglewood, Cal., will answer any inquiries about Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. He further says "Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has greatly benefited me for the bronchial trouble and cough, after I used other remedies that failed. It is more like a food than a medicine." A WOMAN'S VIEWS

The Water Question, City Officials, and Local Option Opinions

Yes, let us have pure water from the Clackamas river, and stop this expense of hunting a pure supply from unreliable sources. When Oregon City has her own pure water system people will feel safe in locating in one of Oregon's most beautiful cities.

Only a few days ago some friends of the writer, were in Oregon City and while they admired our city they also remarked that if we had pure water they should surely locate here.

How many graves do you think are in our cemeteries today, if they had their proper headstones would be a bottle? There are many and more yet to follow, and we feel sure every honest woman will vote for the Local Option November 4th.

Thanks from Mt. Pleasant The Clackamas County Fair carried off the silver trophy (a silver cup) going to Mr. E. E. Kellogg as he collected the material for the exhibit, and now asks for space to thank those who contributed to the collection.

DEAD HEADS MUST PAY Can't Take Paper Year or so, and Then Say "Did Not Subscribe"

The supreme court of the United States recently made a ruling which in substance makes the subscriber who takes his paper out of the post-office and refuses to pay the subscription, guilty of felony and liable to arrest as any other who defrauds.

Not long ago a couple of likely looking young men tried to sell me a book. (I didn't have the price.) Among other things the spokesman mentioned was about "the second coming of Christ."

A Splendid Success The dedication of the new public school and Juvenile Fair held at Aurora, Saturday, October 11, was a grand success.

MARSHALL J. LAZELLE

A Brief Memorial by an Admirer of the Family

At 12:40 P. M. Friday, October 9th, Marshall J. Lazelle, after an illness of exactly four weeks, passed away at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Lazelle.

Marshall was an exceptionally bright and promising young man. He had been given the best of schooling and had taken advantage of his opportunities. A graduate of the Oregon Agricultural College, that institution largely claimed his latter activities in life, his final illness being contracted while accompanying the State's demonstration train through Eastern Oregon as a representative of that department.

"How is Marshall?" has been the question asked by many of our friends.

IT IS CLASS LEGISLATION

Writer Thinks Compensation Act Should be Voted Down November 4

Possibly I do not fully understand the Labor Compensation act, included in the referendum to be voted on at the coming November election. I have read the bill as well as different editorial comments in our various daily and weekly newspapers and have almost made up my mind to vote against it for the following reason: It savors of class legislation at the expense of ALL THE PEOPLE.

Our judges and county officers are salaried men and their pay goes on whether they work or play. Jury empanes, partially at least, return to the taxpayer and as earlier inferred, a review of the fact will reveal but little litigation of this nature in rural districts.

Hazardous employment usually calls for increased wages over less dangerous occupations and should be able to take care of itself without

LOGAN

There was a good attendance at the October grange meeting and a short but interesting program was given. H. G. Starkweather had been invited by the lecturer to be present and speak of his European experiences but was caught on the United States grand jury instead.

W. E. Cromer bought the prunes on the Ole Thorupson place. Work has been suspended on the Logan-Barton road. E. N. Brock has taken the contract to operate the telephone central until the next annual meeting.

A dozen Chinese have been making the rounds picking up potatoes after the horse-power diggers have had to lay off on account of the rain. They board themselves which is appreciated by the women folks.

Jacob Gerber is back from Missouri and has been shown that it gets warm there, 108 in the shade and the shade doesn't cover harvest workers.

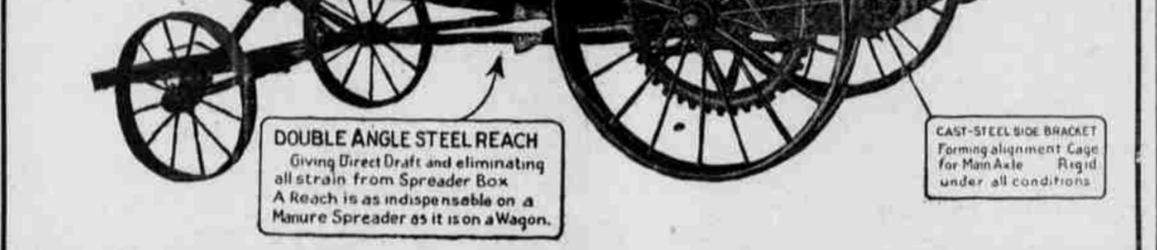

S. E. Gerber is back from Idaho and was in Oregon City last Saturday. He is stopping in Portland at present.

O. D. Robbins has a cow that wants to do her part to boost the dairy business. She is the mother of twins, one of each sex, which, according to accepted dairy knowledge or tradition, condemns them both for the butcher.

A Marvelous Escape "My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." first query among his many friends the past four weeks and the announcement of his death was a severe shock to them. To the parents it means the loss of an only son who but a few weeks ago promised so much. Ever obedient and thoughtful with great respect for Father and Mother, it is they who will miss him, and in their sorrow and bereavement their legion of friends mourn with them.

Aside from these, he leaves one whom, had he retained his health, would have become his bride September 20th last, Miss Lela Smith, daughter of J. W. Smith, our county commissioner. While a stranger to most of Marshall's friends yet she has our warmest sympathy and she evinced her love for the deceased by constant attention in the sick room. With all preparations perfected for the crowning event of young manhood it is an especially sad ending, for what seemed so bright and promising.

The funeral services occurred at the residence at 10 o'clock Sunday the 11th, when W. S. U'Ren made appropriate remarks and kindly friends sang that grand old song "Rock of Ages."

The interment was made in the family burial lot at Canemah Cemetery and was conducted by the Masonic Order, assisted by the Order of Elks, both of which he was a member. Many were the floral emblems completely covering his casket, coming from friends all over the state representing the donors' last expression of love and affection.

state aid. Our laws now provide protection for the employer provided proper protection is afforded. If failing on his part is not entitled to outside aid. In short one class of people should not be compelled to contribute to another class without some participation therein. Such acts are but vicious legislation enacted without mature deliberation and should properly come under the referendum. Understand, it's the principal, not the small amount of tax this measure would entail on each taxpayer, that suggests this exposition of my views. I have a guess coming, and I guess that I shall favor the referendum on this would be law.

Colton Equity News

Colton Local met September 4, 1913, the number of members present being 13 out of a total of 33 members.

We have decided that the way for us to better our egg market will be to better our quality. As a plan to do that we have decided that each and every egg seller stamp his eggs, and a stamp with the letters "C. O." meaning Colton, Oregon, was decided upon. Each seller to have a number on his stamp to represent his name.

At the last meeting of the Mountaineers local in Washington County, the proposition to raise the dues to $10 a year was adopted and it will be effective November 1. The apportionment of each member will be as follows: National union 35 cents, state union 25 cents, county union 20 cents, local union $1.85, official paper 25 cents, organizer $2, share of stock in warehouse company $5.

This matter was dispensed with by instructing the county delegate to the next State Convention to present the same to said convention.

A resolution was offered asking the convention to adopt the Item $1500 Exemption Amendment. On account of the small attendance and due to the fact that many of us have given this subject so little attention, action on the acceptance of the resolution was postponed until the January meeting.

A committee of three, consisting of Mr. King, Mr. J. A. Randolph and H. M. Robbins was appointed to draft resolutions of condolence upon the death of one of our estimable members Mr. Marshall Lazelle. A copy of these resolutions appearing elsewhere in this issue.

Perhaps the most important of all is the fact that the ladies were here in full force, and the "Feed" was certainly abundant and sumptuous and the proofs that the feeds are getting better is in the leavings. The meeting in general was enjoyed by all and those absent certainly missed a treat. Colton has a fine new large hall lighted by electricity and when it comes to doing things the men and women of Colton are second to none.
