Pathe Weekly Camp in Glacier Park

To include the wonderful scenery of Glacier National park in the new "See America First" series, Ralph R. Earle, camera man for the Pathe Freres company, recently made a trail blazing tour of unexplored regions in the great national playground. Under the guidance of Tom Dawson, a veteran guide of the Rockies of northwestern Montana, the Pathe man secured some unusual pictures of the waterfalls, mountains, glaciers, rivers and lakes, which make the park more famous for its scenic wonders than the Alps of Switzerland. Always seeking something new and marvelous for the patrons of motion picture theaters all over the world, the Pathe company has sent its northwestern representative into Glacier National park on several trips. Leaving the big hotel at Glacier park station, the Pathe party made a trip over Mount Henry, where a trail is now being built, and came out near Two Medicine camp, one of the beauty spots of the park. For a week the Pathe party, with its pack animals, camping outfit and guides, blazed new trails into remote regions, and beautiful waterfalls, ice fields and picturesque mountain ranges were filmed. The picture under the caption "Blazing Trails in Glacier National Park" was recently released by the Pathe company and is now being shown all over the United States.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDY

WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?
Exodus 20:12-21—Sept. 14.
"Thou shalt love * * * thy neighbor as thyself."—Luke 10:27.

THE Ten Commandments were written upon two stone tablets. One bore the first four commandments, appertaining to God; the other, the remaining six, appertaining to humanity. The essence of these last six was expressed in Jesus' words, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

Whoever loves his neighbor will not intentionally injure him in act, word or thought. Hence, Love expresses the full measure of the requirements of the Law. (Romans 13:10) Love is at liberty to do more than the Law requires, but cannot do less.

While only Christians are credited by the Lord with fulfilling the requirements of the Law—because of the allowance made for their weaknesses on account of their relationship with Christ—nevertheless, the Jews and many others have been blessed in proportion as they endeavored to fulfill the Law. Hence it is wise and proper to lift high the Divine standards.

Honor Father and Mother.
All parents are deserving of consideration from their children. Yet, of course, the degree of respect must depend upon the character of the parents, to some extent. With disobedience to parents rank and rampant everywhere. It may seem a hard saying, but we believe it true, that the child's "Thou shalt do no murder" disobedience is due to the parent or the guardian.

The child may have been ill-born. Discontent and rebellion in the mother's mind during the period of gestation may have so marked the child that no amount of training may fully recover it. In such a case parents may well be patient with unhappy, disobedient dispositions in their children.

Perhaps the parents were only partially to blame. Perhaps their minister did not preach the laws of God, their human operation and the penalties of their violation, but gave flowery essays and anecdotes containing neither food for the spiritual nature nor assistance in understanding and combating the human weaknesses. Perhaps the father forgot that he had a duty toward his offspring, chiefly served by assisting his wife to thoughts of kindness, gentleness, nobility, etc.

A modern writer of influence holds that Sunday Schools, while accomplishing good in one direction, have also weakened the respect of children for parents and released parents from appreciation of their parental responsibilities. One hour per week in Sunday School cannot take the place of continual parental supervision.

Statistics show that boys from sixteen to twenty years old constitute about one-third of all dangerous criminals, and that their proportionate number is increasing. Hence benevolent people should especially co-operate with the Divine command by encouraging obedience to parental authority.

"Thou Shalt Do No Murder."
Nothing in this command forbids the necessary killing of animals. Neither does it forbid the execution of criminals, for thus it would conflict with Divine Law elsewhere expressed, and practised by Divine direction.

This commandment teaches that life is to be prized, not jeopardized. Its spirit, Jesus declared, forbids an angry, murderous spirit, restrained merely by fear of consequences. This commandment makes it incumbent upon those employing labor or having supervision of others to safe-guard against accidents. To allow self-interest or love of money to perpetuate dangerous conditions is to violate this commandment.

Commit Not Adultery.
One result of man's fall has been depravity of sexual appetites—unchastity, lack of self-control. These tendencies lead away from God and righteousness. The family unit of one husband and one wife, originally established in Eden, is a corner stone of righteousness in both family and national life.

"Thou Shalt Not Steal."
To steal is to take from another his possessions. Some subtle forms of theft are through stock speculations, fake companies, organized to take advantage of others, etc. Making false returns to the tax assessor is stealing. So are smuggling and failure to give agreed upon services for wages received. But the worst form of theft is stealing another's good name, in violation of the Scriptures.

"Bear No False Witness."
Daily is the spirit of this injunction violated, not only in misrepresenting what we wish to sell or buy, but by indirect statements by a nod, a shrug, or by silence when it is understood to mean consent.

"Thou Shalt Not Covet."
Covetousness is a heart disease which has to do with every crime; for sins have their basis in selfishness, which is covetousness. Whoever would keep the spirit of God's Law must guard against covetousness.

Good Ink, but No Bread.
Sveynhem and Pannartz, the two Germans who were the first to print books in Rome, used paper and types of excellent quality. Their ink on pages printed more than 400 years ago can vie in blackness with the best of the present day. Yet with all their labors they often lacked bread. In a petition to the pope they informed his holiness that their house was full of proof sheets, but that they had nothing to eat.

Between the Two.
"I was so glad when my musical neighbor on one side got rid of his baby grand."
"I suppose so."
"But I got no relief from that, for my neighbor on the other side has a grand baby."—Baltimore American.

A Hypocrite.
Teacher (after explaining the character of the Pharisee)—And now what do we mean by a "hypocrite"? Pupil—Please, miss, a man wot says he is wot he isn't, but he ain't.—London Punch.

More Important.
"I feel as if I were going to have appendicitis."
"Well, I feed a new gown, so you'll just have to wait."—Life.

Flat Refusal.
Jack—So Kitty gave you a flat refusal? Cholly—Yes, she said she wouldn't live in one or with one.—Boston Transcript.

He who knows most grieves most for wasted time.—Dante.

Colds To Be Taken Seriously
Intelligent people realize that common colds should be treated promptly. If there is sneezing and chilliness with hoarseness, tickling throat and coughing, begin promptly the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It is effective, pleasant to take, checks a cold and stops the cough which causes loss of sleep and lowers the vital resistance.—Huntley Bros. Co.

FACING SERIOUS DANGER.

Things That Almost Happen Sometimes Bring Gray Hairs.
"It is the things that almost happen which cause gray hairs in this business rather than the things that actually occur," said a veteran captain of an excursion boat.

"Every captain of a passenger carrying boat has the sinking of the Titanic, the Slocum disaster and such accidents on his mind continually, but somehow it's not the accidents that really occur that bring gray hairs.

"My first gray hair appeared when I was thirty-three years old. Then I was running a boat to Coney Island, and in the lower bay fog settled down thicker than mush. I held a compass course, and everything went smoothly enough until it was almost time to change the course and head from the bay toward Coney. I had heard a boat-by her whistle I knew she was a towing tug—pass me further up the bay.

"Even though I could not see the bow of my boat I was hanging with my head out of the pilot house window and straining my eyes to see, when my quartermaster, who was standing on the very peak of the bow, called for me to reverse. I rang for full speed astern and threw the wheel hard to port.

"The fog lifted for an instant and dead ahead of me I saw a scow with 'Dynamite' written on her side and a red flag floating above her. I knew that meant she was loaded with dynamite, and the Lord pity us if we ran near down. I kept the wheel hard over, and it seemed to me the engineer was an eternity in getting the engine reversed. We just grazed the dynamite scow. I learned afterward that she had been in tow of a tug and that the hawser broke and the tug crew had lost sight of the scow in the fog.

"When I got home that night my wife pointed out a gray hair—the first I had ever had.

"My next bad scare came one Sunday when I was captain of another excursion steamer. We were at the pier loading passengers. There were two hawsers out to the pier, and the one astern broke. The gangplanks were out, and it being a very hot day, people were socking aboard. There were at least seventy-five persons on the two gangplanks when the hawser broke, and the boat commenced to drift from the pier. I yelled, and the crew tried to force the passengers off the gangplanks, but those in the rear kept pushing, and the crew was helpless.

"There was only one thing to do. I rang for reversed engines. With the bow line out the reversing of the boat naturally backed her up against the dock and held her there, but that bow hawser was an old one, and if it broke the boat would back away and dump every one on the gangplanks into the river.

"To me it seemed like an age, but it was really not more than a minute until they had another line out astern and I could stop the engine. That caused several gray hairs.

"In all my experience I've never had a serious accident; but, as you see, I have a head full of gray hairs caused by things that almost happened."—New York Sun.
