Dr. Turner Urges Oregon City Get Pure Water Supply

By Dr. W. A. Turner, Naturopath

I would again urge the people of Oregon City to get together on the question and secure pure mountain water as soon as possible. You will never be safe from epidemics of disease as long as you drink.
Willamette sewer water.

I resided and practiced in Los Angeles, Cal., for twenty years, where we were compelled to drink water from the Los Angeles "river," a very pure stream compared with the Willamette, but sickness frequently came and the supply was also getting in-adequate, so they went up into Neva-da and tapped Owens' Lake, just such water as Bull Run.

They built an aqueduct and tunneled through mountains and desert for 270 miles at a cost of nearly twentyfive millions dollars, but she now has not only an inexhaustible supply of pure water for a city of over a milpeople, but sells water to other

Smallpox in the Navy Smallpox in the Navy

The Army and Navy Journal, devoted to the interest of the military service, is a most excellent paper of its kind. In its efforts to praise the work and efficiency of army and navy officers, which is entirely commendable, the toadying sycophance it displays in trying to elaborate on the long of the Sth I read a couple of letters from Mr. Cridge in which he proposes to call a mass meeting and give the County Court, the Assessor and the Board of Equalization their order and make them obey orders or else recall the whole bunch, and put in a bunch that will obey orders. work of the medical departments of the services, is nauseating.

A recent issue deals largely with the wonderful success (?) of compulsory vaccination, alleging that it has practically "stamped out" small pox and typhoid in the army and navy. With the U. S. government's unlimited resources behind them the medical officers of the army and navy are enabled to select men who are practically physically perfect and thus in a large measure are immune to discase. Through military disci-pline they are enabled to absolutely enforce cleanliness, hygiene and sanitation. All eating places are models of cleanliness. Sickness is a rare thing among the men.

To make doubly sure of protection by "preventive medicine," the men are repeatedly vaccinated. Now, along comes the battleship

"Ohio," returning from a trip to the Mediterranean. Before she landed it was reported by wireless that small pox was epidemic on board. She had reported several deaths among the sailors and that hundreds have been down with the disease. Can the medical officers explain this condition among men protected?

An American warship is the cleanest place on earth, painfully clean and no smallpox could be "caught" on it or from it. It is simply the old, old story. Smallpox is a filth disease, caused by internal filth, helped by bad atmospheric conditions, and these sailors have been at the mercy of the medical faddists until their systems are rotted by these filthy rums and outraged nature has finally rebelled and expelled the filth in the shape of smallpox.

Vaccination makes disease-does not prevent or cure it. It is only a medical superstition and a climax of the crazy "germ" theory, which, if abandoned by the medical profession, will leave them nothing to "cure," with, as both "medicine" and "modern surgery" have been pronounced failures by the most eminent men of the medical profession.

Preventive Medicine paramount craze with the medical fraternity just now is "pre-ventive" medicine or "curative" medicine for sick people and "preventive" medicine for well people. We also have "scientifie" medicine, but I confess that I don't know just what it is, for science is exact and medicine is experimental. Still, it is really pathetic, this effort of the American Medical Association, though its tive amount of camparison I came to tools in the various state health the conclusion that under the exboards and legislatures to snake emption bill there are two classes

Now that begins to sound like business. Mr. Cridge did not say just when he was going to call the mass meeting, but when ever he is ready let us all know and we'll be there, if possible. The idea of Mr. Cridge to make the assessor assess the rich fellows the way we want him to, and then to favor the little fellow, also the way we want him to, and then the county court is no tto interfere, and the Board of Equalization is to egalize the assessment rolls, as made out by the assessor, and then, by getting his Home Tax Exemp-tion bill passed, he will have the whole tax problem solved, and everything will work along smooth and

Those rich fellows won't dare to say a word, but will just have to take their medicine and keep still, for the Board of Equalization has passed on the assessment rolls and legalized them, and the law is just what we want to make it.

Now this is one of the most interesting propositions I have heard for some time, and appeals directly to the poor, burdened taxpayer. But it is a very important question in my mind, whether the present Assessor and the other county officers, com-posing the Board of Equalization, can be depended on to obey orders of the mass meeting, and if they don't the only way that seems clear to my mind is to recall the whole bunch, and let Mr. Cridge pick the candidates to fill their places, and not have any candidate who will not take oath to obey orders, strictly, and elect Mr. Cridge for county Assussor, and let him run the assess-ing to suit himself. was for the express purpose to make a us forget the J. I have created a little, imaginery county of my own on paper and I have created all grades of property holders from $100,000 down to $200, or $300, and assessed the whole bunch at a while this prominent person has been given the immunity bath, of what good would it be to shut him up in prison? Then a good share of the funds was spent in plank roads, which was all right for that time, as planks were cheap, often being placed on the road at $3.00 per thousand. Was this mon-ey thrown away? We think not, as in most cases the grade is left for a hard surface road. Now to say that thing we must help to do. We stand the crushed rock road is a success is side by side with the men and are the crushed rock road is a success is a long way from the truth, as past equally citizens of the United States experience has proven.

Now that being the case, how are these certain gentlemn from town going to build 100 miles of good, per-manent hard surface road at $6000 per mile as some have stated with no gravel at hand. Of course they will tell you that the county by bonding itself for $600,000, we can get our roads built cheaper than at the present time. Will we?

Will we get the roads that will do the farmer most good? Or will we simply go in our pockets to pay our share of this pro posed bond issue, its interest and commission and take what we can get or work under the special tax plan and get what we pay for? Louis Frink.
