THE COURIER'S STAND

A Few Statements of its Position on the Good Roads Matter

Tuesday the Courier editor received a letter from a farmer living a few miles west of the city. It was a personal letter, protesting on the stand this paper is taking on good roads, arguing that each locality must work out the roads problem; denouncing the proposed bond issue, and closing with this paragraph:

I am sorry to see the Courier go over to the bankers, bond buyers, tourists and auto clubs after its splendid fight of two years for the masses.

The Courier editor has heard many protests along the same line the past three weeks, and here is a statement or two:

This paper favors this good roads proposition because it is a far better system than we are now working under.

Clackamas county is paying the price for hard faced roads and its getting cheap mud roads.

This year the county will spend enough money on roads and bridges ($318,000) to build forty miles of hard surfaced, durable, main roads and have $75,000 left for bridge work and repairs to side roads.

This county has spent in the last five years on roads and bridges (over $1,000,000) enough money to have built 150 miles of hard surfaced main line roads throughout the county and have had $100,000 left for repair and bridge work.

These are facts. They stick out like the sore thumb. It will not cost us any more than we are now paying to have hard surfaced roads.

The Courier will give and take from any man who can present a remedy and back it, but the above paragraph is no argument.

The proposed bond issue is something definite. It is a big improvement over our present system, and it can be proven to any man who is open to reason, that it is a great saving of county money and will show roads for the money.

It is the only remedy before the people in definite shape, and until the protesting readers can show something better, and can put it right up to the people, this paper will say with the men and the movement that is far better than our present wasteful and terribly expensive supervisor "system."

Is this plain?

ENTERPRISE WAS IN WRONG

Equity President Refutes its Story of the Equity's Road Action

Editor Courier:—

In the Enterprise of January 18th and 20th, were articles under glaring headlines reaching across the front page, which PRETEND to tell of the action taken on the good roads question, by the Farmers' Society of Equity at their state convention on Saturday.

I wish to ask the members of the F. S. E. in justice to their state officers and delegates, not to place too much faith in what the Enterprise says until they have heard from their delegates' report.

The only resolution introduced at the state meeting last Saturday, on the good roads question was one instructing our Secretary to write to the Oregon senators and congressmen urging them to use their influence to have the money that would otherwise be used to build additions, to the navy, spent on the highways of the country.

There is nothing in the resolution criticizing the County Court for its methods, or favoring hard-surfaced roads or any kind of roads, as stated in the Enterprise. There was no plan whatever, as to how or where this money should be spent, and yet the Enterprise editor draws on his imagination, and prints a lot of stuff which is to say the least, misleading.

What the Oregon City daily expects to gain by misrepresenting the facts with regard to the action of the F. S. E. I can't imagine, but I am sure that when the delegates to the convention go back to their locals and make reports and make comparisons between what really took place and what the Enterprise says was done, the deductions won't be very favorable to the Enterprise, as a truthful publication.

This is not the first time that I have found it necessary to refute reports published in this Oregon City daily, and I assure you that it becomes tiresome. The truth could be made to serve the purpose of filling up space, just as well as the kind of stuff published in this paper on the above mentioned dates, and be more to the credit of the editor.

I hope the members of F. S. E. who were not present at the convention, will not criticize the actions of their delegates until they have read the secretary's report.

W. Grisenthwaite, State President of F. S. E.

MANNING TUESDAY NIGHT

Democratic Candidate Will Make Street Speech Tuesday Night

John Manning, Democratic candidate for governor, will deliver an open air address in this city, corner of Seventh and Main streets Tuesday night at eight o'clock. If the weather does not permit, the speech will be in the W. O. W. hall.

Mr. Manning is looming up as the very probable nominee for governor, and his "Back to the Soil" platform is becoming popular with the people. The women of Oregon City are especially invited to hear this talk.

What Cures Eczema?

Are Told How to Regain Strength and Vigor.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength.

Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, I am sure you would be unable to supply the demand. I never took anything before that did me so much good as Vinol. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble, old people, and create strength we will return your money.

AGUST ERICKSON JAILED

In Default of Fine Tavern Keeper Starts 125-Day Sentence

Because of failure to pay a fine of $250 for selling liquor without a license, August Erickson was arrested by Sheriff Mass Wednesday, ready to start the jail term, and is now serving a 125 day sentence.

Erickson is proprietor of the once famous "Clackamas Health Resort" on the Clackamas river. Sheriff Mass presented evidence to the grand jury which indicted Erickson for selling liquor without a license. Judge Campbell fined him $250 and a year in jail but remitted the jail sentence if the fine was paid within ten days. It was not paid, and Wednesday Sheriff Mass was ordered to arrest and bring him in. It is probable the place will now be closed.

WILLAMETTE VALLEY SOUTHERN

Stockholders Change Name of Railroad to One More Representative

O. D. Eby announced at the Live Wire luncheon Tuesday that at the recent stockholders' meeting it was decided to change the name of the Clackamas Southern railroad to Willamette Valley railroad, giving as the reasons that the road would not be confined to Clackamas county, and that as the Willamette Valley was known everywhere, the name would be more fitting for the road's future.

Mr. Eby stated that the road's financial condition was much stronger than a year ago, that a bond issue was contemplated, and that he believed it would be finished and in operation to Mt. Angel within the year.

SULLIVAN HEADS COMMERCIAL CLUB

Latourette Secretary, Hodges, Brodie and Sullivan, Governors

There was no strife for office at the annual election of the Commercial Club Saturday night. T. W. Sullivan was the unanimous choice for president, to succeed B. T. McBain; M. D. Latourette was again elected Secretary; W. S. Sullivan, E. E. Hodges and E. E. Brodie to the board of governors, and E. E. Brodie treasurer.

B. T. McBain and O. E. Freytag read their reports of the work accomplished during the year; the financial report was read, and after the business Judge Ryan of Salem and W. S. U'Ren of this city made short talks.

The Commercial Club has a large membership and it has several plans in view for the coming year.

DOING SPLENDID WORK

County Humane Society Looking After the Dumb Brutes

The Clackamas County Humane Society held its bi-monthly business meeting in the parlors of the Bank of Oregon City on Monday evening of this week, the meeting being presided over by the president, Miss Anita McCarver.

Business of importance was brought up for transaction, among these being several cases of cruelty to horses, which had been reported to the Society, when it was necessary for Adam Wilkinson, special officer of the Society, to take action and have the dumb animals cared for. In one instance a horse was let out to die near Clairmont, and investigation otherwise be used to build additions, to the navy, spent on the highways of the country.

The poor animal was suffering from the heaves, and after a veterinary surgeon was consulted and the animal found incurable, it was humanely put out of its misery.

The Clackamas County Humane Society deserves much praise, and the members of the organization are desirous of being informed of all cruelty cases to dumb animals, and the matter will at once be taken up. No names are mentioned of those giving information.

F. S. E. can't imagine, but I am sure that when the delegates to the convention go back to their locals and make reports and make comparisons between what really took place and what the Enterprise says was done, the deductions won't be very favorable to the Enterprise, as a truthful publication.

GROWING

Thirty-five new names went on to the Courier subscription list this week, and without solicitation.

The Courier covers Clackamas county like an umbrella.

POULTRY BREEDING

An Oregon Hen Lays Three Hundred Eggs Within a Year.

The 300 egg hen has arrived! At least Oregon claims to have her, says the Country Gentleman. This appears to be the world's record for fowls. The Oregon champion deserves the ribbon for America, and her record is all the more convincing since she was one of a pen in which another hen laid 291 eggs. The best five hens of the flock are said to have exceeded 280 eggs each, while the entire flock of forty hens averaged more than 210 eggs each a year.

While it is true that high records, achieved by special breeding and feeding, may have little significance to the commercial poultryman, they do give more grounds for the hope that the commercial hen with the ability of producing 200 eggs or thereabouts each year may some time not be rare.

Of course the 200 egg hen is no more the commercial standard today than is the cow that can produce 1,000 pounds of butter in a year, but no one will deny that the 1,000 pound cow has had a lot to do with the formation of herds that average 700 pounds a year. Likewise, with the 300 egg hen.

The up to date farmer is always busy laying his plans for the next season's work, no matter whether it is summer or winter just ahead.

Make Flats In Winter.

Make a lot of flats this winter for use in the garden. A flat is a shallow box of convenient size used for starting seedlings, for rooting cuttings or for carrying potted plants, pots, soil or other material. Many uses will be found for the flat, and it is advisable to have a good supply on hand. Soap or other boxes obtained from a grocer cut down to two and a half or three inches in depth make good flats.

A quantity of flats will be found very useful when gardening operations begin next spring.

FRUIT AND SHADE TREES.

Now is the time to attend to old fruit and shade trees that are overgrown with moss and lichens, which harbor a horde of injurious insects.

Make a compound of commercial caustic soda, one pound, and an equal quantity of crude potash. Mix each separately with water; then mix the two solutions together, stirring in a pound of soft soap and adding sufficient water to make ten gallons of the complete mixture. Smaller quantities can be made in the same proportions.

Care must be exercised in using this mixture not to get it in the eyes or on the clothes, and gloves should be worn in preparing and using it.

Apply the compound with a syringe, brush or sprayer to destroy the moss, lichens and hibernating insects such as the woolly aphis, codling moth, caterpillars and scale, clearing out any other insects that may be lurking in the trees.

Colds To Be Taken Seriously

Intelligent people realize that common colds should be treated promptly. If there is sneezing and chilliness with hoarseness, tickling throat and coughing, begin promptly the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It is effective, pleasant to take, checks a cold and stops the cough which causes loss of sleep and lowers the vital resistance.—Huntley Bros. Co.

The Gaelic Tongue.

The Gaelic language was once spoken by a considerable number of the human race in the British Isles, the Isle of Man, northern France and Spain. There is evidence that the Gaelic branch of the Celtic breed was widespread. For instance, it is maintained by some excellent authorities that the Cimbric, who threatened at one time to overwhelm Rome and who were stopped by Marius, were of Gaelic speech. The ancient language is found today in the Isle of Man, Wales, the highlands of Scotland, western Ireland and in Brittany, northern France.—New York American.
