THE CALF PATH

A writer from Scotia, Cal., sends in the following poem, by Samuel Foss, and asks if the first part does not remind one of Clackamas county roads.—Ed.

One day through the primeval wood A calf walked home, as good calves should; But made a trail, all bent askew, A crooked trail, as all calves do. Since then two hundred years have fled, And, I infer, the calf is dead; But still he left behind his trail, And thereby hangs my moral tale. The trail was taken up next day By a lone dog that passed that way; And then a wise bell-wether sheep Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep And drew the flock behind it, too, As good bell-wethers always do. And from that day, o'er hill and glade, Through those old woods a path was made, And many men wound in and out, And dodged and turned and bent about, And uttered words of righteous wrath, Because 'twas such a crooked path; But still they followed—do not laugh! The first migrations of that calf, And through this winding woodway stalked Because he wobbled when he walked. This forest path became a lane, That bent and turned and turned again; This crooked lane became a road, Where many a poor horse, with his load Toiled on beneath the burning sun, And travelled some three miles in one; And thus a century and a half They trod the footsteps of that calf. The years passed on in swiftness; fleet; The road became a village street, And this, before men were aware, A city's crowded thoroughfare; And soon the central street was this Of a renowned metropolis. And men two centuries and a half Trod in the footsteps of that calf. Each day a hundred thousand rout Followed the zig-zag calf about; And over the crooked journey went The traffic of a continent. A hundred thousand men were led By one calf near three centuries dead. They followed still his crooked way, And lost one hundred years a day; For thus that reverence is lent To well established precedent. A moral lesson this might teach Were I ordained and called to preach; For men are prone to go it blind, Along the calf paths of the mind. And work away from sun to sun To do what other men have done. They follow in the beaten track And out and in, and forth and back, And still their devious course pursue, To keep the path that others do.

REDLAND

D. C. Fouts, who had a paralytic stroke a week ago, died the 27th, aged 69 years. He was born in Ohio. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church and conducted by Rev. Smith and the G. A. R., of which Mr. Fouts was a member. The interment was in the Logan cemetery, and he leaves to mourn him his wife, Mrs. Fouts, Herbert, Cooke, and Minnie Fouts and Mrs. Jessie Fredricks. His battle has been rough, so rest in peace.

EAGLE CREEK

Miss Edith Chapman, assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Essie Chapman, and Samuel Eddy of Portland, will give a musical concert at the Douglass school house Saturday evening, March 14, 1914. Mrs. Royer, of Portland, sister of Mrs. McMillan, was the guest of the latter during the latter part of last Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Douglass were the dinner guests of Mrs. Howlett on Sunday.

CLARKES

W. H. Kleinmiller is cutting wood for W. H. Bottemiller at present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ralph were out from West Lynn last Tuesday in Clarkes to visit Mrs. Ralph's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bottemiller. Buol Bros. are taking out more stumps on their farm. Miss Mary Bottemiller went to West Lynn to visit with her sister, Mrs. Charles Ralph for a short time. Miss Ida Zwalhen is able now to get up after a long ill spell. Mr. Marshall and boys are hauling hay at the present time.

THE LADIES' WORK

W. C. T. U. Starting Active Campaign in the City for Better Conditions. Last Friday afternoon February 27th, at different homes in Oregon City under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., meetings were held and some of the prominent ladies of Oregon City and Portland. At the home of rs. James Shelly, Mountain View, 20 ladies assembled, and Mrs. Van Auker as leader, introduced Miss Brood, a lady who has travelled as a missionary in foreign lands. She gave a splendid talk on her travels, also the duties of citizenship. Miss Bold gave a reading and Mrs. Olmstead sang. At the home of Mrs. R. M. C. Brown 27 ladies were present. Mrs. L. T. Hadden of Portland, who was entertaining and paid a tribute to Francis Willard and others of our loyal women in the temperance work. Mrs. Anna Snyder entertained with music and singing. At Mrs. McGeehan's home 12 ladies were present. After prayer and a piano recital Mrs. Debok gave a very interesting talk. Eighteen ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Edwards of the Congregational church was the leader. Mrs. Latour-ette gave a splendid talk relative to parents' duty to the child. At the home of Mrs. Ina Kellogg 19 women were present and after a programme Mrs. Nash gave a very helpful talk on the responsibilities of "the parent to the child." The value of high ideals and another—not to nag and be too strict with a child, and teach respect for law and order. Mrs. Miller's home was the gathering point for 19 ladies. A talk by Mrs. Knight was given, after a programme; and at the home of Mrs. Marris 15 ladies were present. After the programme of music and readings, Mrs. Landsborough entertained with a very interesting talk along all lines of the betterment of the home and moral training of the child. At Mrs. Loder's 25 ladies were present. Mrs. Pfingsten was leader, and Mrs. Schoenborn spoke on the responsibility of the parent from a girl as well as a mother. After a piano solo by Mrs. van Brakle, Mrs. Booker gave an inspirational talk on the responsibility women should feel about voting in the fall election and the great work of the W. C. T. U. in originating the Parent-Teachers' meetings and congress of mothers. We are gaining steadily and the day is coming soon like a conquering host. The great reform will sweep into a glorious victory and the white ribbon army will be called the grand army of prohibition. While we have to condense our report we will say that all the meeting places music and refreshments were given and the features of the occasion and none regrets their attendance. This is only a beginning of the campaign to be carried on in this city for the betterment of our homes and public welfare.

A TWILIGHT COLUMN

Politics, News and Observations from Our Suburb

Judge Anderson of our County Court, is the logical candidate for that position for the incoming term. At the call of the people, and with but scant notice, he arranged his private affairs to accept the candidacy for that position at the late recall election, and it is becoming anyone to antagonize his re-election from a Republican platform. He has made good and should receive the unqualified support of his party at least. County Clerk Mulvey should be satisfied with past favors and give others a chance. Once in public office, always in, never did appeal to me and there are others sharing this same feeling.

BEAVER CREEK LOCAL

The Beaver Creek local met in regular session Saturday evening February 28. A large per centage of the members were out. After the transaction of the routine business a number of members were introduced to the second degree in Equity. For sale—O. W. Fisher, 3 ton clover hay at $10; Fred Kamerath, one beef cow; John Hughes brood sow; Henry Herzig, 20 acres of land. S. P. Londergan wants to buy one ton of oats. W. W. Harris, Sec.
