OREGON EQUITY NEWS

An Agricultural Brotherhood. God helps those who help them-

Farmers should not ask others to do for them what they can do for

A good farmer should belong to good farmers' organization.

Are you, Brother Equity member, doing all you ought to for your organization?

Our State Union meets in April. Also our county unions. Elect your good farmers, scientific farmers, but we do not wish to make paupers or millionaires in doing it.

We farmers have produced the good things in generous quantity and other workers have shaped it into artistic ready-to-use blessings that now burdens our merchants' shelves. that Now why do we, the same workers, suffer the want of these same crea-tions of our own hands? Shall these good things be destroyed to create a more urgent demand than already ex ists? We produce life and it starves, maims and kills. Life is a tango. On

We realists, noted for our verdure we realists, noted for our verdire, expected great things from our own two gore, hobble slit Panama canal, and "it might have been" but John ny Bull protested. (Mexico killed one Englishman.) Germany wanted to go into the oil business—but! Uncle Johnny Sam protested on account of American "interests." American in-terest sometimes draws "400" per terest sometimes draws "400" per cent and pays 800 per cent dividends. Sometimes it pays no tax. Sometimes it is fined 29,000,000. It never pays fines. It is a fine paying American meter on your income and pay your taxes early. Patronize home indus-tries and help boost the "Back to the land" movement. Don't be a knocker and remember this is just a starter. Call it statement No. 3.

Portland has an ordinance providing for a double meat inspection. This will provide a few jobs for the unemployed and add some expense to the taxpayers or the producers, or the consumer. If the consuming pub lic has been imposed on by impure meats then some such law is needed. If not, its purpose is purely a politi-snould organize in such numbers and under such regulations as to set the price on meats and then all expense added by license, tax, transportation and inspection would come out of the consumers' pocket as extra time. the consumers' pocket as extra tips to trusts and politicians.

Under present conditions we think all Equity members should be well informed on the politics and business of our national and state governments as well as county affairs. We must watch our markets and get control of the price of our own labor. We also must watch the tax levy and see that we are fairly treated and that a just portion of our tax should be expended to make our occupation.

All Equity members will recognize Brother Grisenthwaite's picture in this week's issue on this page. Brother Grisenthwaite has risen in the Equity Society to a position on the National Executive Board. He is also the Oregon State President and one of this county's executive committee, besides being Vice President with the following matured, when he is entering upon the period of his greatest efficiency and usefulness and before inactivity and mental decay render him unfit for active public service.

If you are satisfied that I am the right man for this place I will appreciate having your support and vote on May 15th.

W. L. Mulvey. that a just portion of our tax should be expended to make our occupation more profitable. Take our navy for an example. They have boycotted the American beef raiser and bought of Argentine, yet they pay the armor trust $616 per ton for armor when the same firms were selling the same armor to Russia for $249. We are paying the trust $17.50 for shrapnel less than 4 inch, when the War De-partment is manufacturing the same identical article for $7.94. We have three times as many officers in our three times as many officers in our army as is needed in proportion to privates. We must curb this robbery of our government by the trusts or we may have to face these same shrapnels to become a free and in-dependent people.

Farmers sell their cotton and wool by the pound. Cotton, after being grown, picked, ginned and baled, sells from 8 to 15c per pound. Wool sells for a little more, say 18 to 30

Now, Brother Farmer, when you buy back this cotton and wool it is not weighed to you, but you can weigh your $15 or $20 suit of clothes of the Equity Warehouse Co. He aimed to the state of the Equity Warehouse Co. He aimed to the state of the Equity Warehouse Co.

The supreme court has knocked the the life out of our pure food law by allowing poison to go in and requiring proof of injury. Court decisions are puzzles even for the judges themselves, but the rules of departments and bureaus of our government are just as bad if not worse. Take the fool regulations of our state horticultural board at Washington City, who now deny nursery stock advantages of Parcel Post, and even that is not all imported stock. You must go through red tape galore and costly inspectors with salty expenses to pay also. Nurseries are closing and orchards are being grubbed. Fool laws can make Oregon a desert.

Iargest vote will be for Brother Grisenthwaite, one of the coming men of Oregon.

It has seemed to us that the city is short of the industry of the coming men of Oregon.

In the city of Indianapolis, Indiana, (the home of the National Union of Equity) there is a co-operative store owned by twenty thousand stock holders. Counting five to the family, they represent one hundred thousand people. Many wholesale houses would like to boast of that many customers. Why not have more co-operative wholesale houses, which buy direct from the producers? Why not the producers do this and control the business? When farmers get thoroughly organized there will be less whys and more contentment and prosperity.

Philadelphia's unemployed and destitute number over thirty thousand men, not counting the women, and children. In order to maintain the price of bananas in the city of Philadelphia the Atlantic Fruit Comnay dumped in Deleware Bay fifteen hundred bunches. Everybody knows that that was a great wrong. The same thing happens with other food stuffs almost every day. The farmer is poor and getting poorer. So are the consumers. Millionaires arrive up between them. The will spring up between them. There will come a remedy soon-peaceful, we

The farmers have found from bit-ter experience that they must lower taxes. This means cutting out all the useless salaried politicians in the state, county and town. If we retain only those that have proved of value to the people I am afraid there will be very few salaried jobs left and there will be another army of un-employed politicians hunting a job not at hard work, but at a private graft. A sort of official I. W. W. I wonder if they could build roads on their honor?

If the Democrats of Clackamas County want to get the next sheriff just nominate "Doug" Thorne, the Equity farmer of Maple Lane. The rest of our county ticket looks de-cidedly Republican, provided such men as Anderson, Casto, Grisenth-waite and even farmer Hunt are nominated. Otherwise there will be two thousand independent voters make the recall look like an early washday breakfast compared to what you will get next November. Down in the Eastern states the farmers papers are urging the far-mers to raise more beef and pork. One farmer formed a sort of co-operative body of farmers and went to a city butcher and wanted to contract beef and pork to him at ten per cent below the market price for three years all he could use. The butcher finally told the farmer that should he undertake to handle their meat the trust would boycott him on many other things that the farmers could not furnish. Now will these Yankee farm papers explain to those farmers where they can sell their beef if they

The Oregonian is opposed to the $1500 exemption. Why! This is a "Made-in Oregon" product by our best citizens. All first class Oregon papers are for it. We farmers think it is fine, but not quite as nice as $2,500. Now, Oregonian, no John D sunts go in Oregon. Put a federal meter on your income and pay your the trust. States What he will Work for if Nominated for Judge If I am nominated and elected I will administer the affairs of the of-fice with the highest efficiency and honesty and at the least possible cost to the taxpayers. I believe that a public officer is a public servant whose duty at all times is to conduct his office with as high standard of honesty morality and integrity as honesty, morality and integrity as a man would his private business.

In auditing claims against the County none of the loose unbusiness-like methods heretofore used will be permitted by me. I will carefully scrutinize each and every bill pres-ented and will allow none unless the same is verified and itemized. I will always exercise the greatest care in the expenditure of the taxpayers' money and will oppose any unwarranted expense.

When good gravel or macadam roads are built I will insist that the same be kept in good repair by a road patrol. The road patrol is a regular employee in the road organiza-tion in the European countries and in a gerat many states in the United States, but no attempt has ever been made in Clackamas County to keep in repair the roads which have

I will favor a less number of road districts for the County, since some of the districts formed have only $432.00, $423.00, $419.00 and one has only $219.88 without the Special tax which amount will do very little good to any district; I believe the best in-terests of Clackamas County would be served by the consolidation of dis-tricts. We now have 59, the Supervisors of which are appointed by the County Court, who can if they so de-sire, build up a formidable political machine. The practice of putting petty politicians in control of a vital public utility, like a county road for farm papers explain to those farmers where they can sell their beef if they should raise it?
