DISMISSED AGAIN

State Board of Health Also Drops Troublesome van Brakle Case

Basing its action upon an opinion given by the attorney general, the State Board of Health Tuesday night of this week put an abrupt end to the action brought by Drs. M. G. Strickland and Guy Mount, of Oregon City, to have dismissed from office Dr. J. A. van Brakle. The State Board of Health refused to dismiss Dr. van Brakle from his position of county health officer, declaring that he had never been legally appointed; and instructing its secretary, Dr. Calvin S. White, to notify the Clackamas County Court that the office was vacant, and that it would be advisable to appoint some duly qualified person to fill the vacancy.

Determining to take this action was reached at a meeting of the State Board of Health held in Portland Tuesday afternoon, and was announced in Portland Tuesday evening, when attorneys representing the complaining Oregon City physicians and Dr. van Brakle appeared to argue legal points, declaring that their action was legal, and that the board was a "disappointment to both sides in the dispute. Counsel for Dr. van Brakle declared that the decision of the board was merely a sidestepping of the issue, while C. D. Latourette, attorney for the complainants, asserted that the board had been handed down, that the Oregon City physicians would start mandamus proceedings to force the state board to remove Dr. van Brakle. Other attorneys, however, declare that this cannot be done, as the law gives the State Board of Health power to remove an officer only for certain specific actions. These attorneys further state that in refusing to recognize van Brakle's appointment, the State Board of Health has tied its own hands.

Among those who are opposed to Dr. van Brakle the remark was made Tuesday evening at the hearing that "Brodie's little joke had fallen flat," this alluding directly to the testimony of Dr. M. G. Strickland before the State Board of Health in Oregon City on March 31, when he stated that he believed van Brakle had been appointed to office as the result of a joke handed up by one preacher and two newspapermen.

In this testimony Dr. Strickland was alluding to the fact that when, after the recall election, members of the county court were endeavoring to find an appointee for the office, Fred G. Taylor, then night editor of the Enterprise, and E. E. Brodie conceived the idea of suggesting to the county court that van Brakle be named for the place. Mr. Taylor made this suggestion to the county court, Mr. Brodie approving it but being restrained from adding his personal endorsement owing to his previous and bitter fight against the recall and recall candidates. At an office conference in the rooms of the Enterprise the wish was expressed that some outside person could be prevailed upon to make a formal suggestion of van Brakle's name to the county court, and shortly after this the Rev. George Nelson Edwards wrote a letter to the Enterprise in which he lauded van Brakle as being a man available and fitted for the position. In conceiving the idea of the "story" that the appointment of an osteopath as county health officer would create.

After the programme of the evening was enjoyed the hostess served refreshments.

The members attending were: Miss Daisy Larson, Miss Alice Larson, Miss Gladys Hamilton, Miss Glenora Williams, Miss Anna Wood, Miss Carlotta Crowley, Miss Mable Tooze, Miss Florence Moore, Mrs. F. J. Tooze.

STATE FISH HATCHERIES

FURNISH EGGS FOR TROUT

System Nice for Dolly Vardens and Water Bailiffs, not for Taxpayers

Three fish wardens entered a local restaurant at half past ten one night last week and stayed there until after midnight. During their "rest" they explained the virtues of the state hatchery system to such patrons of the place as cared to listen to them, and they seemed to be much satisfied with it. After giving all this information away, one of the trio observed the time, and remarking that he guessed all had earned their pay, led his two fellow officers off to a hotel and to slumber.

When the wardens had departed one of the patrons of the place unburdened himself of some observations.

"Those three fellows are all right, I guess," said he. "They seem like decent guys, and I reckon they believe most of what they said. And you can't blame them for taking life easy, considering all things. But they are part of a rotten system, and a system that is costing us plain folks too much in the line of taxes. This salmon hatchery business may be fine as a theory, but as a matter of fact it would be cheaper if the state bought food for trout, instead of raising it."

"You take the salmon these hatcheries turn out, and they are just about as much use to themselves as is an incubator-hatched chicken. When they are put in the stream they can't make their own food, they don't even know how to protect themselves. They've been protected and fed until they expect it, and when they get out they last just long enough to be easy pickings and good dinner for the first dolly vardens or rainbow trout that come along. Even if the hatcheries kept the salmon till they were four or five inches long, they'd be no match for the big trout. But I've seen salmon turned out of the hatcheries that still had part of the egg membrane adhering to them."

"Yes, our hatchery system is a fine thing. It is fine for the trout and fine for the fish wardens and water bailiffs. But it isn't fine for us at all."

SOCIETY NOTES

Parties, Entertainments, etc., of Interest to Lady Readers

Presbyterian Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and banquet of the First Presbyterian Church was held in the parlors of the church last Monday evening, the banquet commencing at 6:30 and the business meeting being held immediately afterwards. In the neighborhood of 150 members of the congregation were seated at the table and enjoyed the good times provided for them by the ladies of the church.

The various departments of the church gave very encouraging reports showing good growth in all departments. After the reports were all handed in and approved the congregation proceeded to the election of officers. The following elders were elected to succeed themselves: W. C. Green, Geo. Brown and A. E. Frost. J. W. Alldredge was elected to succeed himself as deacon as was also Prof. Bowland as a member of the board of trustees. Prof. P. T. Forbes was elected as Sunday School Superintendent to succeed Mrs. W. C. Green, who would not accept the office again.

The good will and friendly feeling of the members of the church toward one another was manifest during the whole of the evening and all expressed themselves as well pleased with the growth of the church.

"The Newly Weds" were entertained on Thursday night by Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Latourette, where progressive whist was enjoyed during the evening followed by a luncheon. Mr.

D. M. KLEMSEN

Republican Candidate for Sheriff Who is Making Active Campaign

A Republican candidate for sheriff who has not been making very much noise, but who has not been asleep at the switch, is D. M. Klemesen, who has been making a quiet canvass of parts of the county for the nomination.

Mr. Klemesen is a German, a member of the Verein and has for many years been a resident of the county. He has a wide acquaintance and many friends.

He has been a resident of the county for 21 years, was for years a miller in the old Imperial flour mill; for six years was in the liquor business and is now the proprietor of a grocery store on Main street.

He says he stands for law enforcement impartially and if elected will give the county an economical administration.

is just as trying and important as your own and perhaps more tedious—but is her strength as great?
Women who are nervous and fretful and easily fatigued promptly gain strength and natural energy by taking Scott's Emulsion afterwards because it is essentially nourishment—not a drug that stupefies or siccates that stimulates—there is pure, rich medicinal nourishment in every drop which nature appropriates to enrich the blood and upbuild the latent forces of the body.

Probably nothing is more popular with physicians for just such conditions than Scott's Emulsion.
