DR. W. E. HEMPSTEAD
Popular Physician who is Republican Candidate for Coroner

ident and property owner of Gladstone, and while he has been but two or three years a resident here, yet he is a man who possesses that pleasing faculty of making and holding friends, and is one of the most popular men in the city. He is a physician of repute and it seems to be generally conceded he will be nominated at the primaries.

Look Out for the Nip
Oregon City has a constable named Jack Frost. This same constable issues a warning in the Courier that he is going to arrest every boy seen smoking a cigarette on the streets. Look out, boys or you will get nipped by Jack Frost.—Stayton Mail.

A Shift of Places
The line-up for the Democratic ticket, as printed last week has been slightly changed. O. D. Eby declining to run for county senate, and Harvey Starkweather becoming a candidate for the office, instead of running for county judge. M. D. Latourette, John Cook and Frank McGugin will be candidates for the House. No candidate for county judge will be put forward.

Masonic Banquet May 1
The sixth annual banquet of the Clackamas county Democrats will be held in Woodman hall Friday night May 1, and preparations are being made for a big time.

BONDING PETITIONS FILED
And Matter Will be Given to Voters May 15, Primary Date
A petition with about 400 signatures, over 5 per cent of the voters, was presented to the county court Wednesday and has been filed with the county clerk. The petition asks that the matter of bonding the county for $600,000 for hard surfaced roads may be given to a vote of the people on the date of the primaries, May 15.

Not a "Conspirator"
At the Dr. van Brakel hearing before the State Board of Health a city physician testified that "a preacher and two newspaper men" framed up the proposition of making Dr. van Brakel health officer.
Any number of people have asked the Courier editor what part he had in this frame-up, and he would state for the benefit of the public that he was in Arizona at the time Judge Anderson made the appointment of Dr. van Brakel; that he did not know his appointment was even that of; that he never passed a word with either Judge Anderson, Dr. van Brakel or anyone else about the matter, and did not know of the appointment until long after it had been made.

COUNCIL WORKS WITH PROBLEMS

suggested that the age limit in the ordinance be changed from 21 to 18 years. Councilman Meyer said that if the law was made to apply to boys up to the age of 21 it would drive boys out of the city where they would be licensing of a poolhall on the hill "probably get into worse devilment."

Councilman Hackett moved that the ordinance be amended, making age limit 50 years instead of 21. Mr. Andrews seconded this amendment amid laughter, and then moved final passage of the ordinance. The ordinance was killed. Councilman Hackett, Long, Meyer, Metzner and Toomey voting against it. Following this the health and police committee and the city attorney were instructed to draw another and less drastic measure.

Ordinances providing $2,000 to oil the streets, $300 for the purchase and setting up of a public scale, $200 for platting and surveying an addition to the cemetery, and establishing the grade of Fifteenth street were passed and signed by the mayor.

Easter Song Service.
The Presbyterian choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Leon Des Larzes, will give an Easter song service at the First Presbyterian church Sunday evening, April 12th at 7:30 P. M.
The soloists of the evening will be Dr. Sherman Moody and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes. Mrs. Z. W. Lindborg will also assist in the music.
There will be special music at the morning service at 11 A. M., when Mrs. Lindborg, one of Oregon City's most accomplished soloists, will sing. The choir will also render an anthem at this service.

WHIRL OF THE WILLY WILLY.

Fearful Force of the Miniature Cyclones of Australia.
Writing in Harper's Magazine, Norman Duncan tells of his first experience with the whirlwinds of the Australian desert:
"All at once a diminutive whirlwind took life under our very feet and went swishing and swirling to the east."
"What's that?" cried the artist, astounded.
"It might have been a partridge whirling to new cover."
"A little willy willy," said the bushman.
"It was a singular phenomenon. Its force and activity were amazing, and the noise it made—the swish and hum and crackle of it—astonished us no less. We watched its erratic course. Its outline was definite, its path no man could guess. And it moved swiftly, only occasionally stopping in indecision to spin like a top. It darted, it swerved, it circled. Had it returned upon its tracks—and there was no certainty that it would not immediately do so—we should have taken to our heels! It was so visible and small that, having short warning, we might have leaped aside and escaped. And a man would earnestly desire to elude it. It had a fearsome violence; it caught up the twigs; it scattered the pebbles; it tore at the scrub; it gathered a cloud of dust. When at last it vanished, a thick red mist, high in the air, we laughed heartily at this comical little six foot cyclone, as we were disposed to regard it.
"Traveling subsequently in the midst of a host of these small winds, we had no laughter left.
"Precisely speaking, the willy willys are those destructive cyclones which originate in the ocean to the north of the continent and blowing to the southwest, fall heavily on the northwestern Western Australian coast from December to March. Off Ninety Mile beach, near Broome, the pearl fishers call them Cockeyed Bobs. Five years ago two visitations of the willy willys sent sixty luggers to the bottom and accounted for the disappearance of 300 men and more. It is now the custom of the pearlers to lie discreetly in harbor during the willy willy season.
If, however, the great willy willy, instead of following the coast line in a southerly direction, deviates to the east, as sometimes happens, it crosses the continent to the great Australian light on the south coast, and its course is marked by torrential rains. A fall of as much as twenty-nine and one-half inches has been recorded. All the dry lands—where, too, we traveled—are in this way sometimes refreshed."

She Made Her Point.
"Dearie," said the young married man. "I have to go to New York on business. It will only take a day or so, and I hope you won't miss me too much while I'm gone, but—"
"I won't," answered his young wife positively. "because I'm going with you."
"I wish you could, dear, but it won't be convenient to this time. What would you want to go for anyhow? I'm going to be too busy to be with you, and—"
"I have to go I need clothes."
"But, darling, you can get all the clothes you want right here on Euclid avenue."
"Thank you. That's all I wanted."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Anecdote With a Moral.
"I used to know twin brothers. They looked exactly alike in their youth, but one of them got rich, while the other remained poor. One developed a discontented expression; the other always looked happy."
"Well, you can't blame the poor brother for looking discontented."
"You have it twisted. It's the rich brother who looks discontented."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

IF YOU NEED SHOES WOULD YOU GO TO A HARDWARE STORE?
I hardly think so.
If you are suffering from EYE-STRAIN, go to someone who is proficient to correct it. I use modern methods and modern instruments in determining and correcting EYESTRAIN.
Besides I do my own work right here, which eliminates the possibility of having inexperienced and incompetent workmen make up your glasses.
I assure you that you will get just as good as the best service, the best stock, the best workmanship, at the most reasonable prices, as anywhere in the state.

A BLOODLESS VICTORY.
The Creature in the Bed Didn't Attempt to Fight Back.
A young Hindoo tells an amusing story of his first visit to London. His hostess, mindful of the great change in climate to which the traveler had been subjected, wished to make him as comfortable as possible. Accordingly, when she prepared his room for the night, she put into his bed a rubber hot water bottle, a contrivance quite unknown in India.
The young man retired, undressed and got into bed. As he did so his feet encountered a smooth, warm object which he supposed to be some kind of animal. In terror he leaped from the bed and groped about for the light. Unaccustomed to his surroundings, he was a long time in finding it, and at every step he trembled lest the unknown creature should attack him.
At length he found the light and looked about vainly for a weapon. He was on the point of calling for help when he thought of trying the closet. There he found several canes. He selected the stoutest of them and resolved to try conclusions with the intruder.
He approached the foot of the bed, where he was somewhat protected by the footboard, and raised his weapon for a speedy blow, while with his left hand he grasped the bedclothes and began cautiously to turn them down. Then, nerving himself for a final effort, he tore the clothes from the bed and struck viciously at the round black object that he had exposed.
One blow was enough to convince him that the "animal" was lifeless and always had been. His terror gave place to amusement, and after he had his laugh out he went back to bed and enjoyed undisturbed repose until morning.—Youth's Companion.
Logie Below Stairs.
A country gentleman recently had his house fitted with electric bells, and, giving instructions to his servant, he said, "Now, I want you to understand me clearly, Joseph, that when I ring once I want you, and when I ring twice I want Maggie, the housemaid." The bell rang. Joseph never moved. Presently it rang again, and Maggie hurried to her master, who was very angry. "Why didn't that rascal Joseph come when I rang for him?" demanded the gentleman. "Why, sir," answered Maggie, "Joseph was busy reading the paper when he heard the first ring, and he said to me, 'Now, Maggie, wait until master rings again, and then it will be you he wants.'"—Pall Mall Gazette.
