NEWS OF THE CITY

Hon. G. E. Hedges will be orator of the day at the celebration to be held at Woodburn on July 4th.

Mrs. G. McPherson, of Portland, was in this city Friday visiting her mother, Mrs. W. P. Burns of Greenpoint.

Prof. and Mrs. A. O. Friel of this city have gone to Eastern Oregon, where they will visit relatives.

G. C. Clark of St. Helens, Oregon, was in this city Friday and Saturday, registering at the Electric Hotel.

Mrs. D. P. Thompson, accompanied by her son, Ralph Thompson, and niece, Miss Mary Belle Meldrum, formerly of this city, were visiting relatives and friends in Oregon City Friday.

Mrs. F. M. Swift and young son Richard, will move to Portland this week to make their future home. During her residence in Oregon City Mrs. Swift has made many friends, who regret to see her leave.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Osborne of San Diego, California, have arrived in this city, and are visiting E. A. Osborne and family on Eighth and Monroe Street. J. L. Osborne is a nephew of E. A. Osborne.

The office was created several weeks ago upon petition of many of the residents of West Linn. Much mail which before has gone through the office on the east side of the river, will now be sent through West Linn.

Mrs. Fred Ely and daughter, Mrs. Clara Williams, accompanied by the latter's daughter, Evelyn, left Thursday morning of this week for Seaside, where they will spend several months at their cottage.

John Hughes, the well known stock grower of Logan, who was operated upon at the Oregon City Hospital Saturday morning for appendicitis, is improving, and will soon be able to be removed to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilkinson, who formerly resided in this city, but later moved to Brownsville, where the former has been connected with the Brownsville Woolen Mills, have returned to Oregon City, and have taken up their residence on 17th St.

Mrs. William Hesseldin and little daughter, of Twelfth and Center Street, left Thursday morning of this week for Seaside, where they will spend several weeks. Mr. Hesseldin will visit his family at the week-end, during their stay at the summer resort.

Mrs. C. A. Miller and two daughters, Alice and Margaret, have gone to Seattle, Wash., where they will visit Mrs. Miller's sister, Mrs. F. E. Gross.

COUNCIL MEETING

Division Street has been in a deplorable condition for years. The street itself has been a succession of mud holes and impassable ruts into which, during the rainy season, a few wagon loads of gravel have been dumped with little or no effect. The walks there have been continually in disrepair with loose boards or holes galore.

At the council meeting Wednesday evening a report of the committee who have been estimating costs and appraising property looking to the repair of this street was read. The committee recommended that a 24-foot improvement be placed on the street with wooden walks and 2 foot parking, at a public cost to the city of $4,410.00.

Mr. Schultz, a property owner on Division St., entered a protest against the proposed wooden walk, stating that if he had to pay the proposed 50 per cent assessment he would demand a first class cement walk.

"I don't think the property owners on Division Street are being fairly treated," said Mr. Schultz.

By a vote of 3 to 4 the ordinance lost.

The proposal to repair Main Street however, was the real bone of contention. A report of the Committee composed of three councilmen and three Main St. property owners, was read. The recommendations of the committee was as follows:

That the council call for bids to take up the present brick, to properly prepare the sub grade and to relay the brick flatways and red dress them with not less than two inches of bitulithic.

W. A. Dimick, representing T. L. Charman and other Main St. property owners, offered objections to the acceptance of this report on the grounds that the term "bitulithic" excluded competitive bids and gave a monopoly to the Bitulithic people.

Dimick urged that the council postpone action in the matter so as to give more time to investigate and at a critical part of his speech exhibited a piece of tar colored material which he claimed, was a piece of bitulithic pavement plowed up from the streets of a Portland addition.

This resulted in a lively tilt between Dimick and the representative of the Warren Construction Co.

The representatives of the Independent Paving company asked that their product, asphalt-concrete, be accepted for the work at $1.25 a square yard.

The Warren Construction company offers to remove all bricks from the street, bring the street to subgrade, replace the bricks on their sides, and then lay a layer of two inch compressed bitulithic. The price of the work is $1.55. The Independent company offers to remove all bricks, bring the street to within two inches of the finished street with rolled crushed rock and place a two inch coat of asphalt-concrete for $1.25.

The joint council and property owners' committee who investigated the merits of the various pavements were:

H. Stevens, Charles H. Caulfield, Wm. Anderson, Main Street Property Owners, H. M. Templeton, E. D. Van-Auken, F. J. Meyer, Members of City Council.

HONEST OREGON

Honest Men Discovered Without the Aid of Diogenes' Lantern

According to history there was once a time in England (you understand this is a very ancient record) when property was so secure that a man could hang purse and jewelry on the old apple tree in his front yard and sleep comfortably with full assurance that no one would touch or take them. It has remained for the citizens of Clackamas County, Oregon, to set a still higher standard of honesty.

Early last week some one borrowed the fine automobile belonging to E. M. Rasmussen of Portland, and, after driving it out into the Redland district, left it standing beside the road, unattended and alone.

For several days the car stood there, during the height of the Automobile Season, when so many of the hearts of our people are being consumed with the fever of desire to possess a real "red devil" of their own, and no one took even so much as a nibble of the tempting bait—not a tire, not a wrench, screw-driver or oil can was missing—no one had attempted to appropriate the car when the owner recovered it through the agency of Chief of Police Shaw and John Casadey, who reported the abandoned treasure. This is not only a compliment to the integrity of our Clackamas County folk but a recommendation which should be heralded the full length and breadth of the U. S.

There is however one little circumstance which should be kept in mind—the automobile was abandoned, left and deserted well outside of and away from the limits of Oregon City—otherwise—well, er—(?)

Mr. and Mrs. C. Flick accompanied by their young son, Arthur, were in this city Saturday, spending the day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gregory at Greenwood. Mr. Flick is looking for a location and may decide to locate in Clackamas County. Since having left Iowa in February, Mr. Flick has visited in many states and is much impressed with Oregon. He and his wife and baby are now on their way home and will go by way of California. Mr. Flick has been engaged in farming in North Dakota and Iowa, but retired several months ago.

Rev. E. A. Smith and A. J. Ware closed their meeting at Henri's Tuesday night. This meeting for both attendance and interest as well as for results in the eyes of the best ever held in the county. Between twenty and thirty made a definite stand for a Christian life. Mr. Ware did most of the preaching and showed himself to be an evangelist of strong power and sympathy. They will at the close of Chautauqua hold meetings at Maple Lane and Beaver Creek.

Mr. Smith will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. at Logan, and 3:00 p. m. at Evergreen. Mr. Ware will preach at 11 a. m. at Beaver Creek and at 8 p. m. at Henri next Sunday.

Live Wires Meet

At a feast of good fellowship, marking the final meeting of the Live Wires of the Commercial Club for the season a dinner was served on the lawn of the Arthur Warner home at Mount Pleasant Tuesday evening.

Forty men and women were present at a toothsome dinner that ended with a shortcake of the famous Mount Pleasant strawberries. Ten automobiles took the party to the affair.

The dinner was followed with a review of the year's work, and brief talks and reports were made by T. W. Sullivan, M. D. Latourette, Mr. L. A. Morris, George Randall, E. E. Brodie, A. A. Price, and others. Public markets, hitching sheds, oiled roads, Willamette Valley Southern railway, better highways, pure water, co-operation with the country and improved streets were among the subjects discussed.

By a silent and rising vote the Live Wires tendered to the family of the late Fredrick M. Swift, president of the Willamette Valley Southern Railway Co., the condolences of the association over his untimely death and a copy of the resolutions presented by the committee, M. D. Latourette, T. Osmund and E. E. Brodie, was ordered presented to Mrs. Swift.

The Wires will not "meet" again 'till early in October.

Mrs. Lawrence Entertains

Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence entertained in a most charming manner at her home on Twelfth and Washington Street Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, her guests being the members of the Auction Bridge Club and a few of her friends, this being the last meeting of the club during the summer months. The rooms were beautiful with their decorations of sweetbriar, ferns and marguerites, noticeably among the decorations were the large quantities of greenery, giving the rooms an inviting appearance, as the afternoon was unusually warm. Indian baskets were used in the parlors, and these filled with marguerites were interspersed with the sweet briar. The reception hall and dining room were also very attractive.

After several hours had been devoted to the playing of auction bridge, when Mrs. M. D. Latourette was the winner of the club prize, and Mrs. Charles D. Latourette, winner of the prize, the hostess assisted by her niece, Miss Evelyn Harding, served delicious refreshments, and during the afternoon punch was served.

WILL WITHCYCOMBE ANSWER? J. M. Park Writes Letter—Demands Some Information

Courier Editor:—

I saw an item in the Courier of 2 bad breaks made by Dr. Withycombe. We want to know what his religious views are, if he has any. If he keeps still on this subject he will lose out on votes, also on the liquor question.

The ball game between the Springwater team and the Elwood team Saturday was played. Elwood scored 3 to 9 in favor of Springwater.

B. Jones of Estacada and party killed a cougar Saturday the 20th on the Wasco Shannon place. It had been living on chickens.

Crops look fine and there will be plenty of good hay this year.

Mr. Ikard, of Parkplace, is hauling wood to Estacada.

There were Children's Day Services at the Presbyterian Church the 28th. Dr. Hayes and wife of Portland were there, and the program was fine.

City Library Has Burglar

Anyone who would steal from poor old Andy Carnegie or his public library is too mean to live outside of the penitentiary or Mexico; but there are such persons at large in Oregon, nevertheless.

Some time last Friday night a sneak thief broke into the library building by prying up a window and appropriated $105.00 in typewriter and $7.25 in small change.

No trace of the scoundrel has been found, but it is to be hoped he will be brought to account.

A stranger loafing in the vicinity of the library is under suspicion. He is described as a middle aged man, large and heavily built and wearing a dark suit of clothes.

upon the liquor question—by far the most vital issue before the people this year? CAN A MAN SERVE TWO MASTERS?

The Oregonian:—

If prohibition shall carry, Governor Withycombe will enforce the law. No one has a right to demand that Mr. Withycombe say more; no one who knows him would expect him as Governor to do less.

What magnificent logic! "Governor Withycombe will enforce the law." Governor anybody else will enforce the law. The question is WHAT SHALL THAT LAW BE—which is to be enforced? If prohibition laws will Dr. Withycombe indulge the liquor interests to the limit of the law?—is there a tacit understanding between Dr. Withycombe and the brewing interests?

"No one has a right to demand more." Dr. Withycombe if you say NO MORE you are "a goner."

Says the wise Oregonian of many counsels:—

But Mr. Withycombe now naturally desires to know why Mr. U'ren directed his letter to him, and not to Dr. Smith, the Democratic candidate, or Mr. Gill, the Progressive candidate?

That you SHALL know Dr. Withycombe and also you, Oregonian: Mr. U'ren, and also Mr. Gill at least, stand upon an honest platform in which there is no hidden plank, while Dr. Withycombe lurks behind the brewery bush to spring upon the prohibition calf.

The Oregonian says again:—

The U'ren letter was, of course, an adroit attempt to play a political trick on Mr. Withycombe. It failed.

Yes, it failed (?) (?)

officers just the same as our school districts. I believe in an equitable tax law, and think the present system of taxation could be much improved upon, I would favor laws which should distinguish between speculative property and non-speculative property. I would place the higher rate upon the speculative property in order to relieve the poor man who is struggling to make a home.

"I want to say a word for Representative Christian Scheibel who was my co-worker during the last session of the legislature. I found him a most earnest and sincere christian gentleman.

"I stand for prohibition of the liquor traffic. I believe that Oregon will go dry at the coming election by a very large majority.

"I would encourage farmers societies.

"I think the Oregon system of government is the best in the world.

"Finally, I stand for just what the Progressive party stands for: a higher, purer and nobler manhood and womanhood."

Mr. Gill's talk was preceded by the regular open services of the church. A large choir furnished excellent music. Singing as a special number, "I Waited For The Lord," quartette and chorus, with Mrs. Thos. Burke of Gladstone as soloist. The pastor Rev. Ford introduced the speaker and followed him with a brief address.

Straigh, William Peters, Bert Baxter, W. Edwards, E. A. Leighton, Ira Lytsel, C. Götterberg, R. Ellsworth, C. C. Spencer, Frank Hamerly, W. Schwartz, H. Treickler, E. Hendrickson, J. N. Mulkey and H. A. Shandy.

Will Repeat Electric Parade

The famous Electric Parade of the Rose Festival of Portland is to be reproduced under the auspices of the Portland Ad Club on the night of July 4th, in the City of Portland. So many people did not see the parade during the Rose Festival that this led to a general expression to have it reproduced. The Portland Ad Club took the matter up and has succeeded in making the arrangements for staging this wonder and marvelous exhibition. The entire twenty-one floats will be reproduced. Queen Thelma and her maids, the thousand red men and bands, glee will all be part and parcel of the affair. A general invitation has been extended to everyone not only in Portland but in outlying districts to come to Portland and witness this thrilling affair.

Taxes or No Taxes

According to stories current about town there are timber tracts and logged off lands in this county, aggregating approximately $1,150,000 in value, which are without ownership; the title being in dispute between the Oregon & California Railway Co. and the federal government. The point of interest is that if the government wins the suit it recovers the land, and we shall lose the taxes; if the railroad company wins, we shall lose the land but get the taxes.

County Assessor Jack has been advised by the Oregon Tax Commission to see what can be done about collecting taxes on the property while the bone of contention is being gnawed in the courts.

Young People's Union Social

The Young People's Societies of four local churches and also those of the churches at Gladstone and Parkplace will meet at the Congregational Church in Oregon City at 8 o'clock P. M., Friday, July 3, for a grand Union Social rally. All young people of Oregon City, Gladstone and Parkplace should attend.

Several officers from Portland unions will be present. A jolly good time is anticipated. Come!

Real Wild West in Oregon City

The other day ye scribe was enjoying a dinner at a local restaurant in company with a young man from "back East." Presently a couple of picturesque cowpunchers from over the hills stalked in and took a place at a neighboring table.

The easterner pricked up his ears and opened his eyes—"Are those fellows cowboys?" he asked. "Certainly they are," we replied; and in order to make the entertainment as good as possible strung off a lot of probabilities regarding the business of these two strangers in Oregon City, painting the life of the Oregon cow man in lurid colors, and suggesting that they were probably very bad men, if one but knew their history. As a sequel notice the following news item:

George Jaegger and Charles Matley, two actors at a local restaurant in Tappanish, Wash., were arrested in Oregon City Sunday. The two men had been in this city for several days posing as cattle buyers. One of the men rode a horse, which it has since been determined, was painted white. The officers took the men to North Yakima."
