A Column of Comments on Individuals and Events

The open season for hunting the fan-tailed grouse closes Oct. 31.

The votebegging contest closes on Nov. 3rd.

The unspeakable Turk is getting an object lesson in Christianity.

At this writing eighteen million men are under arms. It would seem the peace prayers have not yet taken effect.

A WOMAN'S OPINIONS

Specialist Lady Writes of Bonds and Bondage

Clackamas, Ore.

Editor Courier:— If man creates laws that make life unbearable, how does he expect to live? Law, like an endless chain, returns to the place of beginning.

Two men are running for office. One is for bonding the people, and one is for increasing the medium of exchange.

If bonds are created the law would in time rob the people of their wealth to pay off the bondage.

While under the law, when money represents wealth, it would, or could, be used only in exchanging commodities.

Bondage takes everything and gives nothing but poverty in return.

The people, that is the working people, create the wealth of a nation and why should they be robbed?

Keep the idle, selfish class? If man votes for bondage there is a place where he must give up all and the place first to suffer is the center of large cities, where there is neither vegetable gardens for employment.

Man's destiny is usually created by him himself. If man jumps into the fire he will burn—so it is with law; whether we understand it or not.

Jealousy is that monster that never slumbers, but roams the earth seeking whom it may devour.

You trace jealousy down to its lair and you will find that it is ignorance. Jealousy may have all its command but through its own ignorance wastes its force in destroying its victims and at the same time loses its own opportunities.

Mrs. Viola Burr.

LIBERAL

Farmers have been busy sowing fall grains, but the rain has stopped them again.

Potatoes are all housed except the very late ones. Exceptionally fine grass for stock of all kinds.

Lewis Farr is buying up a lot of beef cattle for the Farr Market in Oregon City.

The W. V. S. is laying track on the Carlson place and by Thursday night they will connect there with the Wright Junction in Liberal.

They surely will be welcome at our one horse station.

Mrs. J. E. Coates and Susan Moody of Portland were visiting relatives for a few days last week, returning to Portland Sunday evening.

The mining timbers and telephone poles are going out and coming in about even. The cordwood is the hardest proposition as cars are hard to get.

A good many cars of hard wood went to Portland this fall.

W. J. E. Vick, our agent here, is busy now learning the sound of the telegraph to be used in this office at Liberal.

One mail route leaves here now from Liberal post office.

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Masena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVISA MYRES, Box 74, Masena, N. Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. S. C. Rynyan of Tangent, Or., has arrived here and will, in company with her husband and family, reside here.

Houser, the sheep man from Eastern Oregon, brought his sheep down from Wild Cat mountain last week, and started them on the road home to Tygh Valley.

He says he sold 1,100 lambs for $3.00 apiece, and got over a head for the wool. He never did so well in the sheep business in 20 years notwithstanding the old Oregonian said not over a year ago that the Democratic tariff law had killed the sheep business in Oregon. It is to laugh.

MULINO

Well, Mulino has at last a railroad.

The rails were laid into North Mulino on Oct. 8, quietly and without any blare of trumpets. In fact quiet persistence, determination has marked the building of the Willamette Valley Southern Railway during the past three years it has been building.

It is quite a pleasing contrast to the bombastic boasting and giving of promises, most of which were never kept, that accompanied the building of the Harrimon branch from Canby to Molalla last year.

About three days were required to put in the steel bridge across Milk Creek and the rails have been laid on to the Molalla river. A switch has been installed in South Mulino on the town site.

A plank road is to be built to the depot site on Broad Street from the county road.

Work on the water system is progressing as fast as the weather permits. Mulino is fortunate in having so much good water so near and easily obtained.

The spring purchased by the Mulino Water Co. has flow enough for a town of 1,000 people and as good water as any in the high Cascade mountains. Its elevation above Mulino ranges from 160 to 200 feet, thus giving a gravity flow and ample fire protection.

There are also several more springs very near by and nearly as large, thus insuring a good water supply for years to come.

Does anybody know of a shoe and harness maker and repairer? This position is now vacant in Mulino.
